IRRIGATION CONGRESS ADJOURNED

V. A. Forbes, of Bend, in dwelling on land needed by Central Oregon, mentioned circumstance after circumstance where land companies had filed on vast tracts under the Carey act and then, failing to put water on the land, held the land vacant for years, even warning stockmen, in some cases, against foraging cattle upon it. In conclusion Mr. Forbes said: "When the history of irrigation in Oregon has all been written down in black and white, it will put to shame any land fraud that Oregon ever has had, or ever will have."

Announcement was made of August 20-22 as the dates for the meeting of the Central Oregon Development League at Lakeview. In the election of officers Mr. Hanley and Mr. Hinkle were returned as president and secretary, and C. C. Chapman, W. J. Marlner and M. J. Lee were elected first, second and third vice-president, respectively.

President Hanley made the following appointment of standing committees: Executive committee, A. B. Thompson, of Echo; W. S. Worden, of Klamath Falls; J. H. Brewer, of Redmond; Walter Burrell, of Portland; George Chandler, of Baker; H. C. Ellis, of Bend, and George Dukek, of Condon. Federal and state legislative committee, W. Lair Thompson, of Lakeview; Leon J. Chapman, of Ontario; J. C. Hoskins, of Echo; William King, of Prineville, and William Colvig, of Medford. Determination of the next meeting place will be left to the discretion of the executive committee.

Among the resolutions adopted were the following:

That it is the sense of the Oregon State Irrigation Congress assembled at Portland, Oregon, that the National Congress should appropriate out of the general fund of the National Treasury at least $15,000,000 per year through a series of years for the construction and development of the feasible irrigation projects and that out of such fund the State of Oregon be given her full share of reclamation funds as contemplated by the original reclamation act.

That hereafter all irrigation reclamation be left so far as practicable to the control of the settler land owner who is to pay the price, and that the organization of irrigation districts by the land owners interest be promoted by such changes in the present irrigation law, if any, as may be needed, to effect: First, the right to appropriate water and to condemn reservoir sites, right of way, etc., second, the right to issue bonds and to levy taxes for the purposes of the district and to sell delinquent lands in the case of city property; third, the right to organize for preliminary surveys under supervision of the State Engineer.

That we recommend to the Legislature of the State of Oregon the importance of their enacting such legislation as shall protect the investor from fraud, and urge the investigation by our legislative committee of the Kansas statute, known as "the Kansas blue-sky act."

That we commend the work of the Oregon Development League and commercial bodies of Oregon to secure more people on the farms in Oregon, and to help them to succeed. The great need of Oregon is not the rebuilding of the cities, but agricultural development.

LAKEVIEW GETS A NEW OPERA HOUSE

popular theatre resort in the near future. One of the safe features of the motion picture department will be an absolute fire proof operating booth.

A large force of men are rushing the construction work and every indication bids fair that the building will be completed within the next six weeks. When approached in regard to a brick opera house on his old site, Mr. Snider stated that it was his intention to give Lakeview an opera house of this nature in the future but had at present made no plans to that effect. Mr. Snider predicts a lively year in the theatrical business this season and already has five companies booked for future dates, among which is the Margaret Hies Company, which is scheduled for Lakeview during court week in May. Miss Hies is now in New York rehearsing in a play that was expressly written for her. She will soon come back to this coast and their engagement here will no doubt be a treat to the Lakeview theatre goers.

Miss Mariorie Mahr, the little actress who had her lower limbs cut off by a train in Portland some years ago has organized a musical troupe of six people and has written for an engagement in Lakeview in March. Mr. Snider discouraged this idea, but is now negotiating with her for the opening performance of the opera house which will take place sometime during the first of May.

Young People Married

A young couple from Eagleville were married at the Baptist Parsonage by the Rev. G. N. Gardner last Monday evening. The bride was Miss Georgia A. Grove, daughter of D. H. Grove, the sheerman, and the groom was Mr. Ira D. McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McCormick, proprietors of the Eagleville Hotel. Both of the young people are very popular and have many friends.—Modoc Republican.

The bride was born in this valley, her people having resided here for many years before moving to Surprise. The Examiner joins with the bride's many friends in extending her their best wishes.

LAND OPENINGS FOR IMMIGRANTS

agricultural property. Mr. Hanley, who has been in Portland since the first of the week, said yesterday, when he learned that Mr. Hill has acquired control of the Oregon & Western Colonization Company, that it is his intention to cut his vast holdings into tracts small enough to be farmed by one man.

"It is something, really, that I promised to the elder Mr. Hill when he built the Oregon Trunk into the central part of the state. He knew and I knew that the country could not develop and that the railroad could not operate at a profit unless the big farms were broken up so that settlers could get onto them and produce revenue for the roads.

"I am sure that L. W. Hill means business by taking over the military road grant property. I was not surprised to read this morning that he had bought the controlling interest in the company, as I knew that he has been ambitious to engage in active development work in Oregon for a long time. He loves Oregon colonization work. It was only a matter of time until he would enter it actively, as he has always been interested in it indirectly.

HERYFGRD PLANS A FINE BUILDING

for storage purposes.

The Lakeview Mercantile Company has also leased the Main street front of the second floor, while the Elk's club will also have quarters on the floor facing Center street. The ballroom will be 48 feet square, with a lounge room 24 feet square, together with buffet, ante rooms, entrance hall, toilets, lavatories, and the like. The ballroom will have a manic floor, and the quarters will be thoroughly up-to-date in every particular.

