IMPROVEMENTS AT CAMP HIGH GRADE

Work at the New Townsite on the Hill Progressing Rapidly

(High Grade News)

Mr. Sloan has a tent on the High Grade townsite in which he carries a stock of groceries and is doing considerable business with prospectors and miners on the hill. He has the lumber for his store building ordered from the mill and will soon move into permanent quarters.

Mr. Montgomery has logs cut for a building which will be used by him as a saloon. Mr. Call has the material cut and framed at the Larkin mill on Pine Creek for his restaurant building at High Grade. The material will be taken up next week and put in shape.

Postmaster Fairchild is on the ground at High Grade getting the ground on his lot ready for the erection of the High Grade postoffice building.

Mr. Winkler has moved up to High Grade where he has invested in property.

Mr. Stacy is at High Grade preparing to build on his lots in that new townsite.

Charlie Taylor, the proprietor of the Oregon Club of New Pine Creek, has purchased a lot opposite the bank building on High Grade avenue on which he will immediately erect a building to be called the High Grade Club and where that popular caterer will supply the wants of the thirsty at the new townsite. Newton Crumley will ably assist Charlie in his laudable enterprise. The snow is rapidly disappearing at High Grade and things are beginning to move rapidly here. The trees and logs on the townsite are being cleared away and the new townsite is beginning to take shape. With the continuance of this ideal Summer weather work at High Grade is being pushed rapidly and it will not be long before the new townsite will present the appearance of a modern mining city.

HIRAM HIGH GRADE AND OLD QUARTZ

One Beautiful Night of Joy With The Nymphs in Fairyland

(High Grade News)

Its a great old world after all. Life is worth living if you know how. From dynamite and bull quartz to fairy bowers and nectar is a transformation that touches a fellow clear down to his big toe nail.

Last Sabbath eve Old Quartz arose from his lair, limped over to my highly upholstered nail keg and yelled in my ear a direful threat to drown his sorrow in the flowing bowl.

Upon his countenance was an expression of fixed determination and in his voice there was something that sounded very much like absolute certainty.

I arose from my nail keg and accompanied Old Quartz to the fabled fountain of Supreme Delight, located in magical realms where the hoot owl twitters his midnight orgie and moonbeams tremble on fern and wild garlic, Mystic spot peopled with strange dreams, haunted with wonderful shapes and fraught with fantastic frolic.

Thither we meandered, Old Quartz and your Uncle Hiram, to quaff from the spring that will bubble on and on. And with whom do you suppose we struck glad mits in that realm of mystic maneuvers? Hiphop Harry and Silent Si, Dough Faced Dick and Sly Slaton, Two Bit Teddy and Do It Now Dan, Jayhawk Jack and Happy Hank and a long list of seekers after salvation.

The gong sounded and we were no longer Krooked Kreek miners. We were fairies with Do It Now Daniel playing the role of Puck.

Dan waved his wand and the big show was on. Zephyrs floated through sylvan aisles laden with melody from lily beds, bellow of bull frogs and aroma from witch hazel and skunk cabbage.

Dan wore purple wings flecked with small triangular, pale yellow spots. His wand was a wild rye straw with a dew drop welded to one end. He was dressed in pink tights and a lavender shirt waist. His halo was 11 or 12 inches in diameter and his slippers were of old gold tipped with rubies and amethysts.

Old Quartz had a pair of red wings fringed with white and blue at the tips. His linen duster was a mulberry maroon and his bloomers were lemon drab. He wore pale blue slippers without socks.

Sly Slaton was a dream of subdued color and suppressed hilarity.

Happy Harry made all fairyland mad with envy with his sunburst halo held

POTATO BEETLE IS SERIOUS PEST

O.A.C. Issues Booklet Giving Recipe For Extermination Insects

A warning against the ravages of Epitrix Subscrita, the Western Potato Flea beetle, is being issued by A. L. Lovett, assistant entomologist at the Oregon Agricultural College.

"One of the serious pests of the potato and tomato plants at this time is the western potato flea beetle," says Mr. Lovett. "This insect, properly known as Epitrix Subscrita, occurs at this time as a small, dark brown beetle feeding on the foliage of its host.

