STORKMANN--REYNOLDS

A marriage took place in Lakeview Sunday, in which two of our most popular young people were made man and wife. The groom was Mr. August Storkmann, and the bride is Miss Bertha Reynolds, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Reynolds. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Smith of the Baptist church. The rooms of the bride's home, where the wedding occurred, were tastefully and handsomely decorated with a profusion of roses, sweet peas and other flowers. Outside the immediate relatives of the bride and groom, but few were present. The happy young couple at once took up home-keeping in the new house of Geo. Downs, on East Main Street. The Examiner joins their many friends in wishing them a long, happy and prosperous life.

It is reported that the fight between Jeffries and Johnson will take place at Minneapolis.

Stone Throwing Boys

The Examiner regrets very much to note a disposition on the part of some of the half-brown boys of the town to throw stones at each other. This is a vicious habit, and should be stopped. Many a boy, and girl too, for that matter, have been blinded or maimed for life in that way. And, by the way, we have observed through life, that the boys who throw stones, when they become men generally end their days at the end of a rope. In settling differences as such boys grew older, dirks and pistols naturally fall into their hands, instead of stones and murder results. Just remember, boys, when tempted to throw stones, that the gallows looms big ahead for stone-throwers!

Outsider on The Rush Headed for Lakeview

The Examiner has received the following letter from a subscriber, which is so pertinent to the existing conditions here that we give it in full.

It is a fact that the advance guard of hundreds to follow are now here. Even with present facilities in caring for new-comers, every hotel is crowded to the limit. Some are forced to live in tents, and more will be compelled to resort to that expedient. There is some lumber on hand, and shacks can be built for temporary use until new-comers get their bearings and can erect their own homes.

Mr. Austin says:
Dudley, Or., July 17, 1909. Editor Lakeview Examiner, Lakeview, Ore. Dear Sir:

Will you please allow me a little of your space to try and aid the people to your city to realize the importance to themselves as well as others of the opportunity about to occur in the allotting of the Oregon Valley Land awards, September 9?

It seems to me the people now living at Lakeview don't see the duty they owe to themselves to get in line and prepare for the caring of the newcomers upon their arrival and to try and see that material will be at hand for their future wants I have lately interviewed a few parties who have been there in their way from the middle states to the coast, all of whom expect to return there by September 1st.

They complain of the scarcity of lumber and building material generally stating that they don't see how newcomers are to be supplied with material to prepare shelter for the coming winter. They also state that many families from their sections expect to move to Lakeview and settle, relying altogether upon the luck of their drawings to secure a future home.

We all know how much depends upon ones first impression of any place and I appeal to you as one who expects to become interested there with the thousands of others to make it a matter of personal interest and responsibility to use every effort to see that new comers are made welcome and given every advantage to procure information and personal aid in every way possible and so far as practicable free gratis.

This procedure termed "holding people up" I sincerely hope will not be the rule in Lakeview at this opening, for in my opinion, if there is ever a time when the old adage would prove true of being "Peasy wise and pond foolish," it would be then and to take advantage of peoples necessities would seem a poor way of holding new comers and making them enthusiastic stayers. Charge only customary prices for board and lodging as well as for the general necessities which must be had and work on the general and fair theory of keeping the newcomers and making more money in the end and more people. One satisfied settler is worth ten dissatisfied, for his boasting will induce many of his eastern neighbors, to follow him and its people we want in any country to advance prices and gain wealth. Let us each grasp this opportunity and help the Oregon Valley Land Co. to help Lake county procure settlers and then through public sentiment help us contract holderet see that everything is done on the square and fair without evasion by said company, thus lend the helping hand all wind and form ourselves into an endless chain of boosters for eastern Oregon and make it the best community on earth. These suggestions are given only in a helpful spirit with the desire of avoiding possible wrongs from every source but it is largely up to the people of Lakeview to make this undertaking a laudable success.

Very respectfully,
CHAS. W. AUSTIN.

Jim Hill Yells for them to "Play Ball"

Jim Hill said in Portland not long ago, that some one would have to build a railroad into Central Oregon to get the wheat we could raise and which the world needed. Jim is now at work building that railroad himself. He knows the value of wheat haulage to a railroad. And by the way, have you, Mr. Reader, secured your 320-acre tract of Uncle Sam's free wheat land? If not, you better do so, at once!
