USE IDLE LANDS

In every town and city there are many vacant lots growing up to weeds that might just as well be producing garden and flowers, thus adding beauty and utility to the city instead of being an eye sore. Many of these lots are owned by non-residents and others who would be glad to donate the use of them plaintiff will take judgment against to the children. Various back yards, back streets and vacant lots were like the "junk rooms" in a big house-places in which all sorts of unsightly trifles were al lowed to accumulate. These municipal housekeepers, after looking over their common habitation, began a vigorous campaign to get people interested in sprucing up-to arouse civic pride, in fact. With the realization of these endless possibilities in the citizens of tomorrow the public spirited women of New Rