

DISAPPOINTMENT IS EVERYWHERE

Some Interesting Things About Strife, Jealousy Feuds and Factions

Every school, shop, factory and store is to a degree a hotbed of strife. Jealousy and heartburning says Elbert Hubbard in the San Francisco Examiner. Plot and counterplot fill the air. There are disappointment, discontent and apprehension everywhere. The employee or helpers unite in friendships. All exclusive friendships breed factions and tend to the end to separate people.

The man who runs a big business succeeds only as he can keep peace and stamp out the clique. When a man says, "I won't stay if you keep Bill," fire them both.

But a better way is to bring Bill and Joe together and show them how the success of the concern is the success of all.

Beware of chums. They only pool their weakness. He is strongest who stands alone. Be a friend to anybody by all speak well of all.

If you lend a willing ear to a man's troubles, you will make them your own and you do not lessen his. By listening to tales of trouble you absorb trouble that is to say, if you take discord into your being.

And the more discord you have in your cosmos the weaker are you—you are that much nearer death and dissolution. The more harmony you have the stronger you are.

The institution that succeeds in a "masterly way" is the one that has at its head a man of strong, stern and yet kindly purpose. The more this man keeps his eye on the central idea—the more he focuses on "his work"—and keeps fear and hesitation and distrust at bay, the more sure he is to win.

The soil is bounteous, the mountain full of precious gifts, the opportunity to work is everywhere. Society needs men, who can serve it. Humanity wants help—the help of strong sensible, unselfish men who can save it from dissolution and those who can forest most are those who are freest from prejudice, hate, revenge, whim and fear.

Two thousand years ago lived one who saw the absurdity of a man loving only his friends. He saw that this meanest faction, lines of social cleavage, with ultimate discord, and so he painted the truth large and declared we should love our enemies and do good to those who might despitefully use us. He was one with the erring, the weak, the insane, and the poor.

He was one set apart, because he had no competition in matter of love. It is not necessary for us to save our tasks and pattern our way of living after his, but if we can imitate his divine patience and keep thoughts of discord out of our lives we, too, can work such wonders that men will indeed truthfully say that we are the sons of God.

There is not much rivalry here. Be patient, generous, kind even to foolish folk and absurd people.

Be not separate yourself from plain people, or one with all—be universal. So little competition in this line that any man in any walk of life who puts jealousy, hate and fear behind him make himself distinguished. And all good things shall be his—they will flow to him.

Power gravitates to the man who can use it, and love is the highest form of power that exists. If ever a man shall live who has infinite power, he will be found to be one who has infinite love.

And the way to be patient and generous—to free yourself from discord—is not to take a grip on yourself and strive to be kind; not that. Just don't think much about it, but lose yourself in your work. In other words, forget it.

Do not go out of your way to do good, but do good whenever it comes your way. Men who make a business of doing good to others are apt to hate others in the same occupation. Simply befriended with the thought of good, and you will radiate. You do not have to bother about your soul any more than you need trouble about your digestion.

Be your work. Think the good, and evil, which is a negative condition, shall be swallowed up by good, as well as from other towns near by. The rant for this paraphernalia is said to reach a pretty figure.

A great influx of professional gamblers marked the selection of Reno as the scene of the battle, and yesterday a number of them left town for their former homes. With the dying off of the gambling the last vestige of the strenuous ties attendant on "fight week" are gone.

CONSERVATION IS BEING OVERDONE

Retired Land Official Says Americans Are Standing in Own Light

"Posterity is amply able to take care of itself. If it can't it will not help it any for us to meddle with its business now," said H. H. Schwartz yesterday, discussing the conservation of natural resources, says the Oregonian.

Mr. Schwartz recently retired as chief of the field service of the general land office at Washington, D. C., to enter the firm of Moulton & Schwartz, attorneys.

Mr. Schwartz said Western States, knowing their own requirements, had forced certain bills through congress. As these did not suit the ideas of certain persons, he said, they were promptly suspended.

"First of all, we ought to consider what is conservation," he said. "I thoroughly approve of the right of conservation, but the kind that makes us buy coal for the Pacific coast to the extent of $1,000,000 a year from West Virginia, while it will shortly be needed for the iron fields, is ridiculous when we have the Alaskan coal fields at our door. A conservation that makes us spend 86 of accumulated wealth to have $1 of natural wealth is clearly irresponsible. Yet that is what conservation, as practiced by certain people amounts to."

