

NEWELL SLATED TO BE CAST OUT

New Regime in Reclamation is Planned by Taft and Ballinger

BEVERLY, Mass., July 5.—Reorganization of the reclamation service was discussed today at a three hour conference between President Taft and Secretary Ballinger. Although no official information could be obtained, it is reported that the future plans for reclamation do not include the retention of Frederick K. Newell as director of the service. Ballinger would not discuss this phase in any way. It is known, however, that the secretary has long regarded Newell as inimical to his plans for the reclamation service. Newell has openly opposed Ballinger and Ballinger in turn has publicly stated that he did not regard Newell as the man for the place occupied by him.

Just when and how Newell is going out could not be ascertained. Secretary Ballinger left for Washington tonight. He will remain there a few days and then start on a long trip west, during which he will visit a number of Indian reserves and public lands under some reclamation projects now under way. His trip, including a brief rest at his home in Seattle, will occupy from six weeks to two months. When the secretary alighted from the train this morning he was met by the usual crop of resignation rumors.

"I am not a quitter," he said, "and never have been. I did not bring a resignation with me and will not have one." The recent withdrawal of water power sites phosphate and petroleum lands by the president covering 87,000,000 acres in various states and two territories were discussed with the president by Secretary Ballinger.

"Dealing with these lands," said the secretary, "we will continue conversation in every essential detail. At the same time the president proposes that opportunity for development shall be given." Ballinger said. The lands will first be classified and once this is done the task will be undertaken of getting legislation through congress for the disposition of these lands on a fair basis.

Should Depend On Eyes

Pedestrians are slowly but steadily learning the lesson that before they step of the curb they must "stop, look and listen," in accordance with the old fundamental doctrine of law governing the responsibility of individual when approaching a potential source of danger such as a railroad crossing. It should not be necessary for the motorist to sound a horn to let anybody know of his presence in the neighborhood. Of course, occasionally conditions develop when such a warning is required, such as when a car suddenly comes out from behind a screen of other vehicles, and which it is overtaking, or at some congested crossings. Yet with everybody tooting at once, the value of the warning of each horn is diminished.

Unless some check is put upon the volume or character of the sound produced by the auto horns, pandemonium will invent some new form of shocker, screacher, howler or other arrester of attention, and at the present rate of progress our streets will be a bedlam of hideous sounds with pedestrians more confused and in greater danger than ever, unless they rely strictly upon their eyes and place no faith in their ears for protection.—Washington Star.

Cardriver to Governor

John H. McGraw, who died in Seattle Thursday was driving a horsecar in San Francisco when he first came to the Pacific coast about thirty years ago. He afterwards became Governor of Washington and one of the most prominent men in the political and business life of the evergreen State. Not all of the horsecar drivers or other men engaged in earning livelihood in similar occupations at the present time, will become governors, but all over this broad land there are hundreds and thousands of hardworking young men who are doing no better today than the late John H. McGraw was doing when he first came to the Pacific Coast, but, who, like McGraw, will later receive their reward of fame and fortune. It is needless to add, however, that they will have no time to waste in awaiting their hard part and complaining that there is no longer a chance for a poor man.—Portland Oregonian.

THE ENCAMPMENT DISSAPPOINTMENT

Socialists Failed to Float "Old Glory" at Klamath Falls Meet

The Socialist encampment at Klamath Falls was much of a disappointment, according to the Chronicle, which says: The big tent city erected by the Socialists to house the Oregon California Socialist encampment near the Southern Pacific depot is a thing of the past. Today work started on tearing down the tents and dismantling the new city, which sprang up in day and which presented a very attractive appearance both during the day and night as at night the colored lights showed up very handsomely.

According to many citizens of the town only one thing really marred the effect of this big gathering and that was the absence of an American flag from the mast of the big tent.

This absence of the emblem of liberty is accounted for by those in charge of arrangements who claim that they could not attach a flag to the top of the masts and though they wanted the flag there and would have put one there this kept them from doing so. It appears, however, that had they cared to show their appreciation of allegiance to his emblem of Uncle Sam, a pole could have been erected especially for this.

