

$1,000 REWARD

THE OREGON HORSE AND CATTLE LIVE STOCK PROTECTION ASSOCIATION, which the undersigned is a member of, will give a $1,000 reward for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of any party or parties who steal horses, cattle or mules belonging to any of its members.

In addition to the above, the undersigned is awarded cash prize for all horse and cattle brands recorded in eight counties: Harney, Lake and Crook counties. Horse and cattle brands recorded in any of these counties.

None but grown horses sold, and only in these counties.

POLK'S OREGON and WASHINGTON Business Directory

A Directory of each City, Town and Village, giving descriptive abstracts of each place, location, population, telegraph, shipping and banking points also Classified Directory, compiled by business and profession.

R. L. POLK & CO., SEATTLE

PATENTS

VALUABLE INFORMATION FREE. If you have an invention or any patent matter, write immediately to W. W. WRIGHT, registered attorney, Loan & Trust Bldg., WASHINGTON, D. C.

ALGERLAND COMPANY

Real Estate Brokers
High Grade Mining Stock

Offices at
NEW PINE GREEN & LAKEVIEW

KOVERALLS

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED FOR CHILDREN 1 to 8 years

LEVI STRAUSS & CO., Mfr. San Francisco

GOVERNMENT LAND LEFT IN OREGON

Inquiries from prospective homesteaders in regard to public lands in Oregon have become so common that the Portland Chamber of Commerce has just issued a new booklet, setting forth Government and state land sale, and showing the lands in the sale still available for settlers. There are today in Oregon more than 17,000,000 acres of unappropriated public land, of which there are hundreds of thousands of acres that need only the efforts of the settler to render them highly productive. That does not mean, however that, all, or even a great portion of this great tract is immediately valuable or available. There is a widespread opinion that in Oregon and other states to which immigration is turning now, there are lands in the well settled districts even close to the metropolises that are open to settlement. This is not true, for real "barains" are no more to be found in public lands than in privately owned. In fertility some of the public land is as valuable as any in the state, but it is located in the sparsely settled districts and is in a natural wild condition.

In the matter of staked lands, Oregon has more than 600,000 acres, most of which lies in the Eastern part of the state. None of it is offered at less than $7.50 per acre. Any person over 18 years of age who is a citizen of the United States or has declared his intention of becoming so may buy 320 acres. He must declare under oath that he desires it for his own use but no residence upon the land is required. Payment may be made in five annual installments of $150 each. Inquiries should be directed to the clerk of the State Land Board. The character of the school lands can be determined only by personal inspection. The land now lies mostly in distant parts of the state and is scattered over many townships, but with the increase of population, the extension of railroads and other development, all will become valuable.

Linn County has 954,250 acres of public school lands, and 2,532,525 acres of government land. Other Government land in the Lakeview land district is, Klamath county, 829,771 acres, and Crook county, 405,729.

The booklet issued by the Chamber of Commerce includes all the different laws under which Government land may be acquired, with an explanation

BULL MOOSERS ARE LAST ON BALLOT

Hugh McLain of Marshfield has filed his acceptance of the democratic nomination for presidential elector. All presidential electors of all parties in the state have now final acceptances.

Secretary of State Olcott is preparing the form of certification of candidates he shall make to county clerks. At the head of the ticket will be the names of the three regular republicans who will be designated as Taft-Sherman electors. Next will be the electors of the ticket will be the names of the three regular republicans who will be designated as Taft-Sherman electors. Next will be the electors of the democratic party, then of the socialist party, then prohibitionists, and last the names of the progressives. At the head of the ballot will be instruction to vote for five.

PROFESSOR URGES PATROL OF ROADS

Professor Joseph Shafer of the University is one of Oregon's busiest good roads enthusiasts. Professor Shafer's idea is that the farming districts could accomplish the best results at the least expense by starting a regular road patrol.

"A chuck-hole can be drained in a minute the morning after a rain," he says, "while if neglected it can become a nuisance all winter and require the attention of men and a team in the spring."

"I guarantee that if the pupils of some country school would undertake a few minutes' intelligent road work on their trips back and forth from school, that particular school house would soon become famous as the center of a district of good roads."

"It would be good for the roads, still better for the children who need to have developed their sense of civic responsibility, and best of all for the community, which would soon feel pride in local conditions and would supplement and broaden the work started by the pupils."

"Let some country teacher seize this opportunity of their operation. This booklet will be sent in answer to all inquiries received in regard to Oregon public land."

U.O. WILL ADVANCE STATE INTERESTS

University of Oregon, Eugene, Oct. 7.—In an effort to prepare statistics and material that will assist the state legislature, the University senior class in economic research will, for the next two or three months, devote its efforts toward problems confronting the state of Oregon. They will undertake to gather all available material upon the subjects under consideration, and, possibly, formulate some plan of legislative procedure.

