NEVADA JOURNAL HAS FINE EDITION

Article on Lake County and Goose Lake Valley is a Splendid Boost

The Special Edition of the Nevada State Journal for August 19, 1911, gives one of the best write-ups of Lake county, recently published. The writer was so enthused over the wonderful opportunities here that he was overflowing with good things for the readers of that enterprising publication and the work is worthy of going into the hands of every landless man or woman in the United States that desires to get land where there is a possibility of their making a good living. We have not begun to grasp in its fullness what it means to live where we have so many openings and good things to offer to intending settlers.

RYE GRASS VALLEY SHOWS BIG GROWTH

"Bartling Settlement" Home-Builders Preparing For Next Year

The new settlement founded by Chas. F. Bartling in Rye Grass Valley, known locally as "Smiths Cove" or the "Bartling Settlement," a year ago last spring, is showing many evidences on every side of the good intentions of the residents to develop that section of the county. There are nine families located there with a sufficient number of children to form a large school, which it is hoped will be built in time for the fall term. Hundreds of acres of the fertile lands are being cleared of the sage-brush and fenced so that the rich native grasses can reseed themselves, wells have been dug and a good supply of pure water obtained, gardens planted and a general appearance of prosperity on every hand. Very little grain was put in this year on account of getting the soil in shape for sowing for next year is very bright. The settlers are the kind that believe in doing things and letting the other fellow do the kicking.

New Invention

Wm. Rouse, of Abert Lake, has invented a wind pumping machine that threatens to revolutionize everything in that line, in raising water upon the land for irrigation. The outfit consists of a series of large canvass wings that fold after they have passed the effective points and where they would resist the wind in returning to the point where the wind could take hold again. The first machine was so powerful that it broke a large iron shaft that was connected with the water supply. If this method is perfected it will raise water to any point within reason and greatly assist settlers to get alfalfa and other crops started to where they will be able to take care of themselves from the natural moisture and at the same time assist greatly in making final proof on desert claims that have to have water on them at the end of four years.

During the past week Lakeview was favored with a visit by W. W. Patch, Chief Engineer and C. C. Hogue, Fiscal Agent, both of the United States Reclamation Service, with headquarters at Klamath Falls. Both Messrs. Patch and Hogue were here on business before the local land office, where all payments of water rights charges are made.

AUTO OWNERS NEED LICENSES

Will Save Trouble by Complying With State Law at Once

There are a number of automobile owners in Lakeview that have not complied with the state law in requiring licenses to be secured from the Secretary of State and their display on both the front and back of the machine. The cost of these licenses is about three dollars for the ordinary 26 horse power machine, and the paying of this small fee will save much money for the fine for the first offense is $25, and correspondingly larger for a repetition of same. Any citizen is at liberty to file complaint with the District Attorney, who in case of complaint being filed will prosecute to the full extent of the law.

CHRISMAN RAISES FINE CROP OF OATS

Silver Lake Merchant Completes Successful Experiment

F. M. Chrisman, the well known Silver Lake merchant, this year undertook an experiment several miles south of his town in the way of planting oats. This is something that had never before been tried with any degree of success in that section, but Mr. Chrisman was so hopeful of the outcome that he planted the seeds over about 160 acres of land, plowing them in to a depth of ten inches. He now has as fine a stand as one would care to see, thick and very high. He expects to obtain at least three thousand bushels, and at the price that oats are usually sold for in this locality it can be readily seen that the investment in this instance was a very good one. The oats will be harvested in two or three days now, and after the success that Mr. Chrisman has experienced it is hoped that others throughout the county will try the same stunt.

Mr. Drenkle Leaves

H. W. Drenkle, the well known real estate dealer who made the offer of a free site for the depot, has left for his boyhood home at Oneida, Ill., where he will spend a few weeks among friends of his youth. It is thirty years since Mr. Drenkle left there to make his home west of the Rockies and the visit will show him that this part of the world cannot be beat for climate, health, opportunity and being the place where the man with limited means can get a start for independence if he has the right kind of stuff in his make-up. His own case is an example of what thrift and stick-to-itiveness will do.

Valley Falls Items

Geo. Edes returned Saturday from Alturas with a load of casing.

H. E. Curtis and H. G. Heckman are now engaged in putting up hay for H. A. Brattain.

The Jennings-Meyer Realty Co. furnished hay on the 70 ranch Saturday.

Two parties from Pennsylvania and two from Wisconsin are looking over the valley with the intention of locating.

Mr. Mayfield and wife were Lakeview visitors the past week.

his mother and "Buster" made a short visit Sunday. E. E. Free, a scientist of the Interior Department, will arrive shortly to make an investigation of the Alkali and Abert Lake mineral deposits. The potatoes on the Newcombe and Heckman homesteads are hard to beat. Both these places were cleared of sage brush last Spring and should do better than ever next year. So far this season no forest fires of any damage have occurred in this section. Several have started, mostly through lightning and electrical disturbances, but these were immediately extinguished with practically no damage by members of the Forest Service assisted by outsiders. We will indeed be lucky if the following two or three months do not see more fires than have so far started.

