Lakeview, Oregon, Thursday, October 20, 1910

Every "non-partisan" office seeker is registered as a straight out Democrat. Not a single one is registered as an independent or fails to give his party allegiance. Consequently it is not likely that any Republican will swallow the "non-partisan" bait.

Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, on trial in London for the murder of his wife, the American actress, Belle Elmore, was found guilty last Friday and sentenced to death. Miss Ethel Leuev, his alleged accomplice, was placed on trial Tuesday.

It speak well for Lake County to have a candidate for Representative who is favorably mentioned throughout the state as probable speaker of the House. Let us give W. Lair Thompson a unanimous vote, and then boost him for the position for which he is admirably fitted.

Warner B. Snider is peculiarly fitted for the position of Sheriff of Lake County. He has had much experience as deputy under Sheriff Dent, and his familiarity with the county records and also the records of the U. S. Land office makes him well qualified for the place.

If the "non-partisan" office seeker is setting in good faith, why should he not register as a non-partisan, independent, or refuse to give his party affiliations. The fact is he is not a non-partisan but a strict party man who is endeavoring to hoodwink the voters, and that is all that can be made out of it.

A pledge to raise $100,000 within two years for the cause of home rule in Ireland was enthusiastically made by the 885 delegates represented at the second day's session of the fifth biennial National convention of the United Irish League of America which was held at Buffalo, N. Y., recently.

David Bennett Hill, the great New York politician, died at his home near Albany last Friday morning after an illness of two weeks. Governor Hill controlled New York Democracy for years, and his conflicts with ex-President Cleveland caused the latter to remove to New Jersey. Hill's ambition was to become president.

F. E. Anderson for County Commissioner is not only the choice of the voters at the Republican primaries, but he is also the choice of the voters of the north end irrespective of party. His high standing in his own neighborhood attests his worthiness as a citizen, and should be elected he will no doubt perform the duties of the office in a manner creditable to himself and the public like.

You can just gamble your last dollar that every non-partisan candidate you ever heard of will vote for every candidate on his party ticket. If he is a Republican he will vote for straight unless there be a vacancy on the ticket, and the same is more especially true of a Democratic candidate. Besides when these same candidates are not seeking office they disclaim such ideas as non-partisan. As a well known Democratic politician of Klamath County said in relation to Senator Chamberlain's election, the non-partisan proposition is alright here in Oregon but a mighty poor thing down in Texas.

You do not hear of any non-partisan Republican candidates here in Oregon and neither do you hear of any non-partisan Democratic candidates down in Texas or Arkansas. Whenever you hear of a non-partisan candidate you know at once that he belongs to the minority party and is making a bid for support that is not sincere to say the least. We all play politics, but the non-partisan dodge is one of the silliest that a candidate can possibly make, for it fools no one and at once causes the question to arise as to the honesty of the candidate putting forth the argument, if such it may be termed. We all have our personal likes and dislikes, but the non-partisan dodge is so flimsy that at even an owl could see through it—mid-day. It is like the drowning man grasping at a straw and shows that the candidate considers his case practically hopeless.

With the final approval of President Wilson plans for raising the battleship Maine, it is expected work on the sunken vessel will soon be completed and the memorable hull will be taken out to sea and given a deep water bed forever. It is not believed the wreck will be placed on exhibition as one of the great naval memorials. The plan provided that the Maine shall be raised before February 15 next, the thirteenth anniversary of the destruction of the battleship in Havana harbor.

If rumors are true, it would be well for a certain Democratic candidate for a county office in which there will be a chance to dispense public favors, to read carefully a section of the corrupt practice law which is worded as follows and on which there is an earnest intent on the part of judicial officers to be enforced:

Section 19, page 25, Laws of Oregon, 1909: "No person shall, in order to promote his nomination or election, directly or indirectly, himself or through any other person, promise to secure or aid in securing an appointment, nomination or election of another person to any public or private position of honor, trust or emolument." Any violation of this statute is not only punishable as a criminal offense, but it also subjects the candidate to contest and forfeiture should he be elected.

No man stands higher in this community than Dick J. Wilcox, the Republican nominee for County Judge. He is a man of his word, and when he tells you that he will or will not do certain things you know then that there will be no subterfuges when it comes to a show down. Every man who has had any dealings with him knows him to be a straight forward man of his word and that he will not in any way take the underhanded advantage of any one. He has been fairly successful in a business way, and while he may not have amassed a fortune of several hundred thousand dollars, yet at the same time he has shown himself to be fully capable of conducting business matters in a most creditable manner. As county Judge he will not permit so many thousands of dollars of the people's money to be lying idle, but will place the rate of taxation at such figure that will raise only the necessary amount for an economical administration of the county's affairs. For several years past there has been many thousands of dollars of the people's money lying idle here in Lake County. That amount was wrung from the people by over taxation, and it makes no difference whether it was raised by a levy of 5 mills or 15 mills, the result is the same.

