PAYNE ACT TOO LITTLE UNDERSTOOD

Critics of Administration Are Not Informed as to Its Provisions.

Someone said that when Roosevelt left the White House and went to Africa to shoot lions, he left a white elephant on the hands of President Taft's administration in the tariff. Someone said Roosevelt then predicted that the tariff would break the political back of his successor. This is presumably nothing more than a fable and folk lore.

Certain it is however, that the Taft administration has had a whole lot to contend with in carrying out the platform pledge to revise the existing tariff schedules. The administration has been abused for the Payne Tariff bill and it is safe to say that very few among the many who decried the passage of this bill in its final form, had any knowledge of the bill or its provisions.

Other administrations than that of President Taft have had trouble with the tariff; what one has not?

President Taft was sharply criticized for the Winona speech when he declared the Payne Tariff bill was the best ever passed. Critics of the president were quick to use this against the administration, despite the fact that this speech was very hastily prepared and not given the consideration it should have had before delivery.

The president dictated this speech on a train between two stations and it was sent out by the press with correspondingly little care, and indeed, the papers received it in all kinds of shapes. President Taft admitted that had he had time to consider this speech before its delivery, as he said he should have done, he would have clarified several passages. He still believes, however, the Payne Act, although it has its shortcomings, contains less to be criticized than its predecessors, and it did, as a whole, revise the existing schedules downward, official tables showing an average lowering of rates of 8 per cent.

The Payne Tariff bill was responsible for most of the hostile criticism directed toward President Taft, since he has been in his office and yet, this measure was a substantial gain to the country. It created a Tariff Board and a Court of Customs Appeals. It levied a corporation tax, which produces an actual revenue of $27,000,000, and at the same time affords the government access to the books of all corporations. It gave fair treatment to the Philippines, and encourages the importation of art objects for educational purposes, by removing the duty on such objects.

President Taft was compelled to work with a hostile house and he faced always an aggressive faction in his own party in forming tariff legislation. No one could deny his courage in calling a special session expressly for tariff legislation to redeem the platform pledge. No president since Cleveland has undertaken to do such a thing.

Do you know that of all the minor ailments colds are by far the most dangerous? It is not the cold itself that you need to fear, but the serious disease it often leads to. Most of these are known as germ diseases. Pneumonia, influenza, consumption are among them. Why not take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and cure your cold while you can? For sale by all dealers.

FAVORS COUNTRY LIFE EDUCATION

In discussing Country Life education, State Superintendent L. R. Alderman, recently said: "Any system of education that does not develop industry is an inadequate system. Industry is a habit and habit is the thing that controls us. We do today what we did yesterday, and we will do next year. A boy or girl who arrives at the age of sixteen years without the habit of industry is heavily handicapped."

"Not long ago a man came into my office and complained of the schools of his boys were not doing well in school. I happened to know the teachers and knew that they were competent and conscientious. When I asked what his boys did out of school he said that that was the trouble. He had nothing for them to do. A study of the case revealed the fact that his boys spent their spare time upon the street and were not in sympathy with school or teachers. This man had moved into the city to give his boys an education and without a habit of industry being established they were getting the wrong kind of education. They were already giving their father trouble and from present indication the end is not yet."

"Is there not something for those boys to do? A little investigation in the city referred to by the ex-farmer that there were very fine gardens at this time of year. One garden had a fine supply of carrots, beets, black Spanish radish, multiplying onions, turnips, parsnips, cabbage and greens. This man had plenty of room, yet they went without or depended on vegetable stores. The father was bemoaning the fact that his children had nothing to do when in reality there was something for them to do of interest to them and of profit to the home."

"The greatest menace I see in Oregon to good citizenship is the fact that so many boys and girls do not have systematic out-of-doors work to do. They are growing up without habits of industry and without the knowledge that their time may be turned into money and other things of value."

"The industrial work in Oregon that is being so well received by the people of both city and country and is being put forward by the State Bankers' association, the business organizations, the commercial clubs, the school authorities, is going to give something worth while to do from 50,000 to 75,000 boys and girls of this state. It is going to open their eyes to some of the possibilities of agriculture. They are going to see what fun there is in being a producer. In this way they are working in nature's laboratory and learning the science of health and wealth and useful productiveness."

"There is great interest in the state at large in the poultry and pig contests. In my opinion for a child to have charge of an animal develops a side character that can be developed in no other way. A study of penal institutions will show that very few inmates have ever had the care of animals. The care of a pet develops the sympathies and awakens in the child a feeling of responsibility."

"The boy who has charge of a pig soon learns that he cannot neglect that pig. If he does the pig will "sneak on him." He may learn to deceive his teacher or his parents and leave things undone that ought to be done but the animal must be cared for. The responsibility grows upon him, and becomes a part of his character."

Pacific Northwest farmers are interesting themselves in the use of artificial fertilizers to increase their yields. The growers of wheat and forage crops find that soil enrichment pays them just as well as it does the fruitman. The State College is making investigations along these lines. A recent bulletin declares that the reasonable use of nitrate of soda will enhance the yield immeasurably. The treatment is simple and not expensive when the obtainable results are taken into consideration.

National politics is beginning to attract more and more attention. Railroad men are of the opinion that the gatherings in Chicago and Baltimore, where the Republican and Democratic candidates will be chosen, will draw exceptional attendance from all parts of the country. As indicative of this fact is the experience of the Oregon Washington Railroad & Navigation Company which is already receiving many inquiries concerning East-bound excursions this year. Some people are even beginning to book reservations at this early date.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about five hundred grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

A. B. Scofield, Ashland, Ore., says: "It gives me pleasure to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought me great relief from a severe attack of kidney complaint and I am now entirely free from the trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills can be relied upon to dispose of backache and difficulty with the kidney secretions."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MORE WORK, BETTER WORK, AND EASIER

In a commercial sense, the employer is interested in the quantity and quality of the output of his typists. It is evident, too, that it is to the best interest of the operator that each day shall show a satisfactory amount of work well done.

Therefore, both employer and operator find in a sure means to a desired end. This exclusive feature of the Monarch Typewriter results in more work because the Monarch is so much easier to operate than other typewriters—less physical energy is required. The work is uniformly better because the operator is not hampered by "Three O'Clock Fatigue," and finishes fresh right up to closing time.

Write for descriptive literature.
