Each member of the Lakeview Chautauqua Circle was nicely remembered by Mrs. N. T. Cory, a former member of the Circle, but now a resident of Los Angeles, with a beautiful photograph of Jane Addams. One of the books of last year was: "Twenty Years in Hull House," by this noted writer.

The Examiner last week neglected to mention the arrival of a fine baby boy New Years day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack M'Auliffe. That we neglected to mention the fact makes the matter none the less important, and it is needless to add that Jack is about the proudest parent on this great continent with two or three other spheres thrown in.

Judge Henry L. Benson of the Lake and Klamath district has gone to Portland to take up the judicial duties of Judge H. E. McGinn of that city, who in turn is serving on the Circuit Bench at Klamath Falls. The exchange was made to relieve Judge Benson of the necessity of presiding at the trial of several cases in which he believes personal considerations would disqualify him.

across the desert in a one horse buggy. They encountered considerable snow, in some places where the snow had drifted they had considerable difficulty in getting through.

When the city of Silver Lake was incorporated there were two saloons here and the license was placed at $450 per annum. Since that time one has gone into bankruptcy and the city's revenue has been cut in half. The city dads thought if two saloons could pay $900 one with all the trade could stand $650, so up goes the license.

Last Sunday was about the worst day we ever saw in Silver Lake. The wind blew very hard all day and about 4 o'clock in the afternoon it commenced to rain, sometime during the night it turned into snow which was about an inch deep Monday morning. Tuesday there was about six inches on the ground. The wind blew so hard that a great snow balls were rolled up and could be seen in every direction, like the work of a lot of boys. But the boys did not do it.
