Are Your Lights Satisfactory?

IF NOT, CALL IN

E. T. SPENCE

And ask him to remedy the trouble. On the most remote part of the system good lights may be had by correct wiring and the use of proper lamps.

AN EXPLANATION

People passing the Singer Headquarters opposite Snider's Opera House during the evening, have noticed recently the powerful light with which it is lighted. At first sight one would think there were several electric or gas lights in the building, but it all comes from one ordinary sized coal oil lamp, using a mantle by means of which the oil is generated into a gas, producing the best light in use anywhere, and at the same time, is a rest for the eyes after using an ordinary light. It may be seen at work any evening at your own home if you wish.
