The eyes of the world are today on Prince Rupert British Columbia, and the great developing region traversed by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, recognized as the greatest railroad project in the North American continent.

This great transcontinental railway traverses an undeveloped country, as rich in natural resources as ever lay ready for the touch of industry and effort. It will open up fhe Peace River country, (twice the size of the inland empire of Oregon, Idaho and Washington) the richest area of agricultural land on this continent. It will tap the great wheat provinces of Manitoba. Saskatchewan and Alberta, it will develop the rich mineral territory and the immense forests of timber of Western British Colnmbia, it will make possible the settlement of this vast empire and cause the most rapid development the world has ever witnessed.

Prince Rupert, the terminus, is the port into which all this vast traffic must flow and it is destined to become one of the greatest commercial and industrial centers of population in this continent.

The opportunity for the acquirement of wealth in this new country, no man doubts.
