Rejoice Over the New Boom in the Crooked Kreek Canyon

(High Grade News)
The newborn boom that has loomed up in Crooked Kreek Kanon fills the orphan editor of the Krumbler full of five or six kinds of gladness.

The boom of nitro-glycerine jars through the gulch like a full grown thunder storm.

The sight of hammer and drill and the big tin dinner pail bubbles my goblet of joy almost over.

The blood curdling warbles of sad faced burro in the trail floats down the gorge to pour itself into my long and listening ear like jubilees from the New Jerusalem.

Samples of the pure, old yellow powder have placed upon the front side of Stuttering Steve's complexion a sizzle that will never fade away.

The pay streak recently opened in the Red Raven by Sherm Crumley will locate nicknacks in this pantry that hitherto have been absent. In other words they have been elsewhere.

The gold bespattered silicified porphyry from the Hardscrabble with which Charley Taylor, the Denver divine is creating vacant voids in the noodles of men will inscribe his name on the roster of millionaires in very large hieroglyphics.

Old Quartz invaded this sanctum last Friday with a nugget nearly as big as a horse. All that your Uncle Hiram Higrade did was to faint on the spot.

I fell under the case rack into the hell box, upsetting the paste can, the contents of which lodged in my iron gray ringlet. In falling I broke the imposing stone three chairs and two ribs.

Old Quartz in trying to prevent my accident sprained the Northwest slope of his left ankle under the knee and back of his big toe nail. He turned the stove upside down and jobbed his roaming nostril into a can of printer's ink. But we bore these sudden successions of thoroughbred calamity like heroes and continued to rejoice.

Old Quartz fell upon my collar bone and nestled his yellow whiskers close up against my jugular vein. I patted him on the rear portion of his anatomy and stroked his spinal column with both hands.

We gazed into each other's orbs and slobbered for joy. Tears of delight rolled down our faces as big as Ben Davis apples. I finally told Old Quartz to jar loose, which he did by using a combination of reluctance and effort.

Who can blame or censure us? It is a large, glad thrill that quivers through the anatomy, as we pass from the two bit limit of pauperism to the palaces and pie counters of luxury. It is a glad thing to bid farewell to the cupboard which an old lady named Hubbrd immortalized by her failure to discover therein provender for an emaciated animal whose sir name was Fido.

It is a boom that will forever refuse to bust. It is a firm and final fixture in Crooked Kreek Kanon. It will place this camp very near the top of the map. It will chase the coyote from the front yard. It will fit the exchequers of men with the article that always does the business. It will place a cocoon in baby's esophagus and a star spangled grin of glory on the tormented face of Weary William. It will remove the holes from the doughnuts and place them on the outside where they properly belong, and it will provide husbands and homes for pea green grass widows.

This is the glad morning time of our pure and unadulterated delight. Let us sound the fog horn and call the boys together. Let us beat the buzz fuz, fuz, sound the hugag and let the loud ho-sananas roll. Run up old glory and waste a ton or two of dynamite. Let this be a season of happiness and bilarity to be remembered till Satan starts his joo factory. Send for Hezekiah Hanks, his fiddle and his bow.
Likewise the bunch. Red Rachel and Mysterious Martha, Jingo Jo and Jewisharp Jim, and the rest of the boys and girls. Let strains of "Turkey in the Straw," knock chinks and daublin from the dance hall. Let the light fantastic whirl spin on.

The boom is on, and all the hammers this side of hades cant knock it off.

MINOR MENTION

(High Grade News)
Dr. Amsden was a visitor in Lakeview recently.

Dr. Knox took an outing trip Tuesday in the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Freeman spent Sunday in the country.

D. C. Berry has returned to Davis Creek to look after his ranch.

D. W. Thomas, left for Reno, Nevada and Sacramento Monday on a business expedition.

Chas. Proetz, of Prineville, Oregon, is a visitor in New Pine Creek. He expects to locate here.

Wm. Hinger an old time Cripple Creek mining man has been in camp for over a month investigating. Billy says it is a wonder, and will stick in High Grade.

Edward Keller has leased the quarter block at the corner of Main and Garden streets to Ross Nickeron and C. Balley who will build on the property for restaurant purposes.

Wm. N. Coyle of the California Valley came into camp Monday night, and is preparing to board away a million or two of High Grade Gold in that valley of perennial spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McCullough came over from Cedarville in their new auto, to spend a few days with relatives and friends. We were all glad to see them in our midst once more.

Sylvester Gallagher and G. W. Crowder left New Pine Creek Friday to operate a moving picture show in Cedarville. Later on they will establish shows in Lake City and Ft. Bidwell.

R. S. Foster has returned to the Golden Shore after a two months absence in the world's greatest wonder, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. Mr.
Foster will make his home in this locality.

T. F. Hynes of Philipsburg, Montana, has joined the great white throng of High Graders. Mr. Hynes expresses surprise at the wonderful showing of the camp, the beauty of our scenery and the wealth of Sunset Valley.

Rev. J. H. Howard returned from Surprise Valley Monday evening. Mr.
Howard fills appointments at that place the first and third Sundays, of each month and in the First Baptist church in New Pine Creek on the second and fourth Sundays.

