CONGRESS AND TARIFF

Congress will give a good deal of attention this month to the tariff.

Perhaps you do not take any interest in the tariff, but if you do not, you can't have the faintest idea of what tariff revision means to those who have something at stake.

Of course, importers are for a low tariff. It would help them to sell more foreign made goods in this country. A good many persons who are neither importers nor producers also want a low tariff. They figure that they could get overcosts, and underwear and cutlery, and chinaware, and other things into the composition of which labor enters largely, at lower prices than they pay now. But the people who produce these things want to have a tariff on to help meet the difference in the cost of production here and abroad. The tariff class are getting together and it will make times brisk for Washington hotel men and restaurant keepers. Yes, the stars indicate that January will be a very busy month indeed for Washington.

WEST'S VETOES TO BE OVER RIDDEN

Senator Thompson's Support in Legislature Is Acknowledged

That W. Lair Thompson, of Lake County, who during the last session was leader in the House, and is now in the Senate, is a powerful figure yet to be reckoned with by Governor West. It is evidenced by the fact that the special committee appointed in the House to investigate the Governor's veto measures has agreed that four bills of which he is the author should be passed over the Governor's head, and when it reports in the next few days it will so recommend, says a Salem dispatch under date of January 16 to the Portland Telegram.

Six measures in all have endorsement of the committee, and it will recommend in no uncertain terms that they may be passed over the head of the Governor, and predictions are made that the House is in just the temper to pass them. The measure in which the committee seems most interested in, is the first and second choice bill, which bears the name of ex-Speaker Rusk. Governor West vetoed this bill because he said the voter might not have a second choice, and that the Legislature cannot, under the constitution, compel him to name a second choice under penalty of losing his constitutional right to vote for the nomination of one person. The committee and most of the House members feel that the bill is a wise one, and it looks now as though it will be carried over the Governor's veto.

That will likely be the first bill to be taken up by the house after the committee makes its report, and a bill introduced by Representative Mann is expected to be second, and then will come the four bills introduced by Thompson. Mann's bill provides that residents along the highways keep the roads clear of certain weeds, and makes it the duty of road supervisors to see that it is done.

The Thompson measures are House bills Nos. 75, 186, 239 and 386. The first deals with the salary of the Circuit Judge of Lake and Klamath counties, and the second authorizes the State Land Board to contract for the drainage of lakes and swamps. That the people had already expressed their opinion, and that it was adverse, were the reasons assigned by the governor for vetoing the first named, and while admitting that the second had considerable merit, he objected to it on the ground that no provision was made for the sale of the lands reclaimed to actual settlers.

Bill No. 386 made the conversion of money received by any state, county or municipal official a larceny, referring both to money received and which such official should fail to turn over on demand, and also to such officials making loans without authority of law. The governor declared that it was inconsistent with the body of an old act which it sought to amend, and on this ground vetoed it.

Bill No. 239 sought to confirm title to a number of tracts of land purchased from the state under the swamp act. During the last session the governor introduced a bill to settle the long standing contest between the state and the Warner Valley Stock Company by having title to the lands claimed by it and by settlers confirmed. The measure was of a compromise character, and it was attacked so bitterly that it was withdrawn by Senator McCulloch.

Declaring in his veto message that if there were reasons why this dispute should not be settled, they would apply equally against the bill, and he vetoed it.

During all of last session the Governor and Thompson were at swords' points, and they have been so ever since. Should the House pass the four bills over the Governor's head, it will be a signal victory for Thompson and the vote will mark the first of a number of skirmishes destined to occur between the Governor and he before the session is over.

To Aid Immigration

A call for a convention upon immigration, to conclude the entire Pacific Coast, has been issued by an executive committee consisting of prominent men of California. The date for the meeting is set as April 14 and 15 in San Francisco. Governors from all the west and northwest states have been invited to attend.

The congress will discuss ways and means of stimulating public sentiment to the end that immigrants already here may be given a fair chance, and that the many more who will come to the Pacific coast after the opening of the Panama canal may be received with warm hearts and helpful hands.

TO EXTEND O.A.C. WORK OVER STATE

Senator Thompson Introduces Bill That Will Benefit Ever County

An annual state appropriation of $31,000 with provision for further appropriations for extension and field work of the State Agricultural college, is included in a bill submitted to the state senate by Senator W. Lair Thompson.

Twenty five thousand dollars of the proposed appropriation is for the general promulgation of Agricultural college extension work, and $6000 of it is for the expenses and remuneration of two assistants to the state superintendent of public instruction.

It shall be the duty of these assistants to travel throughout the counties of the state and supervise and promote industrial work in the public schools, and promote industrial school fairs and school garden contests.

The bill also authorizes the county courts of the several counties of the state to appropriate funds for agricultural demonstration and field work in such county. These funds are to be provided by special provision in the annual tax levy or by the appropriation of county funds not otherwise appropriated. It is further provided that for each dollar so appropriated by county, the state will appropriate $2 in addition to the general appropriation of $31,000.

The bill specifies that whenever federal appropriations for the work of agricultural extension are made, contingent upon the appropriation of a like amount by the state, the state shall appropriate the amount required.

The bill gives the state legislative right to accept he funds offered by the crop improvement committee of Chicago for agricultural extension work.

Kex E. Harrower left last Saturday for Philadelphia where he will spend about a month visiting friends and relatives.

Gus Loveland, the proprietor of the North side Shoeing shop had the misfortune to receive a broken wrist last Thursday. He was shoeing a fractious horse belonging to W. Y. Miller when the animal registered strenuous objections to the proceedings and kicked Loveland on the arm.

C. M. Sain and Mr. Mallory of Los Angeles made a trip to the Coffee Pot dam site the latter part of last week where they spent a day or two looking over the prospects of building a dam site. This reservoir is one of the properties of the Salt Company of which Mr. Sain is the general manager. It is the company's plan to make of Coffee Pot a storage basin so that no waters will enter Abert Lake. This will greatly aid them in the evaporation of the water of that Lake which is one of their methods of securing the minerals in its waters. The waters stored in Coffee Pot will be used for irrigation purposes in Lower Chewaucan valley.
