SYSTEM RADICALLY WRONG.

Division Should be Decided by Each County.

That the system now in vogue in Oregon is radically wrong for the division of counties, is the belief of the Astoria Budget, which in its issue of July 7, says that it should be left to the people of each county themselves to decide whether or not they want to create new counties. The Budget says:

"Among the initiative measures that are to be voted upon at the election next November is one to create Nemah county by taking portions of Lane and Douglas counties. This is a measure which is of course only of direct interest to the people residing in the districts affected, but under the provisions of the law, it is to be voted upon by the people of the entire state. Judging from matter that is being sent out by the commercial clubs of Lane and Douglas counties the great majority of the residents of those sections are opposed to the bill and the only ones there who are favoring it are those who are endeavoring to create a real estate boom in what is to be the new county seat. That being the case, the one thing for electors who reside outside the affected districts, to do is vote against it. The fact of the matter is that the method now in vogue for the division of counties is altogether wrong. Such questions should be left entirely to the people whose homes are in the section directly concerned and whose interests are thus affected and not to the voters of the state at large, the majority of whom know or care absolutely nothing about the matter at issue. One grave danger of granting these petitions for divisions of counties by a vote of the people of the entire state is that some time the question may come closer to home. Some one, for instance, may want to get up a petition to divide our own county and under the existing law, the people of other sections of the state would determine the question by their votes. The safer way is to kill all measures of this kind that come up and thus nip all prospective petitions in the bud, at least until such time as the state laws are amended so as to provide for what may be termed 'home rule,' by restricting the vote on these strictly local measures to the voters residing within the district concerned."

MR. VOTER.
Do you think it right to vote to create new counties and double their expenses. You can not know conditions in remote counties and should vote against all division and vote for the law allowing counties to settle their local matters among themselves.

Thanks for the Pool.
(East Oregonian).
Above Gibbon the middle of the Umatilla river is to be the dividing line between Umatilla county and the proposed new county, which has not yet been christened. Under this arrangement the Wenaha Springs resort will be in the new county. All excepting the pool. Thanks for the pool.

NEW COUNTIES.

- When alone in the election booth on November 8th, when scanning your ballot you will read substantially the following:
- A Bill to Create the County of Clarke. 334 Yes. 335 X No.
 - A Bill to Create the County of Deschutes. 359 Yes. 351 X No.
 - A Bill to Annex a Portion of Clackamas County to Multnomah. 322 Yes. 323 X No.
 - A Bill to Annex a Portion of Washington County to Multnomah. 338 Yes. 339 X No.
 - A Bill to Create the County of Nemah. 316 Yes. 317 X No.
 - A Bill to Create Orchard County. 332 Yes. 333 X No.
 - A Bill to Create the County of Otis. 320 Yes. 321 X No.
 - A Bill to Create the County of Williams. 324 Yes. 325 X No.
 - A Bill for an Act providing for the Creation of New Counties, Towns, etc., and changing boundaries of existing counties, etc. 262 X Yes. 263 No.

You are asked to consider well the above measures and by voting "No" on all division measures, and "Yes" on the bill giving the counties full control of all local matters, you will be relieved of such duties at future elections. Your careful, conscientious consideration is asked. Respectfully,
STATE ANTI-DIVISION COMMITTEE.

WORLD'S AEROPLANE SHOW.

The distinction of having been the first of its kind in the world's history marked the recent aeroplane show held in Antwerp, Belgium. At the show were exhibited all kinds of flying machines of the heavier than air and the lighter than air varieties. Some of the best known aviators sent their machines to the show, and it attracted large crowds.

TO HENPECK OR NOT TO HENPECK.

The now that lovely Mary Ann Will take some eggs out where old Fan is pulling hay from the long rack. Where sits that spunky hen so black. And when her nose comes into view That hen will make a how-d-d-o. She'll catch poor Mary by the snout And try to scratch her blue eyes out. She'll fly on top of Mary's head And scratch her like a garden bed. Poor Mary will get a black eye, And her false curls away will fly. And Mary will fall off the rack And all those pretty white eggs crack Upon her head, run in her ear. And Mary will be all one smear. Then she will cry her eyes most out When she sees her poor scratched up snout. She'll whack that old hen in the neck For making her sweet face a wreck. But, say, when Mary marries Bill And he just crosses her sweet will Or says she can't have a new hat Should she henpeck poor Bill for that? Now, if 'twas wrong when that old cuck From Mary's snout a big piece took, And if 'twas right when Mary, mad, Treated that old black hen so bad. Wouldn't it be wrong for Mary Ann To rave and henpeck her old man? Wouldn't it be right if poor Bill should Just turn and lick the snout good? C. M. BARNITZ.

