MANY STAMPS USED BY CORPORATIONS

"If you were an office boy and had to lick an average of 243,000 postage stamps every month how long do you suppose that your tongue would last? Do you think that one office boy could do it? The Southern Pacific Company uses this many stamps every thirty days and while one boy in the general office of the company at San Francisco does not place all of them on envelopes, he has to perforate the initials on each stamp before they are distributed to the treasurer's office.
"In January of this year 24,000 one-cent stamps were used by the Southern Pacific. During the same period 178,000 two-cent stamps, 10,000 three-cent, 13,000 four-cent, 130,000 five-cent, 4,000 eight-cent and 6,000 ten-cent were used. January is an average month in the use of stamps, say the clerks in the treasurer's office. The Southern Pacific uses approximately $48,000 worth of postage stamps annually."
The above issued by the Bureau of Economics of the Southern Pacific Company's San Francisco office tends to show where the benefit would fall if the one-cent postage rate on first class matter would pass. The Southern Pacific Railroad is only one of the many corporations that would be benefited by the adoption of this bill as corporations use large amounts of stamps. And aside from this, these stamps are still purchased through first-class post-offices and the one-cent law would materially affect offices of lower class.

President Chas. C. Moore, of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition has been selected to preside as Chairman, and to deliver the address of welcome to the delegates to the Congress of Festivals to be held in the rooms of the Board of Directors of the 1915 Exposition on April 2nd next. Invitations have been sent to the Chambers of Commerce, County Fair and festival organizations to send delegates to this convention which means so much to the entire Coast.
Mooch Republican: Mr. Bruner came down from the mines a few days ago. He was up looking over the situation for a few days but could not do much on account of snow. He panned out some rock while there and secured a gold button containing about $30 in gold as a souvenir of the occasion. Mr. Bruner speaks very highly of the district.
A large real estate company was organized in Cedarville last week. The company is known as the Surprise Valley Development Co., and its officers are T. H. Johnson, president; Geo. C. Turner, vice president; Fred Bush, treasurer and W. L. Turner, Sec. and manager. The company will devote their efforts principally to colonization.
The greatest development in the next few years will take place on the Pacific Coast, and in order that this Coast shall come into its own, every live wire community should join the get-together movement that is sweeping over the west shore and cementing the greater cities in one grand community of common interest.
Claude C. Covey, Superintendent of the Warm Spring Indian Reservation has announced his candidacy for the nomination for Congressman from the Second Congressional district on the Democratic ticket.
The population of the metropolitan district of Portland, which includes the area within ten miles of the city, is given by the officials of the United States census as 259,745. This shows a gain of 114.3 in ten years.
From a million to a million and a half of women will have something to say in choosing the next President. In at least six states the hand that rocks the cradle will also cast the ballot.

Notice
Notice is hereby given that our connection with the Goose Lake Valley Land & Orchard Company was severed on or about March 11, 1912, and we will hereafter until further notice transact a general Real Estate business under the firm name of Alger Land Company with offices at Lakeview and New Pine Creek.

Elocution Recital
The elocution pupils of Miss Josephine Beach gave a very entertaining recital to the public on last Saturday evening, at the Methodist church. Considering the length of time that the class has been under the supervision of Miss Beach, they all did remarkably well. It would be hard to say which did the best, as each number was so well rendered.
Following is the program as it was carried out:
"Bobby Shaftoe," Miss Lucile Bailey.
"Who is She?" Leah Beall.
"Our Chickie Hen," Fern Ahlstrom.
"Keeping a Seat at a Benefit," monolog, Olive Bailey.
Vocal Solo, Mrs. Copeland.
"When Mother Cleans House," Barbara Corey.
"Scraping the Frosting," Enid Light.
Poses, illustrating the class work of taking attitudes of emotion quickly, Lucile Bailey.
"Tears of Tullia," Frances Mayfield.
Little folks pantomime, by five little girls.
"In the Morning," Fred Cronemiller.
Quartette, Chester Dykeman, Walter Dykeman, Willard Isenhart and James Burgess.
Tom's Little Star," Dollie Blackburn.
Original Pantomime, illustrating "the way she does it" when dressing for the party, Fred Cronemiller.
Group of Inspiration poems, Gladys Chandler.
Life Studies, Characteristic poses and peculiarities of different people in Lakeview.

