Lakeview, Oregon, Thursday, September 29, 1910

Representative James A. Tawney, of the First Minnesota district, known as "The Watchdog of the Treasury," has been defeated for re-nomination. He has been a member of Congress since 1892. He attributed his defeat to the Democrats who voted for his opponent.

The total registration of the state for 1910 is 107,729 as against 103,643 for 1908, a decrease of nearly 2000. Of the 34 counties of the state 25 show a decreased registration this year over that of two years ago. In 1908 there were 80,921 Republicans and 28,778 Democrats registered as against 74,037 Republicans and 23,148 Democrats for 1910.

In the sworn statement of expenses during the Washington Senatorial campaign, filed with Secretary of State, Miles Foidexter, of Spokane, swears positively that the total expenses for himself and expenditures or promise of expenditures by any one for him, with his knowledge or acquiescence, aggregated $1980. Judge Burke, of Seattle, swears that to the best of his recollection his expenditures were $18,361.33.

According to the registration, the Republicans have a clear majority of 266 in Lake County. In comparison the Republican nominees are certainly not inferior in ability or otherwise to their opponents. Each and every one having been the choice at the primary election, why, then, should they not receive the vote of every man who believes in the principles of the Republican party?

Generally speaking, all politicians and everybody else professes to believe in the primary election law. Such being the case, why then not abide by the result? By opposing the primary nominee, he is the assembly or anti assembly candidate, it would indicate to an unbiased observer that the individual was not acting in good faith. Of course, we all have the right to choose whom we will support for office but in doing so let us be honest and not try to "beat around the bush" in excusing our course in not supporting the primary nominee.

When the reports of the progressive victory in the republican primaries of Washington reached Theodore Roosevelt he immediately urged that all factions of the party unite to support Representative Miles Foidexter for the United States Senatorship and the three progressive nominees for congress. "Just as in South Dakota, where the regulars won, I urged progressives to support the regulars heartily," he said. "So I most earnestly urge that the progressives in Washington, where I am informed Mr. Foidexter has been endorsed for the senate, and the three progressive candidates have been nominated for congress, must be given loyal support by the regulars."

Over in Klamath the socialists do not propose to take any part in politics this year, and the organizer has issued the following order: "The socialist party will have no ticket in Klamath county in the coming election and in view of this fact and various inquiries that have been made to party members by other party candidates through their supporters, we wish to have it made known and understood that we do not endorse political trading. When the socialist party has no tickets in the field its members have no vote, providing they live up to the pledges they take when joining the party. In case of violation of the party pledge or constitution a member is liable to expulsion from party membership."

The Odd Fellows of Klamath Falls last Thursday laid the cornerstones of their new three story building with appropriate ceremonies. The building will be one of the handsomest in the state, and will cost approximately $50,000.

Was Misinformed

September 27. To the Editor: It has been brought to my attention that the Merrill Record, a democratic newspaper published in Klamath County, Oregon, has editorially claimed information from Lake County that the Lake County Assembly endorsed H. A. Brattain for Joint Representative from this district and that W. Lair Thompson was recommended for that office by the district assembly in violation of instruction for Brattain. If such information was ever really received by the Merrill Record the originator of the story had little regard for the truth. The County Assembly did not endorse anyone for the office of representative. Mr. Thompson has excellent qualifications for the office of representative, and his candidacy that the approval of the people of Lake County. F. P. LIGHT, Chairman of the Lake County Assembly.

Nevada's Best

"Surprise Valley Record": The new depot of the N. C. O. at Reno is built of concrete and is one of the largest and handsomest buildings in the State of Nevada and is sufficiently large to accommodate a much larger business than is now afforded by this northern country. As the N. C. O. will probably soon be an important factor of trans continental route the company has doubtless taken the precaution to be prepared to handle an increased volume of business that will then accrue. The N. C. O. railroad has done much towards settling up Modoc and the whole northern country and has been the cause of the increased value of property now enjoyed by our people. Those facts should be appreciated by our people.