The citizens of this city who donated toward the setting of the encampment here feel somewhat disappointed at the failure of those who solicited these funds who got the donation on the representation that not less than 5000 people would be here from the outside. Instead of 5000 promised D. E. Burrell, one of those in the lead of the local movement, stated this morning that a conservative estimate of the visitors would put it at something like 800 or 1000. On top of this was represented that these people would spend large amounts of money here and the fact remains that very little was spent by any of them.

The Socialists ran their own restaurant on the grounds, had their own vaudeville show and other attractions, such as stunts of every kind where lunches, fruits, soda pop and soft drinks, cigars and other stuff were sold and instead of the visitors spending their money with the restaurant keepers, hotels and store keepers of the town they were all fed and furnished other things on the grounds to keep them from spending their money with the local business men who contributed to the encampment and contribute to the support of the town in general. The encampment was a big success from the standpoint of the Socialist movement here. D. E. Burrell says the membership of the Klamath Falls local has been increased largely and will be a factor in the coming election. He states that a complete ticket will be put up in this country for the coming campaign and while he acknowledges that there will be little chance of electing the ticket it will show the strength of the party and will give the movement strength for future battles. Who will be the nominees of the socialist ticket or who are the prospective nominees is not given out.

Livestock vs Wheat

Attention is called by The Oregonian to the growth of the livestock industry in the Pacific Northwest. On one day of last week it says ten carloads of wheat were received at Portland 40 carloads of livestock. It is maintained that the stock grower will become a more important factor in the prosperity of the state than the wheatgrower within the coming ten years. Then there will be more wheat grown than at present but the livestock industry will have expanded to a remarkable degree by that time, due to Portland having the greatest stockyards and packing plant on the Pacific Coast. This means much to the city's future, it is believed.

Back to the Farm

That high prices for food products are driving many people back to the farm is the belief of those who have given the matter attention. It is contended that not for years has the movement been so noticeable now. All parts of the Pacific Northwest are being benefited, it is said, by this desertion of the cities and return to the soil. Confidence is expressed that this will balance production and consumption and bring prices of farm products down to lower levels.

Teething children have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. All that is necessary is to give the prescribed dose after each operation of the bowels more than natural and then a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. It is safe and sure. BALLINGER SAYS HE IS NO QUITTER

Secretary of the Interior Does Not Expect to Resign Now or Ever

BEVERLY, Mass., July 5.—"I have never been a quitter and have not brought my resignation with me," said Secretary of the Interior Ballinger today when asked if he intended to relinquish the interior portfolio.

"Moreover, I do not expect to resign," continued the secretary. "I came to discuss with the president a plan to reorganize the land office and the reclamation service. New legislation recently enacted involves certain work by the reclamation service. I think that the Indian office the patent office and some other bureaus are in splendid shape."

Ballinger had luncheon with President Taft and conferred with him at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It is understood that the conference will decide the fate of Director Newell of the reclamation service.

Ballinger has already stated before the investigating committee his belief that Newell was not the man for the reclamation service. The secretary claims that the service is demoralized as result of unrest caused by reports that changes are imminent.

Flys Bring Death

Swat the fly says an exchange for he is a frequenter of of all; the fly lays his eggs in the manure pile or the other objectional filth. All the germs—all the imaginable, abominable microbes—fasten themselves on the spiny feet of the fly. He brings them into the house and wipes them off his feet. The fly you see walking over the food you are about to eat is covered with filth and germs.

If there is any dirt around your house or about your premises, or house of your neighbors, he has just come from it. It is his home. Watch him as he stands on the lump of sugar industriously wiping himself. He is wiping off the disease germs; rubbing them on the sugar that you are going to eat, leaving the poison for you to swallow.

"He wipes his feet on the food that you eat, on the faces and on the lips of your sleeping children. This does more to spread typhoid fever and cholera infantum and other intestinal diseases than any other cause." Summer time is fly time and this is the period of the year when he should be guarded against. Here is a summary of the plan of attack:

Clean up your premises inside and out and then as much as you can see that adheres do the same. Strike at the root of the evil. The house fly breeds in horse manure, kitchen offal, and the like. Dispose of these materials in such a way that the housefly cannot propagate. Screen all windows and doors and insist that your grocer, butcher, baker and every one from whom you buy foodstuffs does the same.

There is more health in a well cleaned house than in any doctor's visit.

The fly brings death or, at least incapacitating the needless disease into your home.

His eradication is simple, if laborious.

The main ingredient is cleanliness.

