Big Auto, Little Money
The Auto Livery no doubt has the car bargain of the season in the Oakland 40. The car arrived Sunday afternoon, and a number of demonstrators proved it to be all that is claimed by the manufacturers as well as the agents. The price for 30 days has been fixed at $1750, and that price not only includes the delivery of the car at Lakeview, but a guarantee for a year against breakage, as well as agreeing to teach the purchaser to operate the car.

It is a big car for the money, it being roomy all around, with large wheels, affording good clearance, and it has worlds of power enabling it to climb any hills in the country.

The engine is almost noiseless, and can scarcely be heard as it glides along the street. It is handsomely finished and presents a natty appearance. Its weight is but 2250 pounds which should make the up-keep very light, especially on the 34x4 tires with which it is equipped.

Improvements at Land Office
The land office has received a general overhauling this week, the floor being covered with linoleum and the desks, bookcases and black cabinets being rearranged. That portion allotted to the use of the public has also been increased in size; and the new arrangement is much more convenient and satisfactory to all concerned, both the officials and the public.

At last accounts the pigeon was still there apparently satisfied with its surroundings. It is undoubtedly a carrier pigeon gone astray, from where, no one knows.

of Twohy Bros., builders of the Harrison road, have more than 2500 men making the dirt fly. This quota is declared by local officials to be normal amount of labor that has been employed since the initial work was undertaken.

It is also stated by the contracting firms that the only drawback they have now to contend with is the stringency in the labor market which prevents them from getting as many men as they desire.

The call of the harvest fields has proven too attractive to a great volume of laborers who the railroad employment agents have been trying to corral. As a matter of fact, the contractors are considerable elated over their success in keeping as many men in their camps as they do. It will be still harder for them to keep their ranks from being depleted as the harvest season progresses.

Arrangements are going forward for getting grading started on the second section of the Oregon Trunk between Madras and Bend. Camps are being scattered along the proposed right of way at frequent intervals, and this stretch of line will be made ready for the rails within a few months. The laying of steel for the first 100 miles from the south the Deschutes to Madras would be commenced early in August, and ought to be completed in less than 90 days from that time.
