GOOD ROADS ARE A NECESSITY NOW

The Examiner never noticed the need of good roads until the age of the auto. Here is a high priced rapid conveyance which in order to get the best out of in the days of hurry, absolutely needs good smooth roads. It is hard on a machine and occupants to drive full speed over rough roads. There is great need of improvement in our roads. Stones should be removed, irrigation ditches bridged, pitch holes filled and siding places graded. Machines have come to stay and good roads hurt no one, and are needed.

Ancient the foregoing any sparsely settled road district in Oregon can get good roads now in simply voting in December on the initiative of ten per cent of its citizens such funds may be required. The cash can come from the absentee land speculator and the residents can get their money back in warrants for work. The road will raise values permanently, and the idle tracts can be made to pay their share by a little acting together.

Every time a farmer invests some of his surplus from the year's crop in an automobile a new vote for good roads is recorded in a way that counts.—Denver Republicans.

COMPLETED 25 MILES OF SURVEY

The N. C. O. engineers are at work and have nearly finished the location of the Lakeview extension through the Pitt River Canyon. It is expected that the contract will be let in a few days, and this portion of the road, about 2 1/2 miles, will be completed this Fall. Work has also begun to widen the road to accommodate a standard gauge track. It is hoped by the residents along the line of the road that the extension will be built as a standard gauge.

Is Your Family Reading "Worth While"?

So much of current reading is merely entertaining at best that the question naturally arises, is it worth while? Your sons and daughters are bound to read something. They hunger for stories which take them to the other half of the world—the world of venture, of valor, of fortune making. The problem is to give them such reading with out putting into their hands the literature that is either silly or demoralizing. The editors of the Youth's Companion believe that a periodical can be made entertaining and yet "worth while," and the Companion's conducted on that theory. And that is one reason why more than half a million American families read it. The paper is safe, but not dull. Its tales of adventure illustrate the advantage of fortitude and self reliance. Its stories of character lay stress on the truth that right conduct is never a mistake.

Every new subscriber will find it of special advantage to send $1.75 for the new 1910 Volume. Not only does he get the beautiful "Venetian Call" under for 1910, lithographed in thirteen colors and gold, but all the issues of the Companion for the remaining weeks of 1909, from the time the subscription is received.

Smiles and Squalls

By "THE VERDANT ONE"

A Chicago preacher tells his female flock to make their husbands believe they are angels, they were supposed to be before the ceremony. Huh! that's all right. Most husbands believe they have the only angel that ever touched the shore of time any how.

A Seattle girl wants $5,000 for a stolen kiss. Hully Gee! Judging from Seattle specimens we have seen we should think it would be necessary to bring a man up with a snub line, and then pay him $5,000 to kiss one of them!

A Klamath homesteader 34 years old is advertising in the Portland papers and wants to correspond with some young ladies, who will marry him and furnish him some money to construct buildings. He probably is living in a gopher hole now, and that is about his size.

An Illinois man was struck by a train, his horse killed and his buggy demolished. He went to his home in a dazed condition and remained an hour then joined a party looking for his remains. Not until he had been hunting for another hour did he discover that he was the "dead" man.

Some Successful North End Settlers

Geo. W. Spicer is a new comer to Lake County who evidently understands farming. He originally came from Illinois, and located in the Willamette valley, but learning that good government land could be secured, he sold out there and located in the so-called desert country east of Lake.

In company with his step father and three sisters they have a big body of land, taken up under the new 320 acre homestead law. So soon as their bluffs were complete last spring they located on the land, and at once began their improvements. They cleared the sage brush from 40 acres, plowed it and sowed it to turnips. On this raw dry land, without irrigation and no moisture, except the natural rainfall, they produced 3000 bushels of fine turnips, some of which will weigh six pounds apiece. They have 50 hogs, and have learned that stock of all kinds thrive well on turnips.

They also had 82 acres of rye and 96 acres of oats and barley from which they secured a good yield, and a big price for seed for all they would sell.

This fall they have seeded a half section to rye and will also clear and seed more land for the spring crop. Mr. Spicer thinks it will take two or three years to get the ground tilled down to a good soil condition and that when that is done big results will be obtained. As it is now the ground is too porous to retain the moisture that will come from cultivation.

He says he has a splendid water supply for domestic use and can also if so disposed irrigate his garden and orchard from the well.

One well is 31 feet deep and another 64 feet deep. He has three windmills. He set out, as an experiment, 150 fruit trees of different varieties. None of the trees were irrigated yet 104 of them lived and present a thrifty appearance. He also set out 1200 strawberry plants last spring. His sisters watered the plants with a sprinkler. All thrived with the result that they picked this season 100 gallons of splendid berries from the vines.

He says right in his immediate neighborhood the land is all taken up. One lane by his home is now over 18 miles long, with continuous fence all built this year. There is still plenty of good government land up there adapted to dry farming, but at the rate it is now being taken it will all be gone in a few months.

The experience of Mr. Spicer shows that a determination to succeed will produce good results, and what he and his family have accomplished on a "desert" farm, can be done by others who will try.

Lynn Cronmiller Writes Interestingly of College Pranks

We are all well pleased and enjoying College life immensely, although we have to keep jiggling into our studies in order to keep up the reputation of the Lakeview delegation.

Tonight the Seniors are marching around the town giving their yell of "Rah! Rah! 1910", the Juniors are a close second with Rah! Rah! Juniors, and the Sophomores have besieged a poor lone Freshman in the Hotel Corvallis, but as the night watchman is taking care of the Freshman their chances seem pretty slim of getting hold of him.

The Sophomores have gotten hold of several of the lower classes. One was placed on guard over the girl's dormitory and his call of "11:35 and all is well," was the last heard of him. Another was given a lath in the fountain and another got his hair clipped down the middle and was given a molasses shampoo.

We are getting along pretty well in drill and take up the gun manual Monday. We had regimental parade Wednesday and passed in review before the General, Alexander.

Walter Dutton and I are taking a course in Forestry and find it very interesting. Nearly every Saturday we go out into the timber to gather specimens. Last Saturday we went out about 22 miles south of town and a week from tomorrow will go to Mary's peak, about 10 mile from town and stay over night. The instructor in forestry always goes with us. Guy and Ted are taking an electrical course.

We would all like to be back in Dear Old Lakeview again, but are not near as homesick as we thought we would be when we started out.

Don't fail to send the Examiner for it is the same old story, you never realize the value of your home paper until you get away. There are three newspapers here and only one home type. The other papers are all hand set.
