Lakeview, Oregon, Thursday, June 2, 1910.

Canada's immigration statistics for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1910, are summarized by Consul Paul LANG as follows: Of the 208,794 people who came to Canada in the twelve months, 59,790 were British, 45,200 Continental, and 103,798 from the United States. In March alone the British totaled 9919, Continental 5836, and from the United States 17,210.

When Gifford Pinchot gets back to Washington, after his trip to Europe, plans will be taken up immediately for the National Conservation Congress which is to be held in St. Paul Minn., the first week in September, at which Colonel Roosevelt has promised to speak.

The Congress will be composed of representatives of conservation from all parts of the country. In view of the proposed congress to be held at The Hague, it is said that it is likely foreign nations will be asked to send delegates to the American congress.

President Taft, Colonel Roosevelt, King George of England, President Diaz of Mexico and William J. Bryan were made life members of the World's Sunday School association in the convention at Washington, May 21st, amid scenes of enthusiasm. For each of those so honored $1000 had to be subscribed. A delegate from Canada started the enthusiasm. "I nominate W. H. Taft for a life membership, and Canada pledges $100 toward it," he shouted. The remaining $900 was made up in a flash. Mrs. Taft's name was then proposed and her $1000 "initiation fees" promptly made up.

That opposition to Congressman Hawley in this district is not very acute is demonstrated by the fact that the only other candidate thus far to appear is B. F. Mulkey, of Jacksonville. Mr. Mulkey is now District Attorney of the First Judicial District and previously has been active in politics. Mr. Mulkey was at one time superintendent of the State Normal School at Ashland, and before that was a member of the State Senate from Polk county. It is not known whether he will declare himself to be an insurgent or not. Both Oregon representatives were classed as regular Republicans and against the insurgents.

The men to deliver the addresses for the commencement exercises and at the Quarter Centennial Celebration at O. A. C. have been selected. W. F. Herin, one of the class of '73, chief counsel of the Harriman railway lines, will speak on Tuesday, June 14. President J. K. Weatherford, of the board of regents will also talk on that day. Rev. F. W. Clappett, rector of Trinity Church, San Francisco, will preach the baccalaureate sermon and the commencement address will be made by President James M. Hamilton, of the Montana State College. At this time the main buildings will be outlined with lights and the entire campus specially decorated. Fancy drills and exercises by students will be features.

According to the Oregonian's Washington correspondent, development of the west is going to be retarded materially for the next year or two, and perhaps longer, because of the failure of Western Senators and Representatives in Congress to agree upon and secure the passage of a practical reform of the public land laws, for under legislation that will be enacted the President will be empowered to, and has given notice that he will, withdraw desirable lands from entry and so hold them until congress provides adequate and sensible means for their disposal continuing the correspondent says:

"It is apparent to everyone except the eastern contingent that the country is demanding legislation looking to the conservation of natural resources. The Administration is committed to such legislation and has used its fullest influence to bring it about. The president has heard and is heeding the cry; so is Secretary Ballinger.

But eastern Senators and Congressmen have turned a deaf ear have refused to treat the demand seriously, and have brought about a situation whereby 240,000,000 acres of public land are today withheld from acquisition and from use, and where much more may be added to the domain already withdrawn. For in spite of the stubborn west, the Eastern element in Congress is going to force the passage of the withdrawal bill, legalizing all past withdrawals and permitting other withdrawals hereafter, cognizant, as it is, that so long as lands are withheld from entry, they cannot be misappropriated under public land laws almost universally conceded to be antiquated."

DEATH OF JOHN C. YOUNG

Hon. John C. Young, postmaster of Portland, passed away early Monday morning at his home in that city. Mr. Young had been very near death for the past several weeks, and the end was not therefore unexpected.

The editor of the Examiner has been intimately acquainted with Mr. Young for nearly a quarter of a century always knew him to be one of nature's noblemen. He was a man of strong convictions, and when he considered a thing right there was nothing that would induce him to swerve from his course.

Those who knew him intimately deeply regretted the hard fight made to prevent his becoming postmaster at Portland, and it is therefore pleasing to note that his most bitter opponent's now acknowledge their error. The leading editorial in Monday's Telegram follows:

John C. Young distinctly made good as postmaster of Portland. He was courteous and painstaking, anxious to improve the service and willing to do anything within his power to bring it up to the highest standard of efficiency. Before he took the office there were those who believed that temperamentally he was not well adapted to the duties of a public office in which he came so closely in contact with the people and under the circumstances demanding the greatest tact under circumspection. But all such fears, based largely as it now appears, upon a physical deterioration not then suspected, proved utterly groundless for he more than met the measure of expectation in every direction.