Band Concert and Dance

The band boys gave their first open air concert Sunday afternoon at the Court House square. A large number of people listened to the several selections and manifested their appreciation by hearty applause. The boys will give a dance Friday evening of next week, the purpose being to secure funds with which to help defray expenses incurred in the organization and conduct of the band. The organization is certainly entitled to liberal patronage which will no doubt be accorded.

POOR CLAY TILE.

Not long ago there appeared an article in this department warning prospective users of drainage against cement tile the improperly made. A friend who is engaged in the manufacture of cement tile in a letter received a short time ago admits the truth and fairness of the article, but thinks it gives the impression that no poor clay tile are made. We are glad to state that this is far from the truth. If the clay body from which the tile is made contains an excess of lime and magnesia or other ingredients aside from the silicon and aluminum compounds, which should largely compose it, they are quite likely to lack uniformity of texture, will be too brittle and are apt to go to pieces when exposed to ordinary soil or air conditions. And it goes without saying that a collapsed clay tile is just as worthy of condemnation and strict avoidance as a shoddy cement tile. As in the case of the cement tile, much will depend upon the integrity and reputation of the firm manufacturing. The only point in favor of the clay tile is that there is not the incentive present to scrimp expense in the cost of manufacture, as is the case with the manufacturer of cement tile in the use of poor sand and in the reduction of the per cent of cement below the proper amount. A tile drain system is no better than the poorest section in it; hence he who has in view such a system of drainage should exercise the greatest caution that the tile used should be above defect or reproach, and this holds true equally of both the burned clay and the cement product.

School for the Blind

The fall session of the new State School for the Deaf will open Sept. 28th. The new building, for which the last legislature appropriated seventy five thousand dollars, have been completed and are being made ready for occupancy. Those formerly occupied have been transferred to the State Sanatorium for the Treatment of Tuberculosis.

The new school plant is modern in every respect, and is most conveniently located in the suburbs of Salem on a tract of fifty two acres, on the line of the Oregon Electric and about a half mile west of the State Fair Grounds.

The object of the school is to educate the deaf children who come to it without language of any kind into useful, intelligent, self supporting citizens. This is accomplished by means of both literary and industrial training.

Seven literary and five industrial teachers are employed. All the literary teachers have received special training for their work, principally at the training schools in Washington, D. C., Northampton, Mass. and Philadelphia. Great attention is devoted to the development of speech and speech reading among the deaf in addition to the necessary instruction in written language.

Trades teaching is an exceedingly important part of the work and this feature has been greatly strengthened in the last few years. The girls are given ample time and skilled instruction by special teachers in cooking, sewing and dressmaking; while boys are taught printing, woodwork, leather work and for those interested considerable attention is given to general farm and garden work.

The recent progress of the school is shown by the winning of the gold medal for general excellence of work shown at the Alaska Yukon Exposition in competition with the state schools of Washington, California and Utah.

A majority of the pupils enter school not knowing a word of language nor even their own name and the transformation of these pupils into intelligent young men and women and skilled workers capable of independent useful and happy citizenship is really marvellous. A number of the graduates are successfully pursuing courses at the National College for the deaf in Washington, D. C.

Through ignorance of the existence of the school or misconception of its purpose and character there are deaf children in many communities who are not sent to school at all, or are not at the proper time. These children are compelled to lose many years of valuable time and others are acutely and permanently ignorant, helpless, dependent, unable to express their simplest wants in verbal language, out of firm social converse, mentally and spiritually stunted and stunted. Their very unnecessary plight infinitely worse than that of the wholly illiterate hearing person, and surely no missionary, or social, or civic duty, was ever more sacred than to seeing that there are as few such cases as possible. Especially so, as the state provides free every facility for the prevention of such disastrous results. Full information can be had by addressing the Superintendent State School for Deaf, Salem, Oregon.
