

The Strongest & Longest Wearing Shoe On Earth!

That may seem like a broad assertion but it is backed up by the fact that every pair of these shoes are 100 per cent. leather—positively no substitute.

This shoe is made especially for the farmer, gardener, railroad man, dray man—in fact any man who requires a shoe for service.

This shoe is made from select chrome tannage leather, the soles and uppers are thoroughly infused with oil, which not only makes the leather practically waterproof, but prolongs the life of the shoe.

GAME LAWS TO BE MORE STRICT

Hunting Not to Be Permitted Upon Receipts of Justices

Ashland Record: Chief deputy game warden L. Alva Lewis of Klamath Falls was in the city last Saturday looking over game conditions in company with Deputy George Hargadine. Mr. Lewis is the chief deputy in the newly created district comprising the counties of Jackson, Josephine, Douglas, Klamath, Lake and Harney. The office was created by an order of Game Warden Finley in order to relieve Deputy Warden Sam Sandry of some of his responsibilities. Hereafter Sandry will have to do only with the interests of fishing in this district.

Mr. Lewis informs the Record that at the meeting of the game warden and his deputies held at Medford recently an order was made that hereafter no fishing or hunting would be permitted upon receipts issued by justices of the peace or other parties authorized to accept moneys for game and fishing permits. The order of the game warden is to arrest all persons so offending.

Mr. Lewis wishes it understood that it is not the intention of the game and fish department of the state to work a hardship upon hunters and fishermen but that the order is merely given for the protection of the state's moneys. Mr. Lewis returned to Klamath Falls Saturday noon.

Alfred Smith has rented the Wizard hall and will give picture shows every night except Saturday nights, when the club holds its regular dances. He expects to be ready for operation the latter part of this week.

JURY REVEALS CASE

she had been hit. However, she soon regained possession of the gun and commenced firing at the door. In the darkness she was unable to see anything and the posse hid behind some sagebrush, from where they were able to distinguish her by the flash of the gun. She fired a number of shots around the house, but did no injury, finally going in to Schaffer, when the posse came out of hiding and were then permitted to assist in caring for the injured man. Schaffer lingered until the next morning when he died, all the time refusing to hold any conversation with any one except the woman.

Such in substance was the testimony before the coroner's jury, although the Wilson woman claims that she had no gun until after the shooting, and that her screams and the shooting following was to arouse the neighbors and have them come to her assistance. However, after a warrant had been issued for her arrest she disappeared before it could be served and it is presumed hurriedly left the country.

Schaffer was a man of pleasing address, and one not acquainted with him would at once jump to the conclusion that he was a man of means and straightforward and honest. He and the woman filed on claims in 26-15 last July when the land was first subject to entry. They filed in person and are well remembered by the land office officials. The gentlemanly bearing of Schaffer being particularly noticeable. However he seems to have been a fiend incarnate and had no fear of his fellow man. His remains were taken to the Fort Rock cemetery for interment.

The coroner's jury found that he came to his death while resisting arrest, and that the officers were wholly within their rights when they fired the fatal shots.

Mrs. Anna Blair and son, of Paisley, are paying Lakeview friends a visit.

WOOL IS ALREADY IN ACTIVE DEMAND

Buyers Already in Local Field But Make No Contracts

Woolbuyers appear to be more or less uneasy concerning the spring clip, and already several contracts have been closed in Nevada and California. The top price seems to be around 14c, but thus far no local deals are reported. It is said that buyers went into Surprise Valley and contracted about 750,000 pounds while other contracts are said to have been made over in Nevada.

These early contracts are in a manner accounted for by the low prices of wool and mutton last season which put some of the sheepmen in a hole. In order to raise necessary funds at this time they have contracted their wool at the prices offered. All of the sheepmen of Lake County are in good shape financially, so far as this season is concerned, and they will be able to handle their flocks until shearing time without contracting their wool. The local banks are able to advance all necessary funds, and hence buyers are unable to do business in Lake County at the present time.

The Boston market last week made a decided advance and trading continued active. As a consequence sheepmen are greatly encouraged over the outlook, for it was feared that the agitation of the tariff question in Congress would have a tendency to unsettle prices.

J. Frankl last week unexpectedly arrived from San Francisco, he having been sent up here by Koshland Bros. to ascertain the condition of the local wool market. Before reaching Lakeview Mr. Frankl visited Alturas and Surprise Valley and found that a few thousand pounds of wool had been contracted, but that no really important deals had been made. In this vicinity he found the woolgrowers in good financial shape, and hence unwilling to contract at prices offered, the highest being 14 cents.

While Mr. Frankl's appearance was unexpected yet it was none the less appreciated by his many friends, for his jovial nature makes him a welcome guest wherever he may be.

Back to Newspaper Life

"Chap" Graves announces today his purchase of the Klamath County Democrat, which has been run by Miss Catherine Prehm. He states that the deal by which K. A. Kopkes of Cleveland was to take the paper is nullified. By his own arrangement he takes from J. P. Harter the option which Harter held on the publication, and which was to go to Kopkes. Mr. Graves will go to Merrill tomorrow to take charge of the paper, and will change its name back to the Merrill Record—Klamath Herald.

"Chap" is well known in Lakeview, he having been formerly employed in this office. He is a thorough newspaper man and the Examiner wishes him unbounded success in his new field.

MANY PROJECTS IN CONTEMPLATION

Much Development Work Planned for Eastern Oregon

Harney County News: There is now under construction a large irrigation project on Silver creek by which the lands of that valley will be furnished with permanent water by the year 1912. A similar project is in contemplation on Silver river, which will carry water to the lands of Harney valley. Another project is in process of development in Blitzen valley, which will serve an immense amount of the richest kind of land. Other projects are developing in the Trout creek and Pueblo valleys in the south end and in Catlow valley in the southwest. Still another very important enterprise in this line is an electrical irrigation system which is backed by a strong corporation owning water powers, by which electric power will be generated and transmitted to any part of the country for pumping purposes, and through which it is expected to furnish water to every farmer desiring it.

The natural water in all the valleys is found in abundance at a depth which makes it easy to raise and spread upon the land, and the level character of the valleys permits the spread of the waters with very little labor.

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

IT IS THE FIRST THOUSAND DOLLARS THAT IS HARD TO ACCUMULATE

The very best way to accumulate one thousand dollars is to buy a city lot in Portland. Portland real estate has been increasing in value at the rate of over 20 per cent per year for the past five years. This is shown by the records of the assessor's office and includes the total real estate of the city. Some sections have increased several hundred per cent in five years. The prospects for the future of Portland are better now than at any previous time. There will soon be a million people here, and so long as the city continues to grow real estate will increase in value. Portland real estate is the safest and best investment in the Northwest and there is no better investment any place. Selected real estate is increasing 25 per cent and more per year.

A small payment down and a smaller one per month will soon effect a saving of that first thousand dollars.

Investigate our opportunities at once.
