REALTY BUSINESS FOR J. N. WATSON

Former Register of United States Land Office Gets Busy

J. N. Watson has decided to enter the real estate business, and to that end is now fitting up offices in his Canyon-street building. Mr. Watson has long been a resident of Lakeview and Lake County, and is perhaps more intimately acquainted with the possibilities of the different sections of the county than any other one man. He served as Register of the U. S. Land office for six years, having been appointed by President Roosevelt in 1903 and reappointed in 1908. His health failing he resigned in 1909, since which time he has been taking life easy. Now that he has regained his health, he feels like buckling into the harness again and getting busy. Within a few days he will be ready for business, and in addition to his own city property will handle that of others who may desire to list with him.

LAFFERTY WANTS NEW LAND LAWS

Junior Oregon Congressman Has Right Ideas on Land Legislation

Oregonian News Bureau, Washington, April 1.—Representative A. W. Lafferty has prepared, and next week will introduce several bills intended to open up to settlement some of the attractive public lands that are now beyond the reach of the homesteeker, either because of restrictions imposed by law or by reason of executive orders making them unavailable for entry. It is Mr. Lafferty's purpose to call these bills up in the public lands committee as soon as he can get a hearing, and he has hopes that favorable action may be had at the special session.

The bills in question, while general in their terms and applicable to all the West, will operate to make available several million acres of public land in Oregon, says Mr. Lafferty, and, if passed, he believes that many homes can be established in his state within the next two years which otherwise will be located elsewhere.

The most important bill drawn by Mr. Lafferty amends the enlarged homestead act by making it applicable to all nonirrigable agricultural public land. Under the present law the Secretary of the Interior designates the land that can be entered in 320-acre tracts. The Lafferty bill removes this provision, and will make all the remaining public land in Eastern Oregon subject to entry in double the quantity that can be taken now, except on the areas designated by the Interior Department. In effect, this bill amends the homestead law by permitting the entry of 320 acres instead of 160 acres by each citizen. Next in importance to the bill just mentioned is a joint resolution directing the president to eliminate from the forest reserves of the West all non-timbered land and to restore the same to entry under appropriate laws. The resolution also directs the restoration to entry of all lands now included in the withdrawals for reclamation projects where there is no immediate prospect of the land being used for reclamation purposes. There is quite an area of land tied up in Oregon in this way today, and as there will be no money available for new projects, except the West Umatilla, for the next six or seven years, Mr. Lafferty is anxious that the land shall no longer be withheld from use, but shall be made subject to entry.

A third provision of the resolution directs the restoration to entry of all excessive lands now included in withdrawals made for the protection of power sites. The land restored in each case, is to become subject to homestead entry.

The third measure amends the commutation clause of the homestead act, section 2301, R. S., U. S., and authorizes commutations to be made by the entryman after he has resided upon, cultivated and improved his claim for a period of 14 months, regardless of what his intentions may have been at the time he made his homestead entry. The Department, by recent rulings has made it impossible for a settler to commute by paying the $1.25 an acre where the special agents could show that the settler intended so to do before, or at any time of, making his homestead application. This ruling of the Department practically repealed the commutation clause and greatly narrowed the opportunities of settlers to acquire lawfully title to small tracts of the public domain.