"Take the case of Arkansas. On the benches of Arkansas can be found the finest apple and peach land in the world. But it is not available because it is being conserved for a timber crop every fifty years. In place of that fifty-year crop we could have an annual fruit crop.

"The people in the East have their own ideas of conservation. Bottle up everything until the majority in the East makes up its mind what it wants to do, is what it amounts to. Our remedy is to have laws that cannot be suspended, laws not controlled by individuals. Instead of passing a bill permitting the President to withdraw certain lands from entry, congress should do it itself, if it seems advisable. Then we should get at the root of the thing and we know just who is responsible."

What is your opinion of Judge Ballinger?" Mr. Schwartz was asked. "I worked with him a long time," he said. "He is not only a great man but a thoroughly straightforward and honest man, and there is not a scrap of guile in him. The attacks made on him were most cruel, looking on them as attacks on Ballinger as Ballinger. I believe, however, that they would have been made at this time on anyone who happened to occupy this position as Secretary of the Interior."

"He has ability. He is a constructive statesman. He looms up above the attacks that have been made him like an Oregon pine looms up above an Eastern scrub oak. Look upon the attack as emanating from dwarfish and crooked minds and you have the situation accurately sized up."

Enumerator Wants Pay

Census enumerators all over the country who are still waiting for Uncle Sam to compensate them for their services, will be able to sympathize deeply with William Grant of Rockland County, New York, who has written to Census Supervisor James Kilby, complaining of the delay. The letter which reached Mr. Kilby today says:

"Now that all the danger of Halley's comet has passed the Theodore is home again, I would most respectfully inquire if the government can spare a small amount due me for my services as an interrogation point during March and April. If they really need it, I can wait a little longer. But my wife is arranging for the celebration of our silver wedding in the Fall and we need it by then. She believes now that I have received it and blown it in, and nothing but the sight of the check will convince her."

"We had figured on using the money for a trip to the seaside this summer, but the figures were wrong and now we expect to get it in time to buy furnace coal for winter. For the love of God call an extra session of congress or something and get it through. If they can't spare the cash tell them to send 2-cent stamps for I would like to have some good of it before the family has to use it for a white tombstone to put over my grave."

The State's Finances

The State Treasurer has filed his semi-annual statement for the six months ending June 30. The balance on hand, held by the state January 1, 1910 amounted to $821,820.65, while the receipts derived from different sources swelled this amount to $2,761,484.02. Disbursements for the past six months reduced the funds to $818,592.33, this total exceeding the balance on hand at the first of the year by $271,131.78. First mortgage loans in the Common School Funds amount to $4,974,260.50; school district bonds, $225,325; and certificates of sale, $693,182.52, and with the cash on hand the Common School Fund aggregate $5,988,483.87. The annual apportionment of Common School Funds will be made August 1, and will amount to about $320,000, or $75,000 more than was given last year.

Portland's Automobile livestock show and race meet on the Country Club grounds will be known as the Harvest Festival, and the biggest purse ever offered in the Pacific Northwest for a single race will be hung up. It will be $10,000 and will be known as the banker's purse. Another, offered by the hotel men will be $5,000. Many smaller prizes will be offered and it is believed the festival will attract a larger gathering than any similar meet held in this part of the country.

Wagontire Country	Counting
Paradise Valley, Long Valley, Nevada, Big Valley, California

I am the Homestead Specialist, because I saw a need for a reliable man to gather information regarding the lands available to homestead entry and settlement. My knowledge appertains to this one distinct branch of the land business.

The Government says you are entitled to 160, 320 or 480 acres of land. My business is to show you this land and go through the details of safely securing it for you. I charge a reasonable fee for my services and I earn all I get. I am a success in my chosen line and my success is built upon my ability to serve your interests better than you can serve yourself. If you desire a choice 160 or 320 acre homestead NOW is the best time to get it. The time will never come when you can get better land than NOW.

Its your opportunity based upon a certainty. Get some friends and come along. Wire me to meet you and my business is to see that you get land. Sounds easy does it not? Well, the only drawback to the whole proposition is yourself. Will you stand in your own shadow and let this opportunity pass you? If not, make up your mind to join the people that are developing this section of the Inland Empire—Lake County, Oregon. Veterans of the Civil and Spanish Wars located at half regular rates.

Oregon Valley Contract Holders

No matter where your land is or what quality of soil, etc., it may be, I will in exchange for your paid up contract deed to me, locate you on 160, 320 or 480 acres of tillable government land, providing you have a homestead right to any of these sized tracts. This offer is for a short time only and subject to withdrawal at my option.
