RAILROAD MEN INSPECT VALLEY

Well Pleased with Traffic Possibilities of Goose Lake Section

On a tour of inspection that covered the entire N.-C.-O. system and ended with a trip on the West Side as far as the Point Ranch, A. D. Moran, of New York, one of the owners of the railroad Manager Duniwaw, of the same line and J. H. Hamilton, of the Texas Central Railroad, were the guests of a party of Lakeview business men. It is believed that the visit was to look over the possibilities in the matter of timber resources as a factor in putting through a branch line from here to the timber belt in the future. Judge Daly, W. L. Thompson, Harry Bailey, Fred Hanson, W. H. Shirk, V. L. Snelling and M. B. Rice were among those in the party. The railroad men left for Reno after their visit and expressed themselves as well pleased with the outlook here for a development of the wonderful resources of this section of the country both from an agricultural standpoint and that of the stock and timber interests as well. When the gentlemen learned the amount of land that is available to settlement and the high quality of the soil, together with the openings here in many lines, they were amazed at the possibilities that Lake County and Golden Goose Lake Valley have to offer to investors and settlers.

MANY STOCKMEN WILL DIP CATTLE

State Officials Send Open Letter to All Owners of Cattle

Portland, August 22, 1911. Editor of Lake County Examiner, Lakeview, Oregon.

Dear Sir:—Herewith find copy of Order No. 5, issued from the office of State Veterinarian and ordering that all infected and exposed mangy cattle be dipped and otherwise treated this fall, in accordance with the regulations of the United States Department of Agriculture, before being turned into the winter feed lots, pens or pastures.

The regulations of the United States Department of Agriculture provides that all cattle that are exposed must be dipped once in certain approved dips. Animals that are infected must be dipped twice from eight to fourteen days apart, unless a dip is used consisting of an emulsion of crude oil (California or Beaumont oils) when but one dipping will be required.

Cattle owners should consult with Mr. William Proudfoot, United States Department of Agriculture Bureau of Animal Industry Inspector, located at Lakeview as to the time and place of dipping.

Kindly give this matter mention through the columns of your paper as it is important that cattle owners in your section should know of this dipping order. Thanking you in advance, I am,

Very respectfully,
W. H. LITTLE, State Veterinarian,
Oregon State Board of Health,
Department of State Veterinarian,
Order No. 5.

In accordance with Section 13, Chapter 213, of the Session Laws of Oregon passed by Legislative Assembly of 1909, which reads as follows: "Any owner, owners, agent or employee having in their control any animal or animals enumerated in this act, that are kept herded or fed within this State, that may be affected with or exposed to scab, mange or other communicable skin disease, shall, upon the order of the State Veterinarian or county veterinarian, cause the said animals to be dipped or otherwise treated in such a manner as will affect a cure and insure their freedom from exposure; for the purpose of such dipping, treating, or handling such animal or animals, the rules and regulations of the United States Department of Agriculture shall be accepted as a standard; if after ten days notice be given to any owner, owners, agent, or employee having in their possession in any barn, field, feed-lot, pasture, or open range, or any other place with in this state, any of the above enumerated animals affected with, or exposed to scab, mange, or other communicable skin disease, and they shall refuse to gather and dip or otherwise treat the said animal or animals in accordance with the order of the State Veterinarian or county veterinarian, the said officer shall cause the said animal or animals to be gathered and dipped or otherwise treated as provided for by the rules and regulations of the United States Department of Agriculture. The expense of gathering, holding, dipping, or otherwise treating said animal or animals shall be paid within five days after receiving written

HOSPITAL NEEDED --WILL SAVE LIFE

Now Possible to Build Institution of Use to Sick and Injured

With a view of starting a thoroughly equipped hospital which is badly needed here, Mrs. E. M. Simson, of Oklahoma City, Okla., is looking over the field and has secured prices on several locations that will fill the bill nicely. Lakeview has long needed an institution of this kind and the coming of Mrs. Simson will eliminate the necessity of having hospital patients and those needing the best of care while sick, from going to Alturas or Klamath and taking the long hard trip when not in a condition to stand the strain of such a journey. The institution is intended to be un-denominational and to cater to every resident in the county that needs its services. The work is a worthy one and it is hoped that the lady will be successful in her venture and secure the active co-operation of every resident of the town and county.

Dry Farming Pays

J. W. Dykeman, of Lakeview has just returned from a trip to Paisley and brought back some rye grass and blue joint grass that are fine specimens of what can be done without irrigation. The specimens were grown on the ranch of Wm. Dobkins near the town and are on exhibition in the Examiner office. Dobkins has three hundred tons of blue joint grown without irrigation, while other products grown on the same place are on a par with the hay crop. The fine showing that is made there and in other valleys of the county demonstrates beyond all shadow of a doubt, that the man that comes here and will work can grow whatever he needs without irrigation. Lake County needs cultivation instead of irrigation and the wonderful showing this year amply proves this statement. The same story comes from Christmas Lake, its a certainty in Goose Lake has been shown in Silver Lake and Warner Valleys and others as well.

