STATE BOOKLETS TO BE PUBLISHED

Portland, Oregon, March 30. (Special)—Oregon is to have a state booklet for information and guidance of inquirers who want to know exact facts regarding opportunities and resources. Governor West has made this possible by releasing the $25,000 appropriation enacted by the last legislature. The booklet will be compiled by C. C. Chapman, State Immigration Agent, with the cooperation of the State Board of Immigration, the Oregon Agricultural College, Oregon Development League and the commercial clubs of all the sections of the state of Oregon.

Besides general information regarding the state as a whole, Commissioner Chapman proposes to have detailed information concerning each locality. This will be gathered through the Oregon Development League and the local commercial clubs. The state will issue 200,000 of these booklets and the railroads will supplement them by publishing several hundred thousand more. It is of vital importance to each locality that the commercial organizations engage promptly in preparing information to be used in this booklet which will have such an enormous circulation. Other states all over the union have had state booklets for years, and everywhere there has been a demand for information signed by the Governor and stamped with the seal of the state, telling the exact facts and conditions. The publication of this booklet is the greatest single event in Oregon's development program since the Lewis-Clark Fair and the organization of the Oregon Development League.

"Do you remember me, Mr. Roosevelt?" said the effusive stranger to the Colonel. "N-no, but delighted I'm sure. When did I have the pleasure?" "Whv, when you returned from Africa, and there was that big crowd on the wharf, I was the man in the brown derby hat."

Wanders in Night

Lakeview, Ore., March 22.—Miss Porter, about 20 years old, was found in an unconscious condition on the porch of the Glidden residence in New Pine Creek at 3 o'clock Monday morning. She was heard to fall and was immediately taken inside and given treatment.

It was found that the young woman had wandered in the dead of night and in an unconscious state a distance of ten miles from the house where she is employed to the Glidden place, where her parents live, although the places are but three miles apart. In the darkness she had traveled over fields, through brush, over fences, waded creeks and scrambled over rocks. A wound on her breast is believed to have been sustained when she crawled through a wire fence.

The young woman is recovering but is unable to explain her strange trip.—Sacramento Bee.

Put the windows in the poultry house low down to the floor so that the hens will get the benefit of the light and sunshine when scratching for their feed. The trouble with windows set high up, is that they let the sunshine in on the perches when the hens are on the floor scratching, and when they are on the roosts the sun does not shine; so there is no equilibrium in such plans.

Two Tags Required

All owners of automobiles must have license tags both on the front and the hind ends of their machines or else get into the toils of the police department. This announcement was made by Chief of Police Ira Hamilton of Salem.

All automobile licenses were supposed to be paid at the first of the year, but on account of the inclement weather of the winter months few autos were taken from the sheds, and consequently a harsh enforcement of the tag law was not considered necessary. With the coming of spring weather the automobiles are being overhauled and brought from the sheds. Many more machines than usual have been on the streets in the last few days.

Chief Hamilton says that from now on no promises to pay nor any pleas that the license tags have been left at home will avail anything as an argument for not carrying tags on both ends of the buzz wagons. The chief states positively that auto owners must comply strictly with the license law or sacrifice their right to run automobiles.

A Good Position

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute of Portland, Ore., operates under supervision of R. R. and wireless officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details.

W. PACIFIC ROAD IS NOW FINANCED

San Francisco Chronicle: A coterie of independent New York bankers has come to the aid of the Western Pacific, and that railroad's financial needs are practically at an end, for the present.

This much was learned upon the return to San Francisco of Charles S. Schlacks, vice-president of the Western Pacific and also vice president and general manager of the Denver and Rio Grande, another so-called Gould road. While Schlack was hesitant about making any specific announcement concerning the result of his two months' conference in the East with President E. T. Jeffery of the Western and with various other representatives of railroad interests, he did not intimate that the Western need worry no longer about the necessary finances to construct a score or more of branch lines with which to feed the main line and develop the road into a transcontinental rail path that will place it in position to enter the most vigorous competition with its competitors, the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe, within a short time.

Among the first announcements to be made by Schlacks—and one of broad significance to those familiar with the Western's forced adoption of a financial "skimp" policy during the last six or seven months—was that the Sacramento shops would be completed immediately, at a cost of half a million dollars. Orders to resume work on the shops and complete them with all possible speed have been issued from Schlacks' office.

Just 145,000 copies of the publicity pamphlet will be issued this year for the primary election by the Secretary of State. Sufficient candidates on the Republican ticket from the different districts have asked for space to make it necessary to issue 14 different kinds of pamphlets for this party, and enough candidates from the Democratic party have taken space to make it necessary to issue four different kinds of pamphlets for that party, making 18 in all.

Useful Hints

April Farm Journal:

Add a little boiling water to an omelet to keep it from being tough.

If you grease the inner rim of a tea kettle its contents will never boil over.

Carry a lead pencil in your pocket and date the eggs as you gather them each day.

The range will keep black much longer if you rub the stove over with soap, then apply the blacking. Save all small pieces of soap for this purpose.

Keep your spices in glass bottles with screw tops—such as peanut-butter jars. A glance will tell you the contents, even if marked covers did get mixed.

To keep fish never put one on top of another. Wring a clean cloth out of cold salt water, wrap the fish separately in this, put them on a dish and keep on ice.

If you feel all run down and despondent, if you are not sleeping well, if you feel as if life were a real burden and that you must consult a doctor, just think it over. Perhaps all you need is to raise your bedroom window at night.

As a substitute for hot water bags in ordinary ailments such as toothaches, earache and other minor pains use common flannel bags made in convenient sizes, with drawstrings. Fill them with hot sand or salt, and they are safer than a cheap rubber bottle, just as efficacious, and much handier to use; keep a half dozen ready. They are of great help in times of aches and pains.

At the annual meeting of the Oregon Conservation Association held in Portland on March 18, the delegates favored a change in the date of the opening of the season for hunting big game from August 1 to September 1. It also endorsed the United States Senate bill providing for an appropriation of $50,000 to be used for propagating salmon in waters controlled by the Government.

Sharp Ranch Sold

Surprise Valley Record: Last week the Surprise Development Company purchased the large C. T. Sharp ranch, two miles south of Cedarville. This is one of the best ranches in the valley, and contains 740 acres. This will be divided and sold in small lots to those who desire to purchase. Mr. Sharp retains his ranch of 320 acres north of town and will improve it making it a model farm. The ranch sold to the company has good water right and is an ideal place for the growing of grain, fruit and alfalfa, and will no doubt soon be dotted with comfortable homes. When other large ranches are sold and subdivided our population will be largely increased and the soil will be made to produce its utmost.
