STATE POLITICS BECOMING WARM

MANY CANDIDATES OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Assembly Nominees For State Offices Probably Successful

PORTLAND July 3—With the Republican state assembly only two weeks away, political prophets are busy speculating upon the ticket that will be recommended to the party for nomination at the primaries on September 21, and although there is a difference of opinion as to the probable nominees of the assembly there is a general feeling that they will be the party nominees after the primaries.

Interest naturally centers upon the probable nominee for governor, but it is difficult to make an accurate forecast as to the assembly's choice. Dr. Andrew C. Smith, formerly state senator from Multnomah county and one of the leading physicians of Portland is an avowed candidate for the indorsement and his candidacy has the backing of a large number of well known Republicans, including Harvey W. Scott, editor of the Oregonian; Joseph Simon, mayor of Portland, and Dr. Henry Waldo Coe, treasurer of the state of Oregon. It is said upon good authority that Dr. Coe is about to open up headquarters in the interest of Dr. Smith's candidacy. In many ways Dr. Smith would make a first class candidate. He is a successful practitioner, a citizen of high standing and a good "mixer." He is also a man of strong likes and dislikes, and as a consequence has a host of warm personal friends as well as numerous bitter enemies. Dr. Smith will undoubtedly be opposed by friends and supporters of ex-Congressman J. N. Williamson of Prineville owing to a political feud of long standing between these two men.

Acting Governor Jay Bowerman of Clatsop is a man whose name is mentioned frequently in connection with the governorship. Bowerman is known to favor the assembly plan and has stated that he would be pleased to have the indorsement.

Although Bowerman is comparatively young he is regarded as a sound lawyer and a man of exceptionally good judgement. He has served as senator from Gilliam, Sherman and Wheeler counties since 1904, and has a host of friends in all parts of the state. It is said that a majority of the delegates from eastern Oregon will favor Bowerman's candidacy. The acting governor has long been identified with the Moody faction of the Republican party in eastern Oregon, but as against Dr. Smith would undoubtedly secure the undivided support of the Williamson faction for reasons previously stated. Bowerman is known to have many friends and supporters in Multnomah county and will doubtless have the support of a number of the local delegates.

J. H. Ackerman, state superintendent of public instruction, is another man who would like to fill the governor's chair for the next four years. Ackerman has made an enviable record in his present position and his candidacy has the support of many loyal friends in all parts of the state. Dr. James Withycombe, the defeated candidate of four years ago, is anxious to run again, and it is said that his name will be presented to the assembly for consideration. Dr. Withycombe made a good showing against Governor Chamberlain and many Republicans contended that the ruse of the game entitle him to another chance.

Colonel E. Hofer of Salem and Judge Grant B. Dimick of Oregon City are candidates for the nomination of governor, but as both are opposed to the assembly plan it is unlikely that their names will be presented.

The recognition of Governor-Secretary of State Frank W. Benson for the latter position is a foregone conclusion. It is quite likely that the assembly will give him a unanimous recommendation. The only other aspirant whose name has been mentioned is State Senator John B. Coffey of this city. Coffey has an ambition to become secretary of state but there is a little probability of his success as long as Benson is in the race.

Little interest has yet been manifested in the campaign for state treasurer. It is known that George R. Steel, the present incumbent desires another term, while Ralph W. Hoyt of Portland, E. V. Carter of Ashland, T. J. Mahoney of Heppner and T. C. Taylor of Pendleton have been mentioned in connection with the assembly nomination.

Among those whose names have been suggested for position of Attorney General are A. M. Crawford, the present incumbent, who is now finishing his second term, State Senator J. N. Hart of Baker City and A. C. Hough of Grants Pass.

Chief Justice Frank A. Moore of St. Helens and Justice Thomas A. Mc Bride of Oregon City will be recommended for the Supreme bench without opposition, but it is not certain whom the assembly will recommend for the other two nominations. Judge Henry J. Bean of Pendleton, George H. Burnett of Salem, George E. Davis of Canyon City and L. T. Harris of Eugene have all been mentioned for the position.

