IN MAKING THAT NUMBER OF CARS, THERE IS NO SACRIFICE in the high standard of workmanship, tests and strength of material that has made the FORD MODEL T the best seller and most popular car in the world for the masses. The Ford Company started in 1903 with a factory covering 1-4 acre and 311 employees. The present factory covers an area of 32 acres, and has an average number of factory employees of 4110. But one motor, the 20-22 1-2 H. P. and one chassis, is made, the entire factory force is engaged in the making of the one perfected type of car, with different styles of bodies.

The problem of building a light, strong, handsome, comfortable car has been solved by Henry Ford. Thirty-five thousand satisfied owners, in all parts of the civilized world, bear testimony.

Alturas Plaindealer: We had the pleasure this week of meeting Joe Lane of Lakeview, grandson and namesake of the "Marion" of the Mexican War, Governor of Oregon, delegate in Congress from that Territory, Senator and later candidate on the Breckenridge ticket for Vice-President. When the Civil war came Gen. Lane was offered a Major General's commission in the Confederate army. Like the true patriot that he was, he declined both, saying he would "never draw a sword where his countrymen were his foes." Had all of our countrymen been actuated by that spirit of patriotism, there would have been no Confederate army, and one of the most cruel, bloody and devastating wars of modern times averted.
