LUXURIOUS TRAIN OVER S. P. ROUTE

Modern travel, already luxurious, is to be made even more so by the Southern Pacific Sunset route. Plans for a new train to run twice weekly between New Orleans and Los Angeles and San Francisco call for a cut of thirty hours in the running time between the two points.

The train will consist of only six cars and thus the high speed that will be demanded to make the schedule may be maintained with comparative ease. Each train will carry only a dynamo and baggage car, a diner, three drawing room sleepers, and an observation smoking car. The sleeping and drawing room cars will be finished in mahogany and other beautiful hardwoods and furnished in luxurious fashion. A ladies' maid, manicure and hairdresser will aid in carrying for the needs of the women.

Service on the Sunset Limited will begin December 14th from New Orleans and the following day from San Francisco.

The time of the two trains has been gauged so that direct and quick connection will be made at both ends of the route with ocean steamers. Travelers from San Francisco bound for the east and north may take this train and be whirled to the Louisiana metropolis and there transfer to fast trains or steamships of the Southern Pacific. On the Western trip the man who is hurrying to catch one of the vessels of the Pacific mail will have an additional day for business and still make his boat.

Big Game Birds

It will be possible in the near future to hunt wild turkeys in the hills and mountain regions of California, if the plans of the State Fish and Game Commission do not miscarry. Stocking the State with these birds will be carried on from Folsom, where the State Game Farm is to be located.

Three years ago a shipment of sixty two birds was received from Mexico at Haywards, where the farm is now located. To-day the farm contains over 600 birds, 450 of which are shortly to be shipped to different preserves.

Deputies report that the turkeys, as soon as they are released, adapt themselves to their environment and immediately begin increasing in number.

Like his southern cousin, the bronze turkey, this bird is very shy and it takes more than average ability to bag one. That he is as well, a domestic fowl, is attested to be the fact that the Commission is in receipt of many requests from farmers who want to purchase them for breeding purposes.

Change Departments

Secretary Fisher's suggestion that the Forest Service be transferred from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of the Interior will be carried out if Western men in Congress are permitted to have their way next session.

The idea expressed by the Secretary at the Yellowstone Park conference is identical with the idea long held by Senators and representatives from the public land states, and with the Administration favorable to the change. Congressional action is probable.

Several attempts have been made in times past to have the Forest Service transferred to the Interior Department but all such attempts failed, because of the objection of the Roosevelt Administration. The question has never been raised in Congress during President Taft's term. Now that Secretary Fisher has declared himself, and Forester Graves has admitted the close relationship between his bureau and the Interior Department, it is probable that President Taft, in his annual message, will urge the change.

Big Road Bonds

The $1,500,000 Jackson County bond issue for good roads won by a majority of 1,547. The vote cast for the proposition was 2,685 and the vote against it 1,138. These were the results when all but 11 of the smaller precincts had been heard from.

Ashland cast a majority of 235 votes against the proposition. The total vote cast was 617. There were 191 for and 426 against the proposition.

Medford cast a total vote of 1,638 and of this number 1,503 voted for the bond and only 135 against them.

Ashland cast the biggest vote against the proposition, but other precincts which were opposed to it included Applegate, Foot's Creek, Sam's Valley, Ruch, Wimer and Woodford.

In Medford the vote was larger than at the last general election. Many employees gave their ment time to go to the pools and register their votes, while the boosters for the bonds worked like mad all day to get every eligible voter at the pools. The polling places were crowded and automobile furnished by the good roads advocates were kept busy all day bringing men to the pools, especially from the country districts.

Farmer Dillard of Roseburg was attacked by a deer last week.

LA FOLLETTE BOOM IS ON THE WANE

Washington, Sept. 24.—When five insurgent Senators out of 12 refuse to endorse the La Follette Presidential movement, and two others refuse to commit themselves, it is time to inquire, "What is the matter with the La Follette boom?"

More than half of the insurgents in the Senate—the insurgents who know La Follette best and are, by reason of their position, better able than others to determine his qualifications for the Presidency—decline to give him their support, it would seem evident that insurgency, as a body, is not favorable to La Follette's nomination, at least in 1912.

Up to the present time five insurgent Senators have declared in favor of La Follette's nomination. They are Senators Cummins, Iowa; Bristow, Kansas; Clapp, Minnesota; Bourne, Oregon, and Poindexter, Washington. Senator Brown, Nebraska, and Senator Kenyon, Iowa, have each announced their purpose to support President Taft, if he shall be renominated, and so has Senator Works, of California. Senator Borah, of Idaho, while not particularly enamored of the President, is not in favor of splitting the Republican party wide open, nor is he favorable to the formation of a new party, and therefore he has declined to join the La Follette movement, while Senator Dixon, of Montana, has refused to come out for La Follette primarily, because he believes La Follette cannot be nominated, or if nominated cannot be elected.

Senator Gronna, of North Dakota, and Senator Crawford, of South Dakota, the two remaining insurgents, have thus far given no indication of their Presidential purpose, but the expectation is that Gronna will come out for La Follette and Crawford for Taft.

The presumption was quite general, when La Follette first let it be known that he was an aspirant for the Presidential nomination, that he would receive almost universal support from the insurgents in Congress. It will be recalled that before he made any announcement, he had petitions circulated among the insurgents of the Senate and House asking that he might make the race, and while these petitions were never made public, it was supposed that insurgents generally attached their signatures when the papers were submitted.

But the reluctance with which insurgents have been joining the La Follette movement would indicate that there is no unanimity of purpose or desire among them, and so far as the Senate at least is concerned, a majority do not favor La Follette's nomination at the next Republican convention. Why is it?

It may be that others, like Senator Works and Senator Dixon, foresee defeat for La Follette and are not willing to tie up to the losing candidate; or it may be that some, like Senator Borah, fear disruption of the Republican party when the party is most in need of united strength in order to prevent the election of a Democratic President. Or, again, it is possible, and indeed probable, that many insurgents, while entertaining progressive ideas, are not as radically "progressive" as La Follette, and are not willing to follow him to the extremes he would go if nominated or elected.

Take Senator Borah as an example. He is "progressive" rather than an "insurgent" Senator. He believes in reasonably progressive ideas of government. But with all that, he has a profound respect for the Constitution and the law, and for that reason often refuses to follow La Follette.

To Repair Dome

Some day there will be a marble dome placed on the Capitol instead of the iron dome which now covers the rotunda. The architects are practically a unit in saying that marble is the only proper material of which to construct the dome. Iron shrinks and expands in a manner that is distressing. Leaks result, and these are patched by strips of canvas painted over. Undoubtedly the dome will be replaced some day, and it was intended to bring this matter before Congress at this session, but the pressure of debate on the tariff caused it to be postponed. Possibly it may come up at the next session, and during the long recess two years from now, if everything goes well, work may actually be commenced on the gigantic task of putting the new roof over the great rotunda where tourists now stand and gaze in wondrous awe at the vaultings on the concave surface so far above their heads.

Seventy-seven operations on children, at the Medical Lake Insane Asylum, have corrected defect, transforming the little ones from dunces into normal persons. It has been found that many people in the asylum are unable to apply themselves, because of physical defects. Throat and nose afflictions are responsible for many mental abnormalities. A surgical operation is usually successful.
