NITRO CLUB

The Remington Club cut into a good one.

Each and Every One a Speed Shell

The speed that breaks your targets nearer the trap. That's why Remington-UMC Steel Lined Shells have won 13 out of the 15 Handicaps held in the last three years.

The speed that gets that mile-a-minute "duck" with a shorter lead—that's why it takes over 50,000 dealers to handle the demand for Remington-UMC Steel Lined Shells.

The Shooting fraternity are speed wise. They know loose smokeless powder won't drive shot. They know that the drive depends on the compression.

The powder charge in Remington-UMC shells is gripped in steel. This lining is designed to give the exact compression necessary to send the load to the mark quickest. It insures speed—the same speed in every shell.

The steel lining is moisture proof—no dampness can get through. Jar proof—no powder can get out. Waste proof—no energy is lost.

Shoot Remington-UMC Arrow and Nitro Club Steel Lined Eastern factory loaded shells for Speed plus Pattern in any make of shotgun.

MANY DEADLOCKS IN LAST SESSION

The session of Congress now closing will be memorable for the passage of a few measures of first importance, for the attempt to enact several tariff bills, which their authors knew would be vetoed by the President, for efforts to cripple the Army and to undo some of the good work of the preceding Congress and for the entire failure to deal with several questions which urgently call for action, though a vast amount of time was wasted in needless investigations and debates, says the Oregonian.

The most valuable achievement is the Panama canal bill, for it not only established a Government for the same and tolls for the canal, but effects a revolution in our shipping policy which opens the way to the creation of merchant marine and emancipates water transportation from the domination of the railroads. Next in importance is the establishment of a genuine parcels post. Credit for these measures must be divided between the two parties, though the remnant of the standpat Republican Senators opposed the new shipping policy. By annulling the Russian treaty the President saved Congress from passing a resolution which would have caused the Czar's government to feel lasting resentment against this country.

The reluctance with which the Democrats consented to the building of a new battleship augurs ill for the future of the Navy in case the Democrats should secure full control of the Government. New laws of especial advantage to the West, for which credit is due Senator Borah individually, though they were supported by members of both parties, are the three-year homestead and irrigated homestead acts.

The greater part of the time of Congress, however, has been taken up with the attempt to revise the tariff and with undoing what Taft has accomplished towards adoption of his policy of scientific revision. Knowing that Taft would never approve bills making radical reduction not justifiable by the Tariff Board's reports and appropriating this plan of schedule revision, the democrats, aided by the insurgents, have passed a series of tariff bills which have fallen under the Presidential veto. They could have hoped for nothing better than to put themselves and their opponents on record in readiness for the coming campaign. So far, they have gained that end, for the President was as willing as they to go on record and the issue is joined between the Taft policy of revision on moderately protective lines and the Democratic policy of a tariff for revenue with incidental protection. In their partisan zeal the Democrats have abolished the Tariff Board just as it had begun to prove its usefulness.

One measure which both parties stamped to pass is the pension bill, whereby all veterans, rich or poor, dependent or independent, able-bodied or invalid, are allowed to dip their hands deeper than ever in the Treasury. There is little to choose between the parties on this score, for both engaged in an unseemingly scramble to gain votes at the public expense.

By attempting to nx a seven-year term for civil service employees the Democrats sought to restore the spoils system under a disguise which deceived nobody. By their effort to abolish the Commerce Court the Democrats made a step backward on the road of progress. The President, by interposing his veto in these instances, rendered a valuable public service, which will be appreciated when party passions have cooled.

The time which might have been spent to great public advantage in dealing with trusts, conservation, Alaska or the currency has been idled away in making stump speeches and in holding interminable inquiries into the departments in the hope of uncovering scandals, which could be retailed on the stump; also in investigating the trusts, with no result beyond confirmation of what was already known, and in unearthing the secrets of past campaigns. Congress is unable at one session to pass more than a few measures of the first importance. In a few things it has done well, but, had its mind been on the needs of the country instead of on the needs of respective parties, it could have done much more in the period of almost nine months over which the session has extended.

JAPAN BUILDING GIVEN TO U. S.

Japan's answer to the rumor that she contemplated war with the United States is a million dollar present. That country, it is announced, intends to erect a building and occupy four acres of ground at the Panama Pacific exposition in San Francisco, the building and grounds to be presented to this country as a gift. The building will be a permanent one, and the amount of money which the Japanese intend to expend is a guarantee it will be the best. The government has agreed to allow the use of the ground. In addition to the building, which will be on the lines of classic Japanese architecture, the exhibit will include a Japanese garden, where the choicest specimens of Japanese skill will be in evidence. It is also announced that the famous dwarf trees of Japan will be transplanted to American soil and in every way the exhibit will prove of value.