BLAMES THE IRISH; LANDS NEED THEM

Wealth of Opportunity for Men of Gaelic Race to Become Rich

Known from County Cork to Lake County Oregon, Jim Barry the irrepressible Historian and Statesman says that Lake county needs more Irish to till the soil. He says that there are hundreds of thousands of the race on the Pacific Coast, the great majority of them are complaining about the high cost of living and here we have thousands of acres of the best lands waiting for each Irishman that will come and till them or run stock upon them. He blames the Irish for the losses on account of the lack of hay last winter for they should have come here and grown it so that the men that are running stock could have bought it when they needed it. Mr. Barry's argument is unassailable. Lake county surely needs the farmer and the grower of grain and hay.

INDIAN FIGHTS ARE OVER

HISTORIC BATTLE SHOW CHANGE FIFTY YEARS HAVE MADE

THOUSANDS COMING TO COUNTY IN SAFETY

Pioneer Days Make Possible the Wonderful Development of Fertile Country in Golden Goose Lake Valley

When the Oregon Pioneer crossed the plains in the early days over the "Oregon Trail" his dreaming vision had pictured a land of enchantment, where the magic horn of plenty was pouring forth her riches in a golden stream. This vision was broken by the many hardships that these men of the early days went through, and one of them is recalled when it touches a part of the history of the Goose Lake Valley fifty years ago by a clipping from the old Jacksonville Gazette of that time. "A nephew of the late Joseph Bailey returned from the scene of the recent massacre to the head of the valley on Sunday. He says that the fight occurred on the first of August, 1861, at the head of Pitt river, about forty miles south of Goose Lake, near the close of the day. The party were nine in number and the Indians about 350 strong, but armed with bows and arrows, the barbs being poisoned. Until after the first shock of the conflict they were not aware of the presence in that neighborhood of more than 18 Indians, but instantly following the first fire the overwhelming force rushed upon them from an adjacent hill. Bailey and Evans were killed outright, but not until they had shot off their rifles and pistols with deadly execution at the savages. Sims, formerly of Salem, died of his wounds the day following the attack. Eleven Indians were killed and a number fatally wounded. The survivors managed to recover their horses and 260 out of the original 850 head of cattle."

The above account is only one of the long forgotten episodes that showed the character of the men of that time, who fought with their whole souls against tremendous odds. The men of today can come into this part of the country without danger and with the feeling of greater safety than they would have in any large city in the country, while they can miss the ox team and use the iron rails that reach from all parts of the country and come close to the scene of the above battle so ably fought with self sacrifice and bravery.

METHODIST SOCIAL VERY SUCCESSFUL

Everybody Enjoyed Music and Eatables Disposed of By Ladies' Aid

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church, wish to express their thanks, through the columns of the Examiner, to the members of the Lakeview Band for the fine music they played at the social given Friday evening. The band headed by Leader Rice gave one of the most enjoyable entertainments that the people of town have listened to in a long time and every selection was enjoyed by the music lovers that heard them. The social was well attended and the sum cleared will amount to over fifty dollars, which will go toward paying the salary of Rev. Melville T. Wire, who is about to leave to attend conference. It is hoped that it will be in his power to return to this part of the country another year, as he has many friends both in and out of the church, who will be sorry to hear of his leaving this charge. "Friendship above all ties doth bind the heart." And faith in friendship were the nobler part."

Illinois Man Wonders

For the first time W. C. Olmstead, of Danville, Ill., saw rich land lying idle when he came to Oregon recently to visit his brother-in-law, C. D. Frazer, state purchasing agent. Back in the crowded east and middle west he declares every foot of land which can be cultivated is being cropped. Here he says he has seen land enough to support thousands of people given up to dense underbrush or wild flowers. "Boosting" in Danville, according to Mr. Olmstead, consists wholly of raising funds for offering manufacturing establishments inducements to locate. The papers have a fund of $200,000, out of which they pay bonuses to industrial establishments.—Journal.

The Fuller residence on Slash street is fast nearing completion, and "Joe" is assuming a proportionately large smile.

such a water right certificate is not due to the applicant's non-compliance with the law.

Desert land entrymen have reason to rejoice over this decision, as thousands of them can now secure title when one-eight of the land is irrigated and cultivated instead of waiting until the entire tract can be subjected. Much difficulty has arisen in furnishing evidence of water rights initiated prior to the enactment of the new water code. No record is available for most of these rights, and to record the same at time of final proof on the desert claim would mean a loss in the priority date of the right. This difficulty has been overcome in a number of cases by the entryman filing affidavits of neighbors, showing his actual use of water on the desert claim.—Oregon Journal.