To Check Land

SALEM, Or., July 5.—George G. Brown, clerk of the State Land Board, and Peter Applegate, State Land Agent, will leave tomorrow for a trip to the United States Land Offices at The Dalles, La Grande, Burns and Lakeview. The purpose of their trip is to check up on the various land grants made from the Federal Government to the state aside from the grants of sections 16 and 36 were acquired by the state by the act of admission, February 14, 1859, and require no checking.

Checking will be done, however, on the special grants which include indemnity lands, agricultural college lands, university and swamp lands. This is the first time such checking has ever been done by the State Land Office and the task will be a stupendous one, keeping the officials away from Salem until August 1. The checking will have no reference to the grantees of the state, but will be done merely between the Government, as grantor, and the state, as grantee, of the lands.

Soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury is quickly relieved by the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment is equally valuable for muscular Rheumatism, and always affords quick relief. Sold by all good dealers.

ESTABLISH RUN TO CRATER LAKE

L. W. Clapp Will Handle Southern Pacific Passenger Service

Klamath Chronicle: L. W. Clapp, who is running one of the automobile lines between here and Lakeview, leaves in the morning for San Francisco where he will get a new machine to be put on the stage run between here and Crater Lake. In the meantime his automobile service will be discontinued on the Lakeview run until about the middle of next week when he returns with an extra machine.

Mr. Clapp is the man who will have the contract with the Southern Pacific to handle the through passenger service from San Francisco to Crater Lake. Tickets can then be purchased either at San Francisco or Portland and way points for the trip directly through by way of this great natural wonder. From San Francisco a ticket through will mean that after the arrival here on the train passengers can remain over night and the following morning will leave in an auto for the rim of Crater Lake where they will connect with another line from the other side.

This service is now in operation regularly but when the through service is inaugurated the trip will be made here to the rim of the crater in about five hours. There the passengers can jump into another auto which will be in waiting and make the trip on to Medford to connect with the through train. Mr. Clapp says he will make the round trip each day bringing back in the afternoon any passengers from the lake who come in from the other side the return trip to be made in about four hours.

It is said that the roads between here and Crater Lake are in excellent condition except for a few places where there are some rocks and rough places. With the establishment of this service a large amount of passenger traffic is expected to come via Klamath Falls both from San Francisco and Portland.

Hawley a Candidate

Congressman Willis C. Hawley, who has just returned to Salem from Washington after making a splendid record for his constituents in the lower house, stated yesterday that he would be a candidate for re-election, although he is not certain as yet to the time of filing his declaration.

The congressman had no further statement to make yesterday. He was busy at his office in the federal building practically all day and has entered heartily into the work of determining just what his constituents desire and what will be the most beneficial for his district at the present time.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrhs; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm will master catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell the 50 cent size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

The Balm is used without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. Ely's Cream Balm contains no cocaine, mercury nor other harmful drugs.

GOLDIE VALLEY

If you want 160, 320 or 480 acres of land in fertile Goldie Valley where water can be found at depths of 7 to 25 feet, wood for fencing and fuel within easy reach, fine grass for feed and an excellent winter or summer range close by, a survey of the Oregon Eastern, the "Harriman Road," now building toward the end of the valley an 12,000 acres open to you now. Then get busy. Don't write asking me a dozen questions but come and see for yourself. I cannot afford to advertise in order to get my name in print. I must be able to produce the goods to make it pay. If you will come and go with me to Goldie you will be able to get real gold from the grass roots from wheat, oats, barley and other grains; from all the vegetables, roots and plants of the temperate zone; from every variety of fruit tree known to prosper in this wonderful fruit belt. Not by mining but by simply filling the soil in the good old fashioned way where practical experience, some grey matter and a little healthy work can accomplish wonders.

I can guarantee every statement made in my advertising and suggest that it's your duty to yourself and those dependent upon you to get land now before it is all gone. Time, tide and government land wait for no one. First to come get first choice and every man is assured of a square deal by the man who specializes in one thing—Government lands.

Oregon Valley Contract Holders

No matter where your land is or what quality of soil, etc., it may be, I will in exchange for your paid up contract desired to me, locate you on 160, 320 or 480 acres of tillable government land, providing you have a homestead right to any of these sized tracts. This offer is for a short time only and subject to withdrawal at my option.