Mrs. D. W. Thomas entertained the Ladies club at her home in New Pine Creek on Friday from 1 to 4 p. m. A large number of ladies were present and a most enjoyable entertainment is reported. Refreshments were served.

J. U. Gentry has been up on the slope protecting some valuable claims during the last few days. Mr. Gentry has watched the drift of waters in the Warner Range for several years and has always predicted its final destiny as a great mining camp.

H. C. Hunker and John A. Hughes of the Lakeview Steam Laundry were Pine Creek visitors on Tuesday. They make Pine Creek every Tuesday and Friday. They are cordial gentlemen and merit the patronage of the public.

A. J. Fielding, a practical miner of Sierra county who has operated in Colorado and other Western states, and recently in Sierra, Plumas and Nevada counties, Cal., has been in camp three weeks and is enthusiastic at what he has seen.

J. C. Denson of Alturas was a High Grade visitor this week. Mr. Denson spent most of the week in Pine Creek and left for Ft. Bidwell on Thursday.
He prospected in the Warner range forty years ago and has always predicted that there would be a great camp here.

F. A. Babcock, of Georgetown, Col., who has had extensive experience in Cripple Creek and elsewhere, has been in camp two months investigating. He has secured a group of very promising claims on the hill in High Grade proper and will at once begin operations in their development.

E. T. Massie arrived in the metropolis of High Grade last Saturday night to add a few more millions to his exchequer. Mr. Massie hails from the famous old camp of Grass Valley, Nevada county. He is a practical mining man and a close observer. As a result he is highly pleased with what he has seen in the district.

Lee Foster of the Trail Creek mines of Siskiyou county, Cal., G. W. Bever, of the Snelling Oil Co., of San Francisco, N. Westover, of Calahans, Cal., and A. Castel of Klamath Falls, Oregon, arrived here Tuesday evening in Mr. Foster's auto. Mr. Foster and Mr. Bever will probably become interested here as leasers and Mr. Castel is here to look into business opportunities.

Nan Del State, one of the famous mining characters of the great mining State of Nevada, and hailing from Ione, where he has extensive prospecting work, is illuminating Camp High Grade with his bright smile and boosting it along the way with his merry ha. ha. He is now one of the bright and shining lights of the district and will remain indefinitely.

Charles W. Taylor, of Denver, to Pull off Big Sporting Events

High Grade is properly on the map.
History is repeating itself. The live ones flock to the live mining camps.
The best brain in all lines is headed this way. Some of it is already on the ground. Others are on the road.

Charles W. Taylor of Denver is in town. He will "stick." He has been booked for High Grade since its inception. He is the liveliest one in the arena of pastime today. Johnny there with the goods always.

When the news of the wonderful wealth of High Grade electrified the world, Charles got busy. He made a tour of the Western States and cities, embracing in his itinerary Salt Lake, where he met Ad Wolgast and Joe Rivers, who are to fight for the light weight championship of the world, in Los Angeles on July 4th, and whom he accompanied to "The City of The Angles" and made some preliminary arrangements for coming sporting events in this camp.

Mr. Taylor visited San Diego, San Francisco, Sacramento, Reno, and other places of interest, arriving in New Pine Creek two weeks ago.

After satisfying himself that the district is the real old thing, and the coming greatest mining camp in history he immediately arranged to locate in High Grade townsite on the hills, and ordered a car load of merchandise shipped at once, which will arrive by the time his building is completed.

Mr. Taylor is now arranging a long and intensely interesting program of sporting events for the district, which will be announced through the columns of the High Grade News in the near future.

Mr. Taylor's observations while enroute to the camp led to the statement that there are small armies of people ready to come on his recommendation.
The O. K. which he has placed on High Grade is already fraught with good results as is noticeable in the rapidly increasing number of new arrivals from the sections he visited.

Sends Representative Into High Grade to Secure Property

George Guthrie of Phoenix, Arizona, arrived in camp on Monday. He was in the camp last summer and was so well pleased that he returned to avail himself of several good High Grade propositions.

Mr. Guthrie represents Justice Geo.
F. Talbot of the Nevada Supreme Court who has become convinced that High Grade is a safe proposition. Mr.
Guthrie will investigate the camp and report to his superior in a short time.

Paisley is Ore Producer

Chewanac Press: The first ore sacks ever brought to Paisley were shipped in last week by Messrs. Campbell and Klippel, who will fill them with ore from the Monarch mine and ship to a smelter. There is a crew of men at work in the mine now, and the ore being brought out looks so good that it was decided to make a test of a carload. The result will be watched with interest, for upon the report of this will depend the future of this mine. The promoters have great faith in the property and backed up by the opinions of many mining men who have visited the mine. There are also several other properties which are showing up well—exceedingly well.
Experts are on the way to Paisley to look into the prospects of some of these and as soon as their reports are given out, we may look for a rush into this country that will rival those of the palmiest days of mining in Colorado and elsewhere. The prospectors have struck what appears to be the main ledge, whereas formerly they were working isolated deposits. According to those who know, the metal is now found in place and in unlimited quantities.