A DUCK'S LAYING AND HATCHING HABITS.

Uncle Pete says, "Keep a duck for luck."
There's this true, sure—if you don't want eggs laid on the hen installment plan, keep Pekin, Runner or Orpington quacks for when they start to lay in March or February. 100 eggs straight ahead is no unusual record. They naturally lay at night, and if on the pond you may duck for eggs next morning, a New York farmer who drained his pond to catch egg-eating 500 ducks eggs in the bottom. When incubated nearly all hatched, as duck eggs are very fertile. If you wish a duck to sit soon, don't remove eggs from nest unless too many accumulate. She builds her nest gradually by adding sticks, straws and leaves, and when it is lined all round with her down and feathers her lay is about over and hatching begins. To protect her eggs from chill and vermin she covers them when off and on returns from a swim sprinkles them with her wet feathers to assist incubation.

A LAYING PEKIN.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

That wild ducks are not scarce is shown by the slaughter of 12,000 by gunners in three days on the Susquehanna flats, Maryland. Other quacks and quackery are also on the increase. All this talk about balanced rations by certain feed companies is quite amusing. The cheap grain, grit and dirt some sell will knock a hen off her balance and at the same time give the company a cash balance on the right side of the ledger. Don't be caught with chaff. During the big Alaskan exposition thousands visited the stretch ranches of California, and American plumes got a big bid. If Germany makes her ranch near Hamburg a success the big bird may be raised most anywhere in the Union. Harry Nichols of Chestertown, Md., has purchased seven alligators to guard his poultry at night. When a thief is caught the county will save expenses of trial, inquest and undertaker. Our poultry editors who are slinging ink at the boys who fake at shows should quit selling books that teach faking in all its branches.

To fake or not to fake is the question that confronts the fancier when he knows that the other fellows all do it and he'll get licked if he doesn't. Now, which is worse—to be licked or to fake, to fake or to knock? When a hen uses her shoulders to blow her nose the daubed feathers are a sign for you to separate her from the rest for catarrh or roup treatment.

In these corn feeding days the hogs often have a fat hen for dinner. The shelled corn is a big temptation to the fowl and the fowl to the hog. Poultry wire is cheaper than chicken and turkey dinners for hogs.

The wagon shed is a poor roosting place for the farm flock. John Bughouse's hens always roost in his new top buggy. If your feed room opens into the chicken quarters your birds will always be trying to sneak into the pantry. If the jam you hooked from mother's shelf didn't give you the jimjams a jammed coop will often relieve the jam in a crowded coop.

EX-CUE CHAMPS STILL BUSY.

Houston and Demarest Want Another Chance to Win Back Titles.
Undaunted by the loss of their titles, Calvin Demarest, who relinquished his 182 billiard title when he was beaten by Harry Cline of Philadelphia, and Thomas Houston, who lost his pool championship to Jerome Keogh, are preparing for new worlds to conquer. Houston is going out for the three-cushion billiard title now held by Fred Eames of Denver, and Demarest expects to regain his title before many months. Both players lost their titles recently. Houston will play all comers in New York in preparation for his match with Eames. He confidently expected he would be able to defend his pool championship against Keogh and capture the three cushion title as well, but now that he has lost his title he has determined to gain another in a new field. While Cline succeeded in beating Demarest, the ex-champion says another chance will see him again a champion. But now Willie Hoppe must be reckoned in the running in championship billiard circles. Hoppe beat another retired champion, Ora Morningstar, while Cline was winning the title from Demarest and will likely be matched with Cline in the near future. Since winning the pool championship Keogh has been a popular man with challengers. Charles Weston of Chicago, known as "the cowboy," will have the first chance at the new champion. His challenge has been accepted, and the match will be played in either Buffalo or Rochester in March. Hueston will challenge the winner and expects to have back his title by next May.

TOMMY HUESTON, WHO WILL PLAY EAMES IN DENVER.