EFFECTIVE WAY TO KILL RODENTS

That it is no simple task to get rid of gophers and moles and other rodents is the opinion of A. L. Lovett, pest expert at the Oregon Agricultural College. He believes it is necessary to use a combination of treatments rather than any one system.

"In most cases one will have very good success during the early part of the fight with the poisoned bait. Fumigation with carbon-sulfide gives very good success in newly formed burrows of the pocket gopher. This method is used extensively through the middle west on a commercial scale and over large fields. Where the application fails it is usually due to the very extended underground burrows which occur in fields long infested. The carbon-sulfide is used at the rate of three to six ounces to each pocket. Saturating dry horse manure and working this down into the burrow is a very good method of application. The material may be poured slowly into the hole direct. After treating the hole, cover it thoroughly to hold in the fumes. Always bear in mind that carbon-sulfide is as inflammable as gasoline. Do not open it near a hot stove, nor smoke while making the application.

"When the numbers of pests are considerable lessened they seem to become wary of such methods, and then possibly the trap will be about the only way that you can catch them. After the traps cease to be effective, a small boy with a rifle will usually keep them down pretty well. This pest usually appears above the ground at certain hours of the day and can be shot very readily. There are two methods of preparing the poisoned bait. One consists of simply using pieces of carrot or potato or even rasins. Make an incision in each piece of carrot or potato and slip in a crystal of strychnine sulphate. The burrow should not be left uncovered in the case of the pocket gopher; simply scrape away the surface soil to expose the tunnel; the bait may then be dropped into the hole and the soil replaced.

"In the case of moles, a sharp pointed stick maybe pushed down into the uplifted earth around the tunnel and the bait dropped in. Then simply stamp on the burrow to cut out the light from below.

"The other method of preparing the bait with poison is as follows: Dissolve an ounce of strychnine sulphate in a pint of boiling water; add a pint of thick syrup and stir thoroughly. Scent this with a few drops of oil of anise. This mixture is sufficient to poison a half-bushel of wheat or corn. Simply pour it over the grain and stir vigorously. This grain, of course, should not be scattered in exposed places where birds and poultry could get at it.

"In the case of traps, I do not know that any particular make is to be recommended. All of them have certain things which make them in the eye of their manufacturers, a little superior to other types."

SETTLERS DESIRE AID FROM STATE

A dispatch from Lake to the Portland Journal says:

Northern Lake County settlers, especially those in Pleasant valley in the vicinity of Lake, Arrow, Viewpoint, Cliff, Buffalo and Butte viewpoints, want an experimental farm located about the center of the valley. Crops this year have been wonderfully successful, though the fact remains that not about one homesteader in ten is capable of making his land produce even a quarter of what it is capable of producing. This lack of industry is due to two important causes: Shortage of money and lack of knowledge of what to do and what not to do, in handling the land.

Feeling that they are an integral portion of Oregon with an area of 600,000 acres of land the most of which is good agricultural land, in southern Oregon and that the Oregon Trunk railway cannot long overlook the tillable area that is handicapped for transportation, the people of this portion of the county desire that they be brought closer to the business men and people of the state. If their lands are properly tilled and the crops multiplied on the lands that are so productive when handled even carelessly; they feel that they should have cooperation to obtain the desired experimental station. F. A. Remington, W. Roche Fick, F. E. Anderson, F. A. Watkins and many other live settlers here have signified that they will give 160 acres of land for use of the experimental station for a term of years.

DON'T KNOW THEY HAVE APPENDICITIS

Many Lakeview people who have chronic appendicitis, which is not very painful, have doctored for years for gas on the stomach, sour stomach or constipation. Hall & Reynolds, druggists, states if these people will try simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Alder-ika, the German appendicitis remedy, they will be surprised at the QUICK benefit. A SINGLE DOSE relieves these troubles instantly.

ONTARIO PLANS ANNUAL FESTIVAL

The Vaquero Festival which will take place at Ontario, Oregon during the Malheur County Fair, September 24th, to 28th, will equal any celebration of its kind ever held in the Northwest. Last year a festival of this kind was held under the name of Buckaroo Sports and as it proved the big drawing card of the Fair, it was decided to continue the program and make it an annual event. The Fair association have purchased some of the hardest bucking horses to be found and have secured a large number of others as well as wild horses for the famous wild horse race.

Riders and ropers of this section are invited to enter and compete for the cash premiums which are liberal. All kinds of stunts that go with the usual wild west program will be pulled off and during the entire week there will not be a dull moment. Aeroplane flights, mammoth fruit and agricultural exhibits, all kinds of entertainment, harness and running races, music by several bands, mask carnivals, and everything that goes to make up a first class fair, will find place in the program. Good hotel accommodations are available Ontario as three good hotels are now in operation including the new one of 100 rooms. Programs and entry blanks of the Vaquero Festival will be gladly mailed by writing the Secretary, Leon J. Chapman, at Ontario, Oregon.
