COUNTY NEWS

WEST SIDE

West Side, December 18, 1909.
Editor: Examiner.

Not seeing any news items from this section for a long time, and judging that the Lakeview editors are both too busy to catch all the local news, I will endeavor to give you a few news items from the west side.

Work on the canal is still progressing in the valley; although the work on the dam and in the canyon has mostly ceased for the winter. The rock work between Cottonwood and Drews Creek is progressing rapidly with an increase of more men almost weekly, there now being some eight different camps between the two creeks, considerable team work is also yet being done. Two engineering corps are also quite busy at work, at Cottonwood and at the Garrett place.

Mrs. R. C. Lara wife of engineer Lara, has been in very poor health for some time and under the care of a Lakeview physician. At present she is improving somewhat.

School at the Union School house closed a week ago, the teacher Mrs. Fox, having resigned so the district is now without school which is very unfortunate. The board of directors are being criticised for being so saving with the school money in keeping up a first class school.

The Misses Grace and Pauline Oliver, also Roy Arthur, are now attending school at Lakeview.

John Noble is feeding a large bunch of stock on the Bernard ranch. Besides his own and others he is feeding some for the contractors for the O. V. L. Company.

A son of Mr. H. C. Jerome, and his family, who arrived some time ago from Southern California, are living at the Jerome homestead and are permanently settled with us.

J. C. Oliver is doing quite a business in butchering and supplying the camps with meat and other supplies.

Chas. Nelson is engaged in hauling hay from the Spencer place on the Lake. Since the cold spell it has improved the condition of the roads for getting both hay and wood hauled.

Sunday School is being held at the school house but the attendance of late is not as good it should be.

Clark, the painter, and Mr. Spence, of Lakeview, stopped overnight on the West Side Thursday on their way to Dog Lake on a fishing trip.

John Noble sold some big cattle to J. C. Oliver last week. Price not given.

J. C. Oliver received this week from J. A. Parker, of Bly a fine bred Jersey bull calf, which he will place at the head of his herd of dairy cows.

Blumer McCleary and Wesley Blinton sold some more colts to J. C. Oliver, prices from $15 to $35 per head.

REPORTER

A company is being organized at Reno with $100,000 capital to manufacture alcohol from sagebrush. It is likely that one of these days that we will be able to run our chug wagon with home grown energy.

WANTED TO HEAR HER CHUG

A good story is told of one of the local automobilists. During the recent stormy period with snow on the ground there were no joy rides in sight so this chap goes to the garage, blocks up his chug wagon, cranks it up and mounts the seat, and let 'er run! When asked why he did that, he exclaimed: "Why, I wanted to hear her chug!" And chug she did for some time, when he stopped and returned to his place of business, wearing a satisfied smile.

It is said that there is 3500 cubic feet of gas in the average man. If we were allowed to guess we should say there was at least a million feet in some of them.

ZELLA GEORGE MARRIED

The Santa Rosa, Calif. Press-Democrat of the 8th inst has this mention of a former Lakeview girl:

At the Congregational manse on E street on Sunday the marriage occurred of Miss Zella George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George this city, and James William Harris, son of Mrs. Harris of Santa Rosa. The wedding was very quiet, yet none the less pretty affair. The Rev. A. B. Patten was the officiating minister. Following the ceremony the young couple left for the bay cities, San Jose and other places where they will spend their honeymoon. The girl is an estimable girl. She came here with her parents a little over a year ago. Mr. Harris is young business man and shares the popularity of his bride. They are wished much happiness and prosperity in their married life.

WILL BUILD HIGH SCHOOL

The school authorities have concluded to submit the proposition of erecting a $40,000 high school building to the voters of this district some time after the Holidays. It is the intention to vote bonds for this laudable purpose. There should not be a dissenting voice, as the crowded and growing conditions of our schools surely warrant such a building.
