Lakeview, Oregon, Thursday, April 28, 1910.

Governor Hughes, of New York, has been appointed by President Taft, Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, to succeed the late Justice David J. Brewer. Governor Hughes will not qualify until next October thus permitting him to serve as Governor until that time.

President Taft has directed the removal from office of Daniel A. Sutherland, United States marshal for the district of Alaska, and of John J. Boyce, district attorney for the first division of Alaska. Now if the muckrakers do not make capital out of such action, it will be very surprising, just as would have been the case had the discharged officials been retained.

The immense damage to crops by frost and other winter weather throughout a large portion of the middle west and south is probably unprecedented. Nothing of the kind so extensively disastrous and so late in the season ever occurred before. Especially calamitous is the damage to the cotton crop, the principal agricultural resource of several southern states.

Ex-Congressman Hermann has been seriously ill at his home at Roseburg for some time but late reports are to the effect that he is improving. Notwithstanding the serious charges preferred against him by the Government, Mr. Hermann has hosts of friends throughout the State who believe him unjustly accused, and sincerely hope that he may regain his health and disprove the charges. Latest reports, however, state that Mr. Hermann is gradually growing weaker.

Wm. J. Schifelin of New York said recently: "Stories of graft and corruption in three States—Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York—occupy columns in my newspaper," said Schifelin. All these stories of litigious corruption concern business matters. We are fond of blaming Legislators for graft, but first and foremost the blame is on the business men. Commercialism, which should be an honorable word, has come to be a term of reproach. Honest business men know the truth and feel a sense of shame at these exposures."

William Randolph Hearst, former aspirant for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, tonight issued a remarkable statement over his own signature, in which he unqualifiedly indorsed Mr. Taft. In doing so he also criticizes in severest terms the administration of President Roosevelt, and in so many words warns the American Nation against a renewal of the political domination of the ex-president. Heretofore the only way to play William Randolph for a winner has been to "copper" him.

Indiana is to be the scene of some warlike political doings during the approaching campaign. Not only is the Republican party rent asunder by numerous burning questions, but the Democrats have an apparently big quarrel on their hands. Last, John W. Kern was unanimously nominated as the Democratic candidate for United States Senator from Indiana by the Democratic State Convention and Tom Taggart and his cohorts are correspondingly depressed. However, Democrats have the happy faculty of adjusting their differences before election day comes around, and this instance will probably prove no exception.

It would seem that an effort is already being made to advance the interests of some certain candidates for state offices at the Fall election. Just at this time it may be proper to state that the Examiner has no favorites to play at the game, neither will it belittle or misrepresent any man who may aspire to any office within the gift of the people. Recently an effort has been made to weaken Jay Bowerman as a possible candidate for Governor, by stating that "the Bowerman faction" was defeated for the first time in eight years in the city election at Condon, Mr. Bowerman's home town. The report appears to have been started by a bitter personal and political enemy of Mr. Bowerman's, and in connection therewith the Condon

Times shows conclusively that there was no cause for the report except that of personal malice. Not only that but the successful candidate for mayor is quoted as saying that he could not possibly have been elected except for the fact that a lot of Bowerman's friends voted for him. It is the circulation of such reports that will endanger Republican success at the coming election. Say all the good things you can of your own candidate, gentlemen, but be careful about decrying others.

Insurgents of the Senate, through the eloquent tongue of Senator Dolliver, spurned an invitation to quit their party associates and join the Democratic party, which invitation had been extended by Senator Rayner in the course of a speech in opposition to the Administration Railroad bill.

Mr. Rayner's invitation to the "insurgent" Senators made a general hit with the "insurgents" themselves, quite as much as with the Democrats and regular Republicans. Mr. Rayner had not resumed his seat before Mr. Dolliver was recognized.

Dolliver declined Rayner's invitation, with thanks. Taking up the question as to the disagreement of the "insurgents" with the regular Republicans, he intimated that there was room enough in the Republican party for all elements. "It is a large party," he said, "and it has, within the last 15 years, converted a large number of good people to its faith. It is large enough to carry on the fight for good government, but if I ever did feel any temptation to leave it I would have to overlook a good many things before I would pitch my tent with the Democratic party, because I know that there is quite as much discontent in the Democratic party as to its leadership as in the Republican party."

President Taft's railroad legislation will be evaded, says an Associated Press dispatch on May 2. At the close of a protracted conference of leading 'regular' republican senators, it was apparent that the revolt of the senate "insurgents" had been virtually successful, and the sections of the bill relative to traffic agreements and mergers, which Senator Cummins and other insurgents have been fighting to amend, will be abandoned. Practically nothing distinctive of the original will remain, save the sections providing for the creation of a court of commerce. Mr. Taft is said to have expressed himself emphatically to this effect. He said he had initiated the pending measure and had advocated it throughout the country in the form in which it was reported to the senate, and, if a combination of insurgent republicans and democrats rendered it impossible for the republican majority to enact the bill he felt the administration should be relieved of responsibility of defeat. He rested the entire matter in the hands of Senator Aldrich and his republican associates, who were then in conference.

Meeting Called Off

It will be remembered that some time ago a series of stock meetings were proposed by the Forest Service for the purpose of organizing stock associations, but unavoidable circumstances prevented holding such meetings this spring. After giving the matter careful consideration it is thought to be a better plan, considering the time of year, to postpone the stock meeting indefinitely, and have one of the District Officers come here and, after familiarizing himself with the grazing situation, to meet all those who are directly interested and consider all conflicting claims and grazing equities upon the ground, thus avoiding unnecessary hardships and expense to uninterested persons. It is expected that the Chief District of Grazing Mr. H. K. O'Brien, will be here within the next two weeks. Mr. O'Brien is a thorough stock man and it is hoped that all those who are interested in grazing livestock upon the Forest will avail themselves of the opportunity of meeting him while here.

The new telephone cable arrived Monday and is now being laid in position. The main cable contains 258 wires, and the other 206.

Death of Mrs. Mulkey

Cedarville Record:—Our community was somewhat startled to hear of the death of Mrs Maggie Mulkey, wife of J D Mulkey, of Davis Creek, which occurred at Lake City Sunday after a brief illness. Her remains were taken to Davis Creek Sunday and interred Tuesday afternoon. Mrs Mulkey was one of the foremost educators of Modoc, and as a teacher was unexcelled. She taught for several years at Lake City, and for a longer term at Alturas, and at the time of her death she was a member of the County Board of Education.

Normal Schools

The Normal School question is fairly before the voters by the Initiative Bill for Monmouth framed by her Alumni. This separates it wholly from politics, and gives the voters a fair chance to express their choice. Schools are a necessity—we must educate the boys and girls—and we must have teachers; the Normal School is the place to train and prepare these. Vote, Yes for Monmouth. J. B. V. BUTLER, Sec. Com.