Among the problems to be attacked are political reorganization for the state of Oregon; co-operative marketing for the farmers in an effort to eliminate the middleman, and reduce the cost of living; the development of Oregon's water power resources; credit associations for the farmers to furnish capital to develop Oregon's resources; and scientific budget-making for state, county and municipality.

OREGONIAN GOES US ONE BETTER

Portland Oregonian: The best thing to do is to vote No on every bill the purport of which is not clear. No prudent voter should vote for a measure he does not understand—Grants Pass Observer.

There can be no better judgment than, when in doubt, to vote No.—Lake County Examiner.

Is not the voter justified in voting down the whole grit, and thus discouraging the industry? . . . Would it not be wise to kill all of those bulls, goats, hogs, and crazy, and get rid of the abuse? If half of them were enacted, the rest would come up again.—Salem Capital Journal.

The significance of these emphatic utterances from representative newspapers printed in widely separated parts of Oregon, is that they reflect an opinion common to the conservative citizenship of the entire state. The way to stop the abuse of the initiative is to stop it.

Clearly, the initiative is here to stay. Clearly, also, it is being loded down each year more and more with measures which have no place on the ballot. Clearly too, if the way is made easy by acceptance of all kinds of measures, the law-finkers will be more and more encouraged to present

OUR 8 FT. CLOVER ALMOST STOLEN

Oregon Journal: One year of planning and work to have Oregon for the first time dominantly represented by high class exhibits at the eastern land shows, escaped defeat yesterday by a hair's breadth and in the most peculiar way.

Nearly a ton of exhibits, showing the finest of earth products from every part of the state was taken from the warehouse of the state board of immigration by the Salvation Army. It was only when the representatives of the Salvation Army returned for more that they were detected and that which had been taken returned.

Among the exhibits removed was some 12 foot corn from Roseburg, some 6 foot oats from Metolus in central Oregon, and some 8 foot clover from Lakeview in southern Oregon. There was also a quantity of alfalfa seed, a number of bunches of grain and grasses, including some especially fine barley and wheat samples.

In his gladness to get back the exhibits that had been secured only by the most complete organization and the most strenuous effort, C. C. Chapman, state immigration agent, accepted the explanation and absolved the Salvation Army from all ulterior motive.

The exhibits have been stored at 63 Sixth street. Adjutant Whiting, of the Salvation Army noticed the things there and asked the caretaker if the Army could remove them for decorative and other purposes. The caretaker, ignorant of the exhibits purposes, said he would see. Later he gave permission. Then the Kling clerk of the club went over to see how things were, found the things gone, instituted an inquiry among the neighboring merchants, and waited until the Salvation Army came back.

their offerings at each election. The more the initiative is thus used, the more it will be abused.

The only way to protect and preserve the initiative is for the electorate to register a general and emphatic No at the coming election. No measure whatever should be passed unless there is a recognized and demonstrable public need therefor.

When in doubt vote No. When not in doubt, vote No, unless you have been convinced by personal investigation that the measure is for the public interest, and should pass.

The End of A Wet Day and long hours of exposure will find you dry and comfortable if you wear a

TOWER'S FISH BRAND REFLEX SLICKER

with the famous Reflex Edges (pat'd) that prevent water from running in at the front when buttoned. No wet weather coat so useful as a Slicker. No Slicker so waterproof, durable or neat in appearance as the Fish Brand Reflex. Get yours today and be prepared for rain.

$3.00 Everywhere

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON

Tower Canadian Limited Toronto 1112 FISH BRAND

MINING LOCATION

BLANKS

Complete and reliable Form with Maryland Blank attached. Also containing copy of Oregon Mining Laws.

THIS IS ABSOLUTELY THE BEST FORM OBTAINABLE. DESCRIPTION THE MOST COMPLETE

Price 5 cents Each
Special rates on quantities

Phone 521
EXAMINER PRESS LAKEVIEW, OREGON

J. E. LYONS, D. D. S.
Office in Watson's Bldg., Lakeview, Oregon.

CRASH---SMASH---BANG

The Big Sale Is Now Progressing

Plenty of this stock for all. If you were not fortunate enough to be one of the early comers on the opening day, remember we have plenty left of the high grade stock at your mercy.

An EXTRA Special Every Hour of The Day!

The doors of Ahlstrom Bros.' big store were thrown open Saturday at 10 A. M. to the largest crowd witnessed by Lakeview people were carried away by the arm loads. Every available vehicle was busy carrying patrons' purchases from 10 o'clock until closing time

BARGAINS

Owing to the immense crowds and heavy buying, we urge you to be on hand early. An extra special every day

This mammoth stock of merchandise does not need any praise from us. Each article is from the best manufacturer in the U. S. Ask the man who made purchases on the Opening Day.

An EXTRA Special Every Hour of The Day!

Ahlstrom Bros., Lakeview, Ore.