Wild Boar Killed in Warner Valley
A wild boar's lower jaw with the tusches curved back and grown into the jaw again is the remarkable curiosity that is now on exhibition at the Inn Saloon. The boar was killed over in Warner recently by J. E. York, and is said to have weighed about 600 pounds. For years he has been hunted by the stockmen and ranchers of that section, but none were successful in killing him. It is said that he would remain in the tules during the day, coming out at night to feed. He was as shy as a deer, and hence it was almost impossible to get sight of him. Mr. York's dog bayed him, and in that way he was finally killed.
The jaw presents a wonderful appearance with its 8-inch tusks of ivory forming perfect curves. Where they again entered the jawbone abscesses were formed years ago, and the wounds caused thereby are plainly evidenced. The pain caused by the abnormal growth must necessarily have been very great, and it almost causes one to shudder to examine the points of contact.

URGE FARMERS TO PLANT POTATOES

N.-C.-O. Traffic Manager Encourages Potato Growing

H. V. McNamara, Traffic Manager of the N.-C.-O. railway has mailed letters to the company's agents at Davis Creek, Alturas and Lakeview, requesting them to urge the farmers of this section to raise more potatoes. Mr. McNamara states, that owing to the eel worm having become so destructive to potatoes in the Mason Valley, Nev., the crop this year will cover only about thirty per cent of the normal yield. This in addition to the dry season in the Sacramento Valley, the lower country is flourishing only on sixty per cent of the usual crop this season.

The present price of potatoes in San Francisco is $1.55 per hundred, or about $31 per ton. These figures based on a yield of about four hundred bushels to the acre will mean about $300 per acre or a net profit of $200 an acre for potato growers, at the present market price.
An expert farmer has been sent over this valley as well as the Surprise Valley and the way he puts it is, "I believe those sections are the best potato countries I have ever seen." The N.-C.-O. is very anxious for the farmers to take up this matter and raise potatoes on a commercial scale, and the company has stated that they can handle from 200 to 500 cars this fall.

Wm. LaSater, deputy game warden, came down from Silver Lake last week on local business. Mr. LaSater was in the Forest service last year, but at present is devoting his whole time to the protection of game. He has made several arrests and unless the law is more strictly observed more are likely to follow.

Paisley Pick-ups
(Chewaucaun Press)
Word was received in Paisley last week of the death of J. F. Landon, which occurred on the 14th of March, in the M. E. Hospital of Omaha, Nebraska.
Forest Ranger Jay Billings returned from a trip to the East Saturday. While in Pennsylvania he had an attack of chicken pox but came out of it all right. He proceeded to Lakeview Monday.
Deputy State Game Warden William LaSater came to town yesterday and swore out a warrant for the arrest of A. F. Christen on the charge of burning tules at a time when such burning is prohibited by law. Mr. Christen, whom everyone knows as Al, is employed as foreman at the White house ranch on the ZX property and, in accordance with instructions from Manager Fitzpatrick, was burning the dead tules in the marsh. This is absolutely necessary if any hay is to be cut this year. But the state law reads that it is unlawful to burn tules or reeds between the first of March and the first of September of each year in tule swamps or marshes where ducks and geese are in the habit of laying eggs. Justice of the Peace Young being absent, the warrant was issued by Recorder Farrow, who is now Justice of the Peace and it instructed the deputy sheriff to bring the prisoner to Paisley for a hearing. Of course the arrest of Mr. Christen is merely for the purpose of finding out who is really responsible for the burning, as Al was only acting under orders. It is understood that the ZX company will fight the case to the finish, for they claim that the law as stated above does not apply to tules on private lands.
