TAFT'S POSITION HEARTILY APPROVED

The Harney County News (Frank Davey's paper) desires to see President Taft re-nominated by the republican party because it believes his election will be more easily secured than that of any other candidate suggested or that could be named. The best and safest sense of the nation is opposed to any change that is liable to disturb business conditions and shake confidence, so long as the affairs of the country are conducted along sane and honest lines, which they are under Mr. Taft's administration.

We desire the re-election of Mr. Taft because he has displayed the past year the most admirable courage in insisting that class of legislation that is best calculated to enhance the prosperity of this country and insure stability for its various industries. This, too, in the face of a pressure that would have shaken a less determined and less patriotic president from his moorings. He has refused to surrender to the elements in congress whose sole purpose was to create political capital by tearing the tariff schedule to pieces without the application of scientific principles of equitable calculations and he has insisted that the reductions in the tariff demanded by the people and promised by the republican party shall be based upon actual information, gathered in an impartial manner by a commission authorized to perform that duty, so that the readjustment can be accomplished without injustice to any specific industry, without undue disturbance of business and without the destruction of the American protective policy which is the keystone of the nation's great prosperity. In this stand he has been consistent and fearless and has demonstrated a high order of business statesmanship.

WATER FOUND IN ALL FORMATIONS

Water is found in some amount in all formations below the earth's surface, from the loosest and most porous sands and gravels to the hardest slate and granite. The amount varies from the merest trace chemically combined in the molecules of the rocks to immense reservoirs which supply wells flowing hundreds of thousands of gallons a day. Some waters are so pure that a refined chemical analysis shows only minute traces of organic and mineral matter; others are so heavily charged with mineral or other impurities as to be unsuitable for use.

The slope of the surface at any point is one factor determining the amount of water absorbed by the ground. The direction and amount of slope also determine the form of the water table—that is, to the upper limit of saturation. Except where the surface is flat the water table is generally not parallel with the surface; it is almost invariably farther from the surface on the summits of hills and mountains and nearest to it in valleys and along the coast, reaching the surface in swamps and along rivers, lakes, and beaches. The surface of the water table is always in motion, its higher portions flowing toward the lowest outlets along rivers or the sea. This direction of flow explains why fresh water is usually found when a well is dug in a sandy beach.—From Water-Supply Paper 223, United States Geological Survey.

Additional Briefs

The windows are now being placed in the new High School building and the structure will soon be enclosed. The heating and plumbing fixtures are now being received and they will soon be installed.

It has been announced by Secretary Smythe that the annual convention of the Oregon Woolgrowers' association will be held in Baker November 14 and 15. Discussion of the wool tariff will be the most important topic.

The annual fall round-up of beef cattle is now being held in the Warner country, and all the stockmen along the California line who range their stock on the National Forest during the summer season are in attendance.

Word has been received from Jim Higgins to the effect that he is now doing considerable baseball playing in Camas, a small place just outside of Portland. Jim likes the work, and his many local friends wish him the best of success in it.

So far, the State stallion board has received applications to register 800 stallions and registration has been given to 530. It has not been possible to examine all the others yet. Only three stallions have been turned down because they were diseased.

George Ede, who has had much success in his well drilling experiments in the Wagonire and Valley Falls sections, is now in this city. He has entered into contract with several ranchers to drill wells, and expects to be busy for the next few months.

Anderw Cantorberr, the Government hunter, was in town last week, having come down from the Silver Lake country. He brought with him a large number of seals collected during the summer on which he collected the bounty at the County Clerk's office.

N. T. Corv, who was over at Bly a few days ago, states that it is not likely that a new hotel will be built at that place this fall. Readers of the Examiner will remember that the Bly hotel was destroyed by fire some weeks since. A restaurant is now being conducted there and meals may be had at anytime, but beds for travelers are scarce.

A. C. Kittle, a former resident of Nebraska, several days ago arrived here from that state to take up residence on his ten acre O. V. L. tract in the vicinity of the Hammersley ranch, northwest of town. Mr. Kittle intends to erect a spacious barn on the place, and will start immediately towards preparing the land for next year's crop. We are glad to welcome him to our midst, and feel sure that he will make a success of his venture in Oregon farm lands.

POULTRY PROFITS IN STUBBLE FIELD

Corvairs, Ore., Sept. 25.—Believing that Oregon farmers can add materially to their country profits by keeping the birds pastured a while on the waste grain of the stubble fields, Prof. James Dryden of the Oregon Agricultural College has inaugurated an interesting experiment near Moro.

In a colony of ten white canvas tents he has housed 500 white Plymouth Rocks, and will keep them there six weeks, keeping accurate record of the weights and gains made. Movable fences are used, and the tents are on frames at the bottom, on runners, so that they can be moved readily as fast as the chickens clean up the waste grain on one part of the field and need new foraging ground.

"The point is to determine how much poultry flesh we can make from the waste grain on a given area with a given number of birds in any certain space of time, at the least expense," said Prof. Dryden, discussing the experiment. "In going through the Portland markets I was struck with the poor quality of the chickens sent in there by the farmers of the state. They were so largely bone, with very little meat on them. I believe that they could be kept a little longer to good advantage financially, if the farmers would put them out on the stubble fields, where there are always quantities of waste grain to be picked up. I am sure there could be added a pound or two apiece to the weight of each bird, in good solid flesh, bringing a much better price, and that with a almost no financial outlay. We are feeding nothing but a little animal food—beef scraps from the slaughter houses—and this would not be necessary if there were grasshoppers and other bugs in the fields."