"Mr. Young was a vigorous writer and a man of down-right convictions. He was likewise a clever politician. He possessed the faculty of acting as well as planning. In his private relation he had many warm friends who felt that at last he had a chance as postmaster not only to pull himself together financially, but to make a record for himself commensurate with the talents which they knew he possessed. For all these reasons his taking off was both premature and tragic.

Fine Cash Register

Hall & Reynolds have just installed in the Lakeview Pharmacy a marvel in the way of a cash register. The many things it keeps count of are remarkable. It is electrically operated and not only shows the amount of the purchase, but also keeps count of the number of sales, issues printed tickets to customers, showing the date and amount of purchase, as well as the credit sales and debits, while should an error occur it will show what clerk made it. The cost of the machine was about $300.

Wool Sales

The most successful wool sale of the season was held Friday, at Pilot Rock. Of the 200,000 pounds offered, more than 100,000 changed hands. The price offered ranged from 14 to 17 cents.

Though several thousand pounds of as fine wool as Eastern Oregon ranges have ever produced was offered for sale at Echo not a single pound changed hands. The record price of the season, 17 cents, was offered for one clip, but this was refused with the same alacrity as a price of 12½ cents the lowest offered.

Baseball Spelling Bee

The McMinnville Commercial clubmen has accepted a challenge from the Civic Improvement club women to a baseball spelling bee early in June. The match will be unique, as it will be conducted according to strict baseball rules. The words will be given from the pitcher box to the batter at home, who if he spells the word will go to first and depend on other members to help him home. The unique spelling bee promises to furnish amusement since it will settle the question of supremacy of the men or women of McMinnville.

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH
Proposed Catholic Church for Lakeview. Structure of brick with rock foundation, to be begun when half the cost will have been contributed.

Judge Raker Resigns

Alturas Republican: From the papers we learn that Judge Raker has resigned the chairmanship of the Democratic Central Committee. The reason for the resignation is found in the fact that Judge is a candidate for Congress from this district. The papers state that he will be a candidate against Englebright, however this statement is assuming that Englebright will be the Republican nominee. There are at least two men out for the Republican nomination for this office. John L. Childs is one of the aspirants and is showing considerable strength.

Ely Makes Poor Flight

E. B. Ely who is well known to Lakeview having driven a passenger auto between here and Alturas two years ago, is now doing the flying act. His latest engagement was at Sutherland a boom town near Roseburg of which a dispatch to the Telegram says: An aftermath of the carnival held at Sutherland last week is an action filed in the Circuit Court there against the promoters of the carnival by the Portland Aeroplane Co., E. B. Ely, Vice president and manager. For making or rather attempting to make flights in a biplane on three days of the carnival Ely alleges that $480 is due him on agreement that he was to receive one half of the gate and grandstand receipts. The Sutherland promoters will fight the suit, declaring that Ely's flights were failures. On the first day of the carnival the biplane barely cleared an ordinary fence; on the second day it could not go over the fence, and on the third day after rising to a height to about 20 feet, the machine suddenly fell to the ground and was wrecked.

Additional Locals

N. T. Corey, a brother of P. M. Corey, arrived last week from Sebastopol, Cal., with the intention of locating here. He is a contractor and builder, and will build a residence for P. M. His family will probably follow him in a short time.

The ball game Sunday resulted in a victory for Alturas, the score standing 10 to 7. The game did not come up to expectations, and Gus Schroder's colts will have a walk-over on the fourth if the other teams do not put up better ball than they have done thus far this season.

Fred Oliver, G. McDonald, J. H. Lewis G. E. Snider and Chas. McIntyre, all of whom register from Spokane are looking over the possibilities of this section. They went to Warner yesterday, and will visit Surprise Valley, Davis Creek and New Pine Creek before returning.

It has been the custom from time immemorial, to find fault and belittle the hotel accommodations in towns the size of Lakeview. The solitary exception within the writer's knowledge was the McClellan House in Roseburg along in the early '90's, although there may be others. Be this as it may, the Examiner is firmly of the opinion that the hotel accommodations of Lakeview at the present time are not equalled by those of any other town on the coast of its size. It is a well known fact that both hotels are taxed to the limit, and no doubt the management see where improvements could be made, but this thing of local people greatly magnifying our alleged shortcomings should halt.

THE PARISIAN MILLINERY

Main St., West of Court House

S. J. Dutton, was up from Davis Creek, says that all sorts of crops in his section are in fine shape, and that never before have the prospects for fruit been so favorable. Inasmuch as the season is so far advanced, there is now no reason to believe that the crop can be damaged by frost, and further the frost itself has reached such a stage that it could not be damaged to any appreciable extent except by an unprecedented freeze. It is simply wonderful at what an early stage trees begin bearing in that section, for Mr. Dutton states that some pear trees he planted two years ago will have fruit on them this year.