ALTURAS HAS FIRE; BLOCK DESTROYED

Heroic Efforts of Volunteer Brigade Saves Greater Conflagration

Alturas had the misfortune to have another serious fire that destroyed many buildings and resulted in a loss of perhaps ten thousand dollars. The fire started in the Partin Harness shop while Jim Partin, well known here, was at supper. The fire spread rapidly despite the heroic efforts of the volunteer citizens that responded, being aided by a heavy wind and poor fire service. The New Era printing office, Mrs. Weizerts residence, Mr. Yates dwelling and some smaller buildings were consumed, though the efforts of the fire fighters resulted in saving the Farmers stable and Gibson Drug store. It is reported that Partin's loss was about $4,000 and that he had no insurance, though the Modoc papers state he carried about $2,000 worth. Others had some insurance.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL GETS DICTIONARIES

Prof. Burgess Makes Progressive Purchase of Fine Books

Prof. J. F. Burgess of the High School has just received three copies of Webster's New International Dictionary weighing 15 pounds each. This is the best reference work ever published and Prof. Burgess deserves special credit for his selection, especially as it is paid for out of a portion of the school entertainment fund that was left over from last winters entertainment at the Opera House. The new work contains over 400,000 words and phrases defined and condenses much more information of value to those using it than any other work under cover. Stands are to be ordered to hold the heavy books and the equipment will be in keeping with the progressive spirit that dominates our schools. Last year a fine set of the International Encyclopedia was purchased and already has been used sufficiently to recompense for the outlay.

GROWERS NEEDED; SHORT CATTLE CROP

Buyer Horton Sees Need of New Methods of Production

"Jack" Horton has just returned from a trip to Silver Lake and the Sycan countries, where he purchased 250 head of beef cattle from H. A. Brattain; 200 head from James Small and 200 head from Lane Brothers. The price paid while confidential, is a good one and close to the topmost figure paid here recently. Mr. Horton says that this marks about the finish of the beef cattle purchases for this year and that there will be very few more sold. Delivery is to take place about September 15, when they will be taken to market as soon as possible. The purchases of Mr. Horton at this time total about one thousand head of beef cattle in Lake county that are nearly all in shape for market. In an interview the gentleman stated that conditions in Lake county are such, that if the county is to hold its reputation as cattle growing section, more men will have to go into the cattle business as there is not nearly enough cattle on the range this year to take care of the large quantities of hay that have been grown this year. The present supply is limited and no better opening is to be found anywhere than right here in Lake county where the open range country and the large area of land that it settled by men who would raise feed and stock to consume it would prove to be a bonanza for the man with limited means. When a man can take 480 acres of land and then have the open range country on the "High Desert" and Forest Reserve as a range, there is nothing to beat it. For in many places where this land is to be taken, water can be had for stock, drinking and irrigation purposes at from fifteen to twenty five feet, which means plenty of crops and a remuneration therefor.

Andy Keister was a visitor from his ranch Monday.

HORSE THIEF IS EASILY CAPTURED

Manager of "ZX" Ranch Gets Youthful Desperado

Sheriff Snider returned Tuesday afternoon from Central Lake County, with a boy named Wm. Leslie Hickson, captured by George Fitzpatrick and Jim Walsh of the ZX ranch, over in the Sycan country, where he had two horses belonging to Bill Currier the Summer Lake Stockman, in addition to the one that he was riding and which he claims is his own. The boy—but fifteen years of age—claims that he is the nephew of the man Alexander killed by a man named Walsh over in Klamath County, recently, and he also says his mother is in Portland and believes his father is in Medford. The young miscreant also had some guns that he lifted from Fitzpatrick's sheep camp a short time before his capture that started the men on his trail which they followed for about ten miles before they finally surprised him. The boy has the appearance of being bright and well brought up, as he is polite and answers questions put to him in a frank manner. He will be held for examination at an early date.

Wm. Harris, of Clyde, Ill., came in Tuesday and renewed his subscription to the Examiner. Mr. Harris is a prominent business man in his home town and has the foresight to look ahead and make investments in a country that is pushing ahead. He is the owner of several O. V. L. tracts and while in Davis Creek, Monday purchased a fine tract of land from the Davis Creek Orchards Co. and will no doubt have the land prepared and set out to some of the fine fruit for which that section is noted. There will never come a time when land can be secured in this part of the country at lower figures and values than now before the transportation lines that are headed this way get here. Dollars invested in Lake County mean golden eagles in the near future.
