SUMMER SESSION AT U.A.C., JUNE 19

Rich Opportunity Offered Younger Generation Of Oregon

Corvallis, April 12.—The six weeks summer session at the Oregon Agricultural College which opens June 19 and lasts till July 28 will offer many new courses this year for the benefit of those teachers disqualified by the new school laws which now make heavier requirements as to preparation.

Town and city supervision and the new rural school supervision provided for under the new school law will be taught, as well as the advanced subject as required now for certificates, such as mathematics, history, the sciences, English and American literature, the art of teaching, psychology and the history of education. There will be special work for the teachers of industrial subjects, and particular attention will also be given to instruction of primary and intermediate grammar grade teachers as to the relation of the school to the industries. So large a proportion of the school children of the country never get beyond the grammar grades that it is considered immensely important that the teacher of the younger children should in some degree correlate the work with the practical things to be met outside.

Besides the course in methods of teaching the regular high school work, the O.A.C. summer session will offer work in the domestic science department for housewives and for young women who wish to learn to manage homes of their own some day, or to teach home economics. Prospective farmers and orchard growers will be given special instruction which will prevent them from committing many of the expensive errors of the beginner. The great importance of this work lies in the fact that a great number of professional and trades people of the cities are now acquiring land which they must either know how to handle themselves, or how to superintend the work of others on it.

The summer session offers unusual opportunity for the boy who has not yet decided what he wants to do in the world. Parents may send their boys and girls of high school age with a certainty that they will be in a pleasant, profitable, and healthful environment under the influences which may determine the trend of a successful after-career. The girls will find much pleasure and profit in work which emphasizes the advantages of science and art when applied to home problems. For those who wish to devote their summer to work toward a college degree there will be regular collegiate courses, but there will also be short courses in agriculture, manual arts, cookery and dietetics, sewing and handwork, laundry and home nursing, vocal and instrumental music, art and landscape gardening. A number of noted educators from the East have been engaged for special lectures, since they will be coming west for the convention of the National Education Association at San Francisco in July.

THE VEILED PROPHET.

He Was the Most Noted Impostor of the Middle Ages.

The celebrated "Veiled Prophet" of history was a Moslem fanatic whose real name was Hakeem Ibn Hashem. He was born about the middle of the eighth century and became the most noted impostor of the middle ages. He pretended that he was an embodiment of the spirit of the "living God" and, being very proficient in jugglery (which the ignorant mistook for the power to work miracles), soon drew an immense number of followers around him. He always wore a gold mask, claiming that he did so to protect the mortals of this earth, who, he said, could not look upon his face and live.

At last, after thousands had quitted the city and even left the employ of the Caliph al Mohdi to join the fanatical movement, an army was sent against the "Veiled Prophet," forcing him to flee for safety to the castle at Keh, north of the Oxus. Finally, when ultimate defeat was certain, the prophet killed and burned his whole family and then threw himself into the flames, being entirely consumed, except his hair, which was kept in a museum at Baghdad until the time of the crusades. He promised his faithful followers that he would reappear to them in the future dressed in white and riding a white horse.

WANTED HIS PAY.

The Husky Jamaican Didn't Care to Work For Nothing.

An English naval officer tells of being on a war vessel which took provisions to St. Kitts, one of the British West India Islands. A hurricane had left many of the inhabitants in a destitute or even starving condition. Hungry crowds gathered at the wharf, but refused to help unload the food that was to be given to them unless paid for their work.

A similar story sheds light on the Jamaican negro. Some years ago a hurricane devastated the island, and a large relief sum was raised, much of it in England and the United States. The committee having charge of this fund sent a wagon load of lumber to a husky black man whose house had been scattered over the parish. He and his family were living in a rude shack, made out of odds and ends.

"What's that fur?" he asked of the men who were unloading the material in front of his patch of ground. "That's for your new house," was the reply. "It's from the relief fund and won't cost you anything." "Who's goin' to build mah house?" "You are, if anybody does." "Who's goin' to pay me fur mah work?"—Waynesboro Record.

An Old Garret on a Stormy Day.

