(F. L. Perkins, in Portland Telegram.) By the tight little clique of Bour bons and near Bourbons participal ing in the fruits of Pemperatic gub ernatorial victory, Governor Oswald West's veto of 72 bills of the Legislative Assembly is bailed with mighty acclaim as saving the taxpayers of Oregon #613 874.

Indubitably this saving is a fact, and as the state needs the money a certain amount of credit must go with the showing in the concrete, but when the acid test is placed upon the motives controlling the Chief Executive in vetoing a large number of these measures a condition of affairs is revealed which, in view of the enormous power vested in the Gov ernor and the State Boards, cannot fail to excite apprehension as to the nuture conduct of affairs of state.

Writhing under the double cross given them by the Governor, Republican Representativas today must recall the burning words of Henry Mc-Kinney, of Baker, attered on the floor of the House near the close of the session:

have a certain degree of respect and such contracts more than $58,000. admiration. But for those Republiheld only contempt."

speach with a lively sense of embarinto line under the cracking of the exclaim, "Stung!"

Each incident is a story unto itself, and in point of importance the veto Representatively of Senate Bill No. 54, by flowerman, hate hand anary surface, rollar- entitled. "an act to prevent fraud against the state," takes first rank.

By the provisions of this bill no member of a state board or other board dealing with the purchasing of supplies for a public institution could bid on contracts for the furnishing of such supplies. It was said that Bowarman's motive was to prevent State Treasurer Thomas Kay from selling the products of his woolen in his official capacity, which gives him a seat on the State Boards. This Multnomah has to pay in part the come a law. Thompson fought West may be true, but whatever caused salaries of District Attorneys of other at the last session from start to fin-