NEW SETTLER MEANS BUSINESS

Knows When Opportunity Strikes Him and Likes The Game Fine

Claude C. Roberts, of Lake is a another new comer into the Christmas Lake Valley that is going ahead and doing things. Mr. Roberts filed upon his land in February—320 acres—and now has built a fine little two story house, cleared some land, dug a well nine feet in depth with a fine supply of water and is now getting his land ready for a crop of alfalfa which will be sowed when the ground is in the proper condition to receive it, as he is an experienced farmer. One feature that Mr. Roberts is making of this place is the diversified crops that he intends to raise and the start is with poultry, hogs and some milch cows that will consume the alfalfa. The question of the roots growing nine feet to moisture is about as easy as a man could wish.

New Minister

Sunday morning and evening services will be held by Rev. W. S. Pryse, D.D., of the Presbyterian Church in the Masonic hall. Mr. Pryse, wife and son, having arrived yesterday from Cambria, Cal. Mr. E. O. Werner who has conducted the services for the past four months will leave Saturday to complete his studies at the Theological Seminary where he has been for some time. A large attendance is looked for and the new minister will no doubt be greeted warmly by all.

Lost Boy

An anxious mother has written a representative of the Examiner with a view of finding her son, William Maher, who was last heard of in Klamath Falls in December, 1909. At that time he was 17 year and 2 months of age. Information concerning him will gladly be received by Mrs. Maher, 627 Octavia St., San Francisco, Cal., or Mrs. Graves, of this city.

A new addition is now being erected to the Jackson house on Main street.

AMERICAN WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Gotch Easily Proves Mastery Over Foreign Adversary

Frank Gotch successfully defended his title to the World's Championship at Wrestling when he again defeated Hackenschmidt at Chicago Labor Day, before the largest crowd that ever assembled at a wrestling match. Gotch was a favorite in the betting though the "Russian Lion" had many admirers who placed large sums upon his chance of winning. The men were trained to the minute and neither would have any excuse to offer on account of lack of condition had he been defeated. It is estimated that the raid admissions reached a total of over $100,000. The first fall was won by Gotch in 14 minutes 6 seconds. The victor was cheered to the echo when the referee's decision was made and once more victory perches upon the American Banner.

SPRAY ORCHARDS; PESTS EVIDENT

Evidence of Wormy Fruit in Lakeview Show Need of Care

It will be necessary for every fruit grower to spray his fruit trees from now on to prevent the spread of many of the fruit pests that make life a burden to the horticulturalist if they get a start on him. The writer has found many infected trees where there are worms in evidence in the apple to a surprising degree, taking into consideration the fact that he had never seen a wormy apple until shown the recent specimens. It is desirous that strenuous measures be at once taken to eliminate the damage that will result should the pests get a start in this country. The fruit inspector will have to give the matter his early attention and it is within his power to destroy any trees infected with some of the diseases that are often found in other places. If a man is careless with his orchard, the Oregon law gives the man next to him redress and he can eliminate the orchard of the careless man entirely. One dollar spent now before the pests get started means many dollars saved in the end. If the first fly was killed a lot of worthless progeny would have been left out of the world, and the first and second spraying will mean much at this time, but the real work must be done in the fall and spring.

VENATOR REFUSES TO BRING "BOOZE"

Dispose of Seized Goods at Place of Capture, Will Save County Money

Assistant District Attorney John Venator, and Sheriff Warner B. Snider are filling all the available space in the Court House with contraband "Booze" seized at Paisley. There are altogether about five thousand bottles of beer and large quantities of liquors held by the officers. District Attorney Venator states clearly that in the future no liquors seized will be brought here but will be disposed of at the place where they were captured, as the bringing of the liquors to Lakeview is a needless expense to the county. The strict enforcement of the laws regarding the illegal sale of liquor will result from the crusade that has started and no law breaker in the county can expect to get away with the goods. A six horse team of liquors destined for Paisley was stopped at the state line by a messenger sent out by the owners, and it had a very narrow escape from being seized by the officers. The people of Paisley are assisting to clean their town of all sellers dealing in the traffic and their co-operation makes possible the conviction of those arrested in the recent raids.

$2,000.00 Reward

The murder of Charles Lyons at Klamath Falls has brought forth an offer of $1000 from Chas. E. Worden for the apprehension of his slayers. This is evidently a cold blooded crime with robbery as its motive, and the offer of Major Worden comes at a time when it seemed as though the officers concerned were doing nothing to ferret the perpetrators of the foul deed. Major Worden evidently believes that human life is as valuable at Klamath Falls as elsewhere. The sum comes from his own pocket and will be paid promptly upon proof being given. The following letter makes the offer plain. "Klamath Falls, Oregon, August 31, 1911.

"Believing that crime should be punished, and that no guilty man should escape; as a tax payer and citizen of Klamath Falls, I will pay one thousand dollars reward for the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers that killed Charles Lyons.

"This offer is good for six months from date.

"CHAS. E. WORDEN."
The Klamath County commissioners held a meeting and added another $1000 to the above.