L. R. Alderman of Eugene, E. D. Kessler of Corvallis, S. J. Churchhill of Baker City and B. F. Robinson of Portland appear to be the leading candidates for the position of state superintendent of public instruction, while W. J. Clarke of Gresham is an active candidate for state printer. W. S. Dunaway, the present state printer, is not in sympathy with the assembly but that body may see fit to recommend him for re-election because of his official record and his past services to the party.

Congressmen Ellis and Hawley, State Engineer John H. Lewis and State Labor Commissioner O. P. Hoff will apparently have no opposition for re-commendation at the hands of the assembly.

AUTO MAIL LINE PROVES SUCCESS

REGULAR SCHEDULE IS MAINTAINED

Contrast Between Old and New Methods on the First Trip

The first auto to carry mails regularly out of Lakeview left Friday morning on the Paisley route returning in the evening. S. B. Chandler, the contractor states that the service will be maintained as long as the weather conditions will permit, or until he is convinced that the line can be operated much more cheaply by horses and wagons. As yet he is unable to determine the difference in cost of operation and as the service is proving highly satisfactory to all concerned it will be continued indefinitely.

A remarkable contrast in present day methods was shown at the Post-office when the first mail auto left. It was immediately followed by the carrier on the Valley Falls route and his outfit consisted of a span of mules and an ordinary farm wagon.

Dave Edler Strikes Oil

Christmas Lake Items

F. A. Bartling says the Bartling settlement in the Wagonire Country is progressing nicely.

The location of the new school houses near Lake is as yet undecided. The settlers cannot agree as to where it should be built.

New buildings and fences, roads laid out on section lines, wells dug, land cleared of the sage brush and some plowing together with the fires from burning sage brush lighting up the valley at night show that great progress is being made by the settlers who mean business in Christmas Lake Valley.

A special Agent of the government has been at work looking over some of the land in Crook County upon which some of the Portland locators have been placing settlers, some complaints having been sent to the Department of the Interior, relative to there being some misrepresentation by a few of the locators.

The demand for marriageable ladies in this valley does not seem to abate at all. Women and widows holding down claims are as coy as possible, seemingly vent on obtaining land more than husbands, though the supply of young men carving out a home for themselves is above the average. For the most part these men are self reliant stock that equals any pioneers of a new country anywhere. Some of them in a suit of overall look as good as a Major General in gold braid and full dress uniform.

Miss Hatch, the Postmistress at Viewpoint has opened her office.

With little expense the roads in Christmas Lake valley will be as easily kept in repair as any roads in the county, the level valley making it possible to follow section lines closely in almost every instance.

The Post Office at Lake, has been removed to the main road running East and West and about two miles south of Christmas Lake. The post mistress, F. A. Peemington, assumed charge July 1st. For the present a weekly service is granted though the increasing demand of settlers will soon make this a daily route.

Grain is very high in Christmas Lake Valley, barley being worth 4 cents per pound and hay is selling at about $20 per ton delivered. As far west as Crescent hay is even higher the visible supply being in the hands of a few buyers who cornered the market. There are openings for about 100 good farmers to supply the demand before the railroad crosses the valley when prices will become normal.

Here Is Your Opportunity

To the Homeseeker:

At present we can locate forty people on homesteads of level valley land, where good well water can be had at depths varying from 30 to 60 feet, and where there is plenty of timber available for fuel within five miles. The soil here is very fertile, being a sandy ash loam and at present there is a heavy growth of sage on it.

The soil is very similar to the soil found in the northern part of Oregon and the eastern part of Washington, and will without doubt prove to be equally as productive and valuable, when we have the same transportation facilities. The railroad survey passes through some of the claims referred to, and none of them are more than three miles from same. Here is a pretty valley, that has never been cultivated, but has been used for range purposes only, and we assure you that it is equally as good as any land left in central or southeastern Oregon.

Now if you still have your homestead right, why not investigate this proposition, for we are quite sure you would not overlook such an opportunity, if you knew positively that it was here. Don't listen to idle remarks, but come and let us show you.

We also have several relinquishments and excellent bargains in raw deeded lands, if you are in the market for such.