The third floor will be devoted to offices exclusively, there being 32 rooms. They are so arranged that they can be used singly or en suite, all being well lighted and conveniently reached through broad corridors.

The building will be of steel frame construction, cut stone piers and masonry glass forming the frontage of the first story. The second and third stories will be paneled with brick and iron base and tops, the whole surmounted by a galvanized iron cornice of handsome design. Twelve-foot cement sidewalks will be put in on both the Main and Center street sides.

The men "behind the gun," as it were are W. P. Hervford and James Hervford, and it is to be known as the "Hervford Bros. Building." The gentlemen are well known pioneers of Lake County, having accumulated considerable of this world's wealth during their 40 years' residence here. They have always been known as enterprising citizens, and this is their crowning effort. Instead of loaning the amount necessary to erect the structure they decided to invest it in a manner that would not only secure fair returns but would greatly aid in the rebuilding of their home town and in a way add much to the value of adjoining property.

The architect of the building is F. J. De Longhemos, of San Francisco, who has an enviable reputation in his chosen profession.

IMPORTANT LAND DECISION MADE

horses, hogs, chickens and turkeys. "On January 17, 1912, the Department held in the matter of the enlarged homestead entry of John B. Dav, that under Sections 3 and 4 of the said Act of February 18, 1909, the area of cultivation required, consisting of 1-8 the second year and 14 thereafter for three years, refers to the area of the entry made under this act, and not to the combined area of both entries, where the first entry was made under the general homestead law.

In other words, the additional entry in this case consisting of 160 acres the law requires cultivation of 20 acres the second year and 40 acres thereafter for three years, from the date of the said additional entry. There was clearly no intention on the part of Congress to present this additional land in return for something already done on another entry. It must be earned by residence upon one entry or the other, and the cultivation of a certain acreage. A concession is made to homestead entrymen of lands of the character herein prescribed upon which final proof has not been made, in that they need not move their habitation from the old homestead, but may continue to reside thereon and cultivate it, and such residence and cultivation "shall be deemed as residence upon and cultivation of the additional entry," which must be continuous thereto. These acts, however, must be performed subsequent to the date of the additional entry under this act not in order to be credited thereto.

"While the cultivation, residence and improvements are satisfactory as to the original entry, under the law above referred to the proof as to the additional entry is not satisfactory, in that the cultivation of the additional entry has not been made in accordance with its requirements of said act, as above outlined. Therefore, the proof as to the additional entry is hereby rejected, subject to the usual right of appeal. Should no appeal be filed within thirty days from receipt of this decision, you will issue final certificate as to the original entry, and the additional entry will be allowed to remain intact until the claimant can submit proof in accordance with the above requirements."

FRIDAY EVENING BALL SUCCESSFUL

Graves, which was appointed to conduct the dance, spent several days of hard work in selling tickets, soliciting members and subscription and should have been rewarded more liberally for their efforts. There yet remains quite a deficiency in the necessary funds and the citizens should be more free in contributing toward this expense. It does not require any large donation on the part of any one individual but if everyone who is interested in this section would subscribe a small amount, no one would feel the effects and the necessary amount would soon be raised.

The Club at the dance took in the total amount of $151 for ticket sales and spectator fees. Out of this amount the Ladies Civic Improvement Club was paid $75 for supper and after paying incidental expense, the Commercial Club had a net profit of $31.10. Including donations to the amount of $36 solicited by the committee and fees of new members the Club will realize approximately $75 for their work.

Following is the report of the secretary of the Ladies Civic Improvement Club, who served the midnight lunch for the dance:

Seventy-five dollars was allowed the ladies as their share of the proceeds of the dance. After all expenses were paid the club treasury was increased to the amount of thirty-one dollars and twenty-five cents. The members of the club very generously donated the cakes and salads which cut down the expense considerable. As a number holding tickets failed to attend, it was necessary to give a supper Saturday evening to avoid a waste of food. A menu of creamed chicken on toast, potato chips, cold ham, potato salad, dill pickles, celery, peach sauce, cake, bread, butter and coffee was served, for which $3c a plate was charged. Nineteen dollars and ninety cents was cleared as the result of these efforts, making a sum total on both suppers fifty-one dollars and fifteen cents. All of the amount will be used to beautify the city park.

Mrs. Thos. S. Farrell, Secy.

know, will be superintendent of construction, and it is absolutely certain that the building will be constructed in the best possible manner.

Bids for the excavating will be opened March 9, and from that time on the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy by the end of the year.

May "Dad" and "Jim" live long to enjoy the fruits of their enterprise.

Death of O. W. Higby

Oliver Wavman Higby died Saturday, February 24, at Paisley, Oregon, of heart failure. Deceased was born in Phoenix, New York in the year 1849 and moved west to Troy, Kansas at the age of 9 years, and resided there until coming to Lakeview about 10 years ago. In 1890 he was wedded to Miss Clara Peugh, who survives him. One child was born to the union, Mary Higby, who predeceased her father to the grave about two years. He was a member of the Masonic lodge for many years and during his stay in Lake county had acquired a large circle of friends who will greatly regret the news of his death.

For the past year Mr. and Mrs. Higby have been employed on the ZX ranch and were living on one of the company's places near Paisley at the time of his death. The remains were brought to Lakeview for interment and Monday the funeral took place from the M. E. Church, Rev. Meville T. Wire conducting the services.

The bereaved wife has the sympathy of the entire community in her loss and a sympathy in which the Examiner sincerely joins.
