 Mrs. Gussie Ogden of Cincinnati has given $1,000 toward a fund to be used for the protection of women slandered by their husbands.

Mrs. Carrie Bachenburg of Belvidere, Ill., a trustee of the University of Illinois, managed a street railroad for five years. The job was forced upon her by the death of her husband.

Mrs. E. H. Harriman is above average height, very light of figure, with a charming expression of face—kind, frank eyes and a smile that is far more than a mere widening of the lips.

Mrs. H. J. Tennant and Lady Frances Balfour have been appointed by King Edward members of the royal commission to inquire into the English divorce law, especially as it is administered among the poorer classes.

Miss Theodora J. Frankson of Chicago, who has been totally blind since she was eight years old, has been elected to the Phi Beta Kappa society in the University of Chicago. This is an honor conferred for high scholarship. The title of associate in literature was awarded Miss Frankson at the same time.

Miss Sue E. Watson promises to be Pittsburg's first girl sculptor to achieve fame. Miss Watson, although but eighteen years of age, has already done notable work.

A statue of Pocahontas will soon be erected on Jamestown Island, Virginia. William Ordway Partridge, the distinguished sculptor, has just completed the statue, which is of heroic size.

Countess Troubetzkoy, who is better known to Americans as Amelie Rives, will soon come to this country and will have with her a pet wolf. It was captured when young in Russia and tamed and walks along at the end of a leash like a dog and quite as harmless.

Mrs. Martin J. Wessels of Spokane, Wash., is said to be one of the few artists, if not the only one, whose work is devoted exclusively to pictures of grain. Among her pictures are the frescoes in the rooms of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce and the decorations on the walls of the Spokane building at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

The Royal Box.

The Princess of Wales is the most expert needlewoman of the British royal family. Indeed, she is rarely to be seen without a needle in her hand during her leisure moments.

Elizabeth, the new queen of Belgium, daughter of Duke Charles Theodore of Bavaria, renowned as an oculist, has inherited her father's scientific tastes. She began the study of medicine at the age of sixteen under her father's guidance and took her M. D. degree at Leipzig shortly before her marriage.

King Edward of Great Britain will on no account allow two knives to lie on the table before him together. At all dinners held at Buckingham palace a clean knife is placed beside each guest with every course, and this rule must be rigidly observed at all public as well as private dinners attended by his majesty.

CAT AND MICE.

A Jolly Game For Out of Doors or in the House.
 If five children are to engage in the game of "cat and mice" one of them must play the cat, while the remaining four represent the mice. If the game is played out of doors the yard must have certain spots designated as "mouse holes." These "mouse holes" may be marked by stones, sticks stuck into the ground or by chairs and should be placed at regular distances about a circle or square of, say, twenty feet across or larger if the space permits. Where there are but four mice their corners form a square, but if there are six or more mice they may form a circle. The mice holes being some ten feet apart. The cat is in the center of the square or circle marked by the "mouse holes."

The mice take their places behind the objects representing the holes, thus pretending to be out of sight of the old cat, who lurks in the center. The game begins by one or more mice creeping out of hiding, going into the center of the space to find food. Of course a time to come forth is chosen while the cat's eyes are watching an opposite hole. The cat listens and must turn quickly and pursue one of the mice that is away from his hole. If the mouse is caught before he gets into the hole again he must exchange places with the cat, allowing the cat to become the mouse and he becoming the cat.

All the mice may come out of their holes at the same time if they feel inclined to do so, but no mouse may enter the hole of another mouse, even though closely pursued.

Hopes.
 When I was small I hoped for toys
 And dolls and sweets and gaires,
 And then when I was six I wanted
 Books of fairy lore.

Unromantic.
 "Anything romantic about their wedding?"
 "Not a thing. She can cook, and he has a job."—Kansas City Journal.

A Fierce Threat.
 Maid—Do you want a good beating, Master Jimmy, or do you not, because if you don't behave yourself this minute you'll get both?

And They Want to Vote.
 First Society Woman—I want to write my broker to buy me some stock. How would you word that sort of thing?
 Second Society Woman—Tell him to buy it at the lowest market price or less.—Life.

In the Rough.
 A man mixed some strachine with wheat and fed it to the English sparrows.
 Said the cat, "What makes the birds taste so queer?"
 And there wasn't a dry eye in the flog.
 —Chicago Tribune.

Logical Reason.
 "Why did you, who are a hypochondriac, have so much faith in doctors?"
 "Because I know they're not such fools as to let a good customer like me die."—Cleveland Leader.

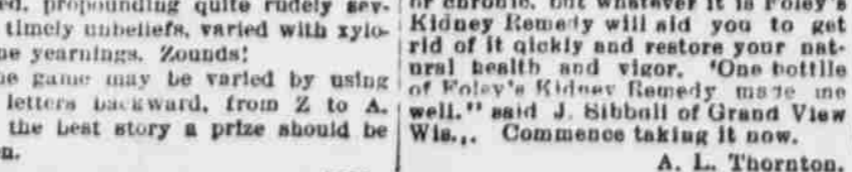

Righteousness.
 Little Jack Horner sat in a corner,
 Eating his dilly lunch.
 He looked at the crowd,
 And he snorted out loud,
 "I'm the only good boy in the bunch!"
 —Judge.

A Reliable Medicine—Not a Narcotic.
 Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little boy's life. She writes: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gazing spells and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house."
 A. L. Thornton.

The Gratitude of Elderly People.

Alphabet Game.
 Here is a good game for a rainy day. Each person must write a story in twenty-six words, every word to begin with a different letter of the alphabet in regular order. For example: A beautiful creature discoursed every Friday, giving her impressions joyously. Kind, lovable man now objected, propounding quite rudely several timely unbeliefs, varied with xylophone yearnings. Zounds!
 The game may be varied by using the letters backward, from Z to A. For the best story a prize should be given.

A Sailor Cut Out.
 Cut out this jolly little tar and fill in the missing lines.

The Truth About Asbestos Roofings

The price of asbestos is 5c per pound. The price of so-called asbestos roofing is 3c per pound. You can see for yourself how much asbestos roofings are likely to contain.

The idea of asbestos to make fireproof roofing is excellent. But the cost of asbestos prohibits its use to the extent that it affords protection from fire.

Yet Ruberoid roofing accomplishes the result without using asbestos, or claiming to be an "asbestos" roofing.

Perfect Fire Protection

You can throw burning coals on a roof of Ruberoid. They will slowly die out. They will set fire neither to the Ruberoid nor to the timbers underneath.

The building roofed with Ruberoid is as thoroughly protected from fire from without as a building can be. And it is more.

For Ruberoid is sun proof, rain proof, cold proof, heat proof. It resists acids, gases, and fumes.

The wonderful properties of this roofing are due to the use of Ruberoid gum.

This gum is an exclusive product. No other maker can use it.

That is why 200 substitutes for Ruberoid will stand the tests which Ruberoid stands.

And because it tells, too, about Ruberoid, we send it free. To get this book, address us.