It eats characteristic, small, irregular holes in the leaves and has the ability to jump quickly like a flea when disturbed.

"The puncture which the beetle makes in the leaf, while serious in itself, becomes even more detrimental, due to the fact that a fungus disease gains ready entrance through these injured cells and causes a decay of the tissue for a greater or less distance.

"The female will commence depositing eggs later, about the base of their feet. In the case of the potato, the larvae hatching from these eggs feed on the developing tubers. They mine into the potato, usually tunneling only a short distance beneath the surface and turning again to the exterior. The effect of their work is to give the potato a pimply appearance which sometimes seriously affects the selling qualities.

"The spray to be used for this flea beetle is a combination Bordeaux and arsenate spray. It is prepared by suspending 4 lbs. of copper sulphate in a gunny sack at the top of a barrel in 25 gallons of water. Then 5 lbs. of lime is slacked in a small quantity of water and made up into a 25 gallon solution. Then the two solutions, 50 gallons in all, are poured simultaneously into a spray tank, and stirred vigorously meanwhile. Good fresh lime must be used, and should always be in excess. Only wooden vessels should be used in handling Bordeaux mixture. The pump should have brass parts or be brass lined throughout. To this solution should be added 2 lbs. of arsenate of lead and mix it thoroughly. It may be used at normal strength for potatoes, but 10 more gallons of water should be added for tomatoes. Either of the solutions used alone is fairly efficient. If only lead arsenate is used apply at the rate of 2 lbs. to 50 gallons of water.

DISCOVERS GRANITE ON HIGH GRADE

Large Dyke of Metamorphosed Material Traversing Miles

(High Grade News)

A. D. Forman, who has been in camp for three weeks investigating the of the district, brought to the News geology office on Wednesday morning samples of metamorphosed granite which he broke from a large dyke of that rock between Kelley creek and the Sheep corral.

The dyke is on the Le Roy property near the old sheep corral. Mr. Forman is of the opinion that it traverses the country for miles and that it is the foot wall of the mineral zone.

Morris Southstone and Tom Bernard, of Lakeview, paid Paisley a visit Friday in a new E.M.F. car.

Among the business visitors to Paisley, Tuesday, were, W. Lair Thompson, Republican candidate for State Senator, Sheriff W. B. Sneider, R. H. Rogers of the S. A. Menden Co., Wm. Wallace, and Prosecuting Attorney J. D. Venator, all of Lakeview.

DEL FLOY MINE IS NOW OPERATING

Surface Trenching to Locate the Big Contact Vein--Sink Shaft

(High Grade News)

Capt. F. L. Evans has force of men at work on the Del Floy mine. They are now surface trenching to locate the contact and are finding good values in this surface work.

Capt. Evans is arranging to sink shaft on the Del Floy to a depth of 500 feet or more. Work will be pushed on this shaft with the utmost vigor. The present workings consist of two short tunnels which have produced ore running as high as $261 per ton.

There are three well defined veins on the claim in addition to the Big Four dyke. There is also a fine spring and an abundance of water on the property.

Jimmy Lane has placed an order for a new automobile. The machine is a Chalmers 36.

W. H. Shirk, the Lakeview banker in company with his wife and another lady, passed through Silver Lake last week on their way to Portland to attend the Rose Carnival.

Mr. Williams has finished his second artesian well on the Jim Small place in Summer Lake Valley, and got a good flow of water at 100 feet. He will move home in a few days to put down a well for himself.

It was thought by many the hay crop on the marsh would be short this year, owing to the light snow fall during the winter. But the rains of May and June have adjusted things sufficiently and prospects for a good crop are now assured.

Last Saturday about 2 o'clock a severe hail storm passed over the ranch of Mr. M. Buchanan near Lake. Apparently a cloud from the west came in contact with one from the east, when it began to hail, and in a few minutes there was at least two inches of hail on the ground. Then it began to rain the water coming down in a perfect torrent. Mr. Buchanan estimated there were at least two inches of water precipitated in about twenty minutes. Strange to say the storm only covered about one square mile in area.