I know no nobler forage ground for a romantic, venturesome, mischievous boy than the garret of an old family mansion on a day of storm. It is a perfect field of chivalry. The heavy rafters and dashing rain, the piles of spare mattresses to crouse upon, the big trunks to hide in, the old white coats and hats hanging in obscure corners like ghosts, are great! And it is so far away from the old lady who keeps rule in the nursery that there is no possible risk of a scolding for twirling off the fringe of a rug. There is no baby in the garret to wake up. There is no "company" in the garret to be disturbed by the noise. There is no crochety old uncle or grandma, with their everlasting "Boys, boys!" and then a look of horror.—Donald G. Mitchell.

Jack Sheppard as a Text.

Jack Sheppard had a great hold upon the imagination of the people of his time. The fact that 200,000 people witnessed his execution at Tyburn on Nov. 18, 1724, "upon the tree that bears twelve times a year" is some witness to his grim popularity. But one of the strangest tributes ever paid him was the sermon preached upon him in a London church.

"Oh, that ye were all like Jack Sheppard!" began the preacher, to the stupefaction of his congregation. He went on to draw a parallel between things of the flesh and those of the soul and to point out that the genius shown in housebreaking might have been bestowed upon "picking the locks of the heart with the nail of repentance."—London Standard.

Sure on One Point.

"Do you believe that great wealth has a tendency to keep a man out of heaven?" queried the party who was addicted to the conundrum habit. "I am not prepared to express an opinion on that subject," answered the student of human nature, "but I know that great wealth has kept many a man out of the penitentiary."—Chicago News.

Stuttered Out the Child's Name.

Flannery—It seems his full name is Dennis K. K. Casey. What's all them K's for? Finnegan—Nothin'. 'Twas the fault of his godfather stut-terin' when he tried to say "Dennis Casey."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Also It Uses Up Gold.

"Did you ever notice how a ring is like the marriage obligation?" "No. How do you mean?" "A ring is more easily put on than it is taken off."—Boston Transcript.

Musical Note.

A newspaper says of a recent operatic performance, "The ladies, the baritone and the bass were good, and so were the tenor's intentions!"

Every good deed performed is not only a present pleasure, but a support for the future.

RAILROAD DOINGS AROUND ONTARIO

Work on Oregon Eastern Likely to Start In Near Future

Harney County Times Herald Judge Biggs arrived Sunday afternoon from his home at Ontario to convene circuit court. This is Judge Biggs' first term here since his election to the bench and as he was formerly a resident of this city it is needless to say he met a warm welcome from his many friends in this section.

In discussing the railroad situation the other day Judge Biggs stated that it was generally thought over at Ontario that the railroad construction would begin towards Harney county this season.

The fact that there is now a large amount of money tied up in right of way in the Malheur canyon under its present terms will necessitate action this year, leads to the belief that actual construction will begin.

The conditions imposed by the Government should the present franchise lapse makes it almost sure the Harriman system will not allow it to expire. The present right of way is held with no strings. Should it lapse it would be necessary to comply with late restrictions of the Interior Department to raise the tracks 100 feet in order that they will not conflict with a proposed irrigation project.

The opinion is general that there was an agreement when the Hill interests sold the right of way to Harriman because of this restriction and that a joint trackage has been arranged. This is further made quite plain by the announcement that Morton Barrows, father-in-law of Lewis Hill, has just purchased 240 acres near Ontario which he has arranged shall be put into orchards at once. This land was purchased from the Western Colonization Co., of which Mr. Barrows is a stockholder. The Hill system is too closely identified with this territory to abandon it.

The fact that it is five years since the government right of way was acquired by the Harriman system makes it very probable the construction will begin this year and pushed to completion at least through Malheur canyon. The Vale Enterprise has the following respecting such prospects:

Along with the news of the successful floating in Europe last week by the Harriman system of $150,000,000 bonds on the Union Pacific system, and the filing last week of a mortgage on the Oregon Trunk and other lines of $125,000,000 by the Hill interests, indicating more railroad developments, comes the report that the Harriman people are getting ready for action, for the early construction work of the Oregon and Eastern. Last week's report in the Enterprise stated that an appropriation had been made for railroad work in the local yards and that a larger sum would be appropriated for the construction work into the interior. This week a Harriman attorney made his appearance into town for the purpose of closing the right of way matters as soon as possible. Several will be taken into the courts.