Unique Lodge Hall

Alturas Plaindealer: The Woodmen of Bidwell are preparing to erect a unique hall at that place. The building will be erected of logs cut in the forests and an old time house raising will be had as soon as the logs are on the ground. The Cedarville and Engleville lodges will attend at the raising and a great time will be had. The occasion will remind some of us old fellows of the long ago when all the neighbors joined in a "house raising."

Lake County has 38 lumber mills with an annual cut of 20,000,000 feet. Oregon harvested 1,700,000 bushels of wheat, 2,000,000 pounds of wool and 100,000 bales of hops.

The largest fruit and vegetable evaporator in the United States is located at Dayton, Yamhill County.

The Willamette Valley produced 1,000,000 bales of first grade hops this season, as compared with the yield of 82,000 bales last season.

Portland building statistics show a decided increase. September, 1910 606 permits, value $1,391,260 September, 1909, 509 permits, value, $1,288,300.

Oregon orchards yielded prunes this year estimated at 15,000,000 pounds. Quantity and quality are superior to the 1909 crop. Prunes will bring the state about $1,250,000 this season.

Oregon's public lands comprises 1,225,694 acres. Eastern Oregon has 500,000 acres of school lands. Because of attractive colonists rate in effect this fall the immigration to Oregon has been greater than ever before in a like period.

Julian A. Pond, a resident of Lake, and who recently made proof on a homestead in that vicinity, was a visitor here the latter part of last week. Mr. Pond reports that Lake is getting to be quite a town with a post office and general store already established, and the likelihood favoring a blacksmith shop and hotel in the near future. It is expected that next year will see a big boom in that section of the country.

Work will be commenced in a few days towards repairing the private telephone line, which is owned by S. B. Chandler and other ranchers on the route between here and Silver Lake. The posts and line will be carefully examined, and telephone instruments thoroughly overhauled making a complete up-to-date system. Three or four weeks will probably be consumed doing the required work, which will be in charge of Byron Graves and Charles Barry.

Animal Vanity

In a small town in Jersey there is a corner grocery where you may buy anything from a twenty foot ladder to a pearl necklace. Adhesive plaster, sauerkraut and toilet articles are also sold, and in case of necessity you may get a hair cut or a horse shod in the back yard. Some time since a farmer stopped in the store to get some horse liniment to rub the rheumatism out of a sick cow, and two or three days later he came back with a life sized kick.

"Look here, Abner," he complainingly remarked. "I wish ye would be a little might more keeful how ye throw yerself back of that counter. Tother day ye give me cologne instead of hoss liniment, and gosh darn if I didn't put it on that sick cow afore I found out what it was."

"It didn't hurt her any, did it?" broke in the groceryman.

"Can't say that it did," answered the farmer, "but ever sence she has had that sweet smellin' stuff on her she hasn't done a derned thing but jes' look at her reflection in ther duck pond an' sigh."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Damascus, a Garden City.

Damascus is a garden city touched by the great desert. Under its roses one feels the sands. Beside its trembling waters one dreams of the trembling mirage. The cry of its muezzins seems to echo from its mosque towers to that most wonderful thing in nature which is "God without man." The breath of the wastes passes among the poplars as that Bedouin boy passed among the merchants when he came and when he went. In Damascus one hears the two voices. And when one looks from the sacred mountain upon that city of dream, cradled among the woods, one sees far off the tawny beginnings of that other magic which looks out from the Bedouin's eyes. And though perhaps with the pilgrims from Samarkand one loves to rest beside the fountains under the hedges of roses, one is aware of the other love, intercourse with which has made Damascus an earthly paradise for those and for you.—Robert Hichens in Century.

Buffoonery in "Hamlet."

The buffoonery once tolerated in provincial theaters is illustrated in an anecdote set forth in the memoirs of Barry Sullivan. Wright, who was the first gravedigger, prepared himself to take the house by storm by having incased his person within a dozen or more waistcoats of all sorts of shapes and patterns. When about to commence the operation of digging the grave for the fair Ophelia Wright began to unwind by taking off waistcoat after waistcoat, which caused uproarious laughter among the audience. But as fast as he relieved himself of one waistcoat Paul Bedford, the second gravedigger, incased himself in the castoff vests, which increased the salvo of laughter, for as Wright was getting thinner Paul grew fatter and fatter. Wright, seeing himself outdone, kept on the remainder of the waistcoats and went on with his part quite crestfallen.

TO THE VOTERS OF LAKE COUNTY, OREGON

I respectfully present my name to the voters of Lake County as an Independent Anti-Saloon candidate for the office of Sheriff of Lake County. If elected I will do my duty as sheriff without favor. I will do all in my power to suppress the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors. Should Lake County be voted dry I will use my best endeavor to see that it is dry in fact as well as in name.
