FARM PRODUCTS AND EXPORT TRADE

American farmers contributed over a billion dollars' worth of merchandise, or more than one-half of the domestic products exported from the United States in the fiscal year just ended. Of the high record exportation of $2,013,549,025 worth of domestic merchandise in the fiscal year 1,024 million dollars represented the value of products drawn directly or indirectly from the farm.

Of the 10 chief agricultural products exported, cotton leads with a total of 585 million dollars, the next largest items being, in order named, meat and dairy products, 15 million; breadstuffs, 124 million; unmanufactured tobacco, 39 million; fruits and nuts, 25 million; oil cake, 20 million; cattle and other livestock, 19 million; cotton seed oil, 17 million, vegetables, 5½ million; and hides and skins, 5 million, these 10 articles alone showing a total exportation for the year of 990 million dollars The remaining agricultural products exported in sums ranging from 1 million to 5 million dollars include Porto Rican coffee 5 million dollars; grease, 5 million; glucose, 3½ million; seeds, 2½ million; hops over 2 million; ginseng and other medicinal roots, 1 3-4 million; eggs, 1 3-4 million; corn oil, 1½ million; hay, 1 million; and hair, a little over 1 million dollars.

GAME LAWS STRICT HERE THIS SEASON

Portland, Aug. 14.—Deer hunters from California will be disappointed to learn that hereafter no deer carcasses, horns or any part of the animal killed in this state can be taken into California. The law in this regard was recently construed by Attorney-General Crawford, and every precaution will be taken by officers of the Fish and Game commission to see that it is enforced Attorney-General Crawford's decision is that the commission has no authority to issue permits to take deer killed in this state across the line into California. The only condition under which game can be taken out of the state is for propagation or exhibition. Already a number of applications have been received for permission to take game out of the state, and these have all been denied.

Some anxiety is felt by officers of the commission with regard to the difficulty of maintaining the restrictions on the birds which are now being protected. State Game Warden Finley admits that the task of making the distinction between protected birds and those that may be killed is going to be a hard one for hunters.

There is a closed season on Bob White quail, while mountain quail and California quail may be hunted during the season. No Chinese pheasant may be killed for the next two years, while the native pheasant and grouse may be hunted in season. Hunters are urged to use every precaution in shooting birds to avoid the killing of the protected species, as under the law the bird must not be carried away, and is, therefore, a loss to the hunter as well as the state.

Flour Mills for Madras

Madras, Or. Aug. 16.—The machinery for the Madras flouring mills has been shipped from the factory in the east and will occupy the large addition that has been built to the mill during the present summer and will have the effect of increasing the capacity of the mill from 50 barrels to 75 barrels daily. The mill will shortly be closed in order to do preliminary work necessary for placing the new machinery. The mill has on hand a supply of flour and other mill products which will supply the trade during the time required for putting in the new plant.

Walla Walla Has Storm

Dust storm records of six years were broken this afternoon by a black cloud of dust, which, gathering far westward towards the Columbia river, broke on the city in a perpendicular wall at 4 o'clock with the blackness of night, and for 25 minutes made necessary the use of gas and electricity for lighting all buildings. Wires were badly tangled and many telephones were put out of business. Manufacturing establishments were forced to close on account of darkness and the dense atmosphere of dust. The wind lasted for nearly an hour. Mike Donnelly a convict escaped from the penitentary during the storm by using a scaling ladder and vanishing over the wall. The escape is the most daring ever perpetrated there.
