A Horse's Pulse

"The normal pulse of a horse may vary from 28 to 40 pulsations a minute," says a veterinary science lecture report being prepared for the short course at the Oregon Agricultural College.
"The best place to take the pulse of the horse is at the point where the sub-maxillary or facial artery in company with the vein of the same name and Stenson's duct, turn around the edge of the inferior maxilla or lower jaw bone, in other words on the jaw bone, about four inches in front of the throat latch."

Trapper Murdered

County Clerk Payne this week received a telegram from the Coroner of Harney County stating that a G. H. Webster had been murdered at Burns and asking if he was known here. Mr. Payne could not learn anything of such a party but G. R. Webster an aged trapper is quite well known here. From the following brief dispatch from Burns in Sunday's Oregonian it is presumed that G. R. Webster, the trapper, is the party referred to:
"Charged with killing an aged trapper in his cabin, 35 miles from this city, Robert Sheize was arrested today and placed in jail here.
"The prisoner also is accused of having set fire to a barn and burning six horses. Sheize was found by the authorities in a lonely shack near the scene of his alleged crime."

Graves Sells Record

Klamath Falls Northwestern: Once more the Merrill Record has changed hands, this time back to its last owner, Jay P. Harter, the well known sheepman.
The paper has been published the past year by S. C. Graves, locally known as "Chap" Graves, an old time practical printer. Mr. Graves has worked hard to build up this little weekly, but is said to have tired of the effort and to have resold it to Mr. Harter, from whom he bought it a year ago.
It is not known whether Mr. Harter will endeavor to publish the paper or dispose of it to some practical man better acquainted with the newspaper business.
Mr. Graves is well known in Lakeview where he was formerly employed on the Examiner. He has worked untiringly to improve the Merrill Record and from outside appearances his efforts were apparently rewarded with success. His friends here will regret to learn of his failure.

GOOD ROADS SUPPORTED

your Committee that to apportion the money in this manner would be very unjust, especially to Eastern Oregon.
"The method for an equitable distribution of State Aid funds, for road purposes, has been carefully considered by the members of every Legislative Assembly, and Good Roads Committees that have met in this State during the past twenty years, and in nearly every instance, when the matter was examined and determined, the decision has been along the lines recommended by the Harmony Good Roads Committee, that all State Aid funds, for road purposes, should be divided into thirds and one third should be apportioned among the counties equally, one third in proportion to their respective areas, and the remaining third in proportion to their respective assessed valuation for the year preceding the apportionment. The total of the three sums apportioned to each county should constitute the apportionment of said county.
"The basis of area alone in apportioning State Road funds, was recognized as just and equitable as early as 1893, when the Legislature at that session, enacted the present law governing the distribution of the five per cent road fund among the several counties of Oregon. This law provides as follows:
"That the Secretary of State be and is hereby authorized and directed, that immediately after this act becomes a law, to ascertain the area of each and every county within the State of Oregon, and as soon as the same is ascertained, to divide all the proceeds of the five per cent fund now in the State treasury, as well as the direct tax fund due and payable to the State upon its compliance with the laws of Congress, approved March 2, 1891, and that said money shall be divided pro rata between the several counties of the State according to the area thereof. (L. 1893, p. 3.) I fully realize that the welfare and development of the state depends upon the people of Portland, because Portland, through its large delegation in the Senate and House of Representatives, having at this Session, one of its members President of the Senate, and another member Speaker of the House of Representatives, and also having control of almost every important committee of both branches of the Legislative Assembly, completely dominates all legislation for the entire State. Since Portland controls the destiny of Oregon, then its Legislative delegation should no longer restrict its efforts in securing legislation favorable to the interest of Portland and Multnomah County, and if the State is to keep pace with the great growth of Portland, then it will be necessary for the Portland delegation to adopt a broader view of its duty to the State, by enacting into law, such measures as are essential to the growth and development of every part of Oregon.
"I earnestly hope that your Committee will formulate a bill along the lines herein suggested, because such a measure would not only be just and equitable to the entire State, but it would be the means of enabling Eastern Oregon to build a system of public highways that would induce home-seekers to occupy millions of acres of productive lands that are now idle.
"Yours truly,
B. DALY,
County Judge of Lake County."
