COTTONWOOD FINDS MAY PROVE BIG

Manager Canfield Has Quietly Placed His Property in the Front Rank

(High Grade News)

Every day it is becoming more apparent that Cottonwood Canyon from source to mouth is one of the very best mineralized areas in the district. For months prospecting has been going on there, with most satisfactory results. Many well defined porphyry dikes intersect the country, and the contacts between them and the adjacent country andesite and rhyolite are sometimes highly silicified. These quartz ledges carry gold values. On the ranch of Charles Larkin, at the mouth of the canyon are a number of the dikes chasing up the hill to the Southeast. From one of them quartz is obtained that pans long strings of gold colors. That this dike will develop into a rich pay mine is the opinion of the prospectors and miners who have examined it.

A movement is now on foot to establish a camp on the Cottonwood, with a town at the mouth of the canyon. Work can be prosecuted there all winter without trouble from snow, and it is claimed that by spring a dozen good properties will show pay dirt.

Mr. Ed Keller, wife and daughter Elsie spent Sunday over the Range on Deep Creek, where they went on a little fishing jaunt.

Alturas a High Grader

(High Grade News)

Word comes from the Alturas this morning that the Alturas mine, south of the Big Four, has demonstrated its merit by disclosing a high grade body of ore at the bottom of the mishapt and in the drifts. The Alturas is one of the old timers in the camp, and has always been considered a fine property. It is owned by the Alturas Gold Mining Company, of which Mr. Canfield is General Manager. Mr. Canfield is a quiet unpretentious gentleman, thoroughly versed in mining, and always conservative.

Mining men who have examined the Alturas say that it has no superior anywhere in the district.

LAKEVIEW DRUGGISTS DESERVE PRAISE

Hall & Reynolds, druggists, deserve much praise from Lakeview people for introducing here the simple buckthorn bark and glycerine mixture known as Adler-ka. It is the only remedy which never fails.

Smoking That Maddens.

Marihuana is a weed used by people of the lower class and sometimes by soldiers, but those who make larger use of it are prisoners sentenced to long terms. The use of the weed and its sale, especially in barracks and prisons, are very severely punished; yet it has many adepts, and Indian women cultivate it because they sell it at rather high prices. The dry leaves of marihuana alone or mixed with tobacco make the smoker wilder than a wild beast. It is said that immediately after the first three or four drafts of smoke smokers begin to feel a slight headache; then they see everything moving, and finally they lose all control of their mental faculties. Every thing, the smokers say, takes the shape of a monster, and men look like devils. They begin to fight, and, of course, everything smashed is a monster "killed." But there are imaginary beings whom the wild man cannot kill, and these inspire fear until the man is panic stricken and runs.—Mexican Herald.

The Curse of Cowdray.

Cowdray, once the estate of the earls of Egmont and now in the possession of Lord Cowdray, better known as Sir Weetman Pearson, is the subject of a very interesting superstition. Shortly after the dissolution of the monasteries Cowdray was conferred upon Sir Anthony Browne, the father of the first Lord Montague, who had already been given Battle Abbey as a reward for his services to Henry VIII. The story goes that Sir Anthony, who had destroyed the church and the cloisters in Battle Abbey, was visited in the great hall as he was holding his first feast by one of the dispossessed monks, who after solemnly cursing him, prophesied that his family should perish by fire and water. Two centuries and a half later the prophecy was tragically fulfilled. In 1793 the house was destroyed by fire and within a week of that disaster the last Lord Montague lost his life in Germany in an unsuccessful attempt to shoot the falls of the Rhine.—London News.

Belts by the Pound.

A western senator of ample physical proportions was endeavoring to obtain a belt at a Washington haberdashery. He was having a difficult time in selecting a belt whose design struck his fancy as well as of proper requirements for his girth.

"How much is that one?" he demanded of the clerk, who was entirely unaware of the distinguished character of the patron.

"That is $4," said the salesman.

"Four dollars!" exclaimed the senator. "Isn't that an awful price for a belt?"

"Yes, sir," admitted the man behind the counter; "but, you see, sir, after they get into the regular surcingle size we charge for 'em by the pound."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Very Brief.

A record of brevity in a holiday correspondence was established by a Frenchman in the eighteenth century. Voltaire and Piton, the epigrammatist, exchanged challenges to write the shortest possible letter. So, when Voltaire was starting on a journey, he wrote to Piton, "Eo rus," which is the complete Latin for "I am going to the country." Piton's answer was just "—"—complete Latin for "Go!"

In business correspondence the record is divided between Victor Hugo, who, anxious to know how his "Les Miserables" was going, wrote to the publisher, "?" and the publisher, who triumphantly replied, "!"

A Servile House of Lords.

When King Henry VIII's name was spoken in his presence in the house of lords every peer prostrated himself with Asiatic servility. An entry in the records of the house gives the substance of a speech delivered by the chancellor on Jan. 16, 1541, in which the king's goodness and wisdom are extolled, and it tells us that whenever his majesty was mentioned, "which happened often," all the lords prostrated themselves, bowing to the ground as one man.

The Important Personage.

"Are you the owner of this place?" asked the book agent.

"I am," replied Farmer Cornstassel. "Anything I can do for you?"

"No. The chances are that you are too hard worked to have time to read anything and that you haven't any spare change anyhow. Let me talk to the hired man."—Washington Star.

Poor Simile.

"I never saw any one so timid as Henpeck is," remarked Wigger. "Why, he's like a mouse in his own house."

"Nonsense!" exclaimed Wigger. "His wife isn't the least bit afraid of him."

And War Continued.

Miss Goodley—Bess says she's ready to make up if you are. Miss Cutting—Tell her I'd be ready to make up, too, if I had a complexion as muddy as hers.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Patience.

Her Mother—You must be patient with him. The Bride—Oh, I am. I know it will take time for him to see that he can't have his own way.

National Traits.

It takes one hour to know a Frenchman, one month to know a German and almost a lifetime to know an Englishman—well.—Rome Corriere.

It is ever true that he who does nothing for others does nothing for himself.—Goethe.

What the Kidneys Do

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us
Strong and Healthful

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys one every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthily some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

A. B. Seofield, Ashland, Ore., says, "It gives me great pleasure to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought me great relief from a severe attack of kidney complaint and I am now entirely free from the trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills can be relied upon to dispose of backache and difficulty with the kidney secretions."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.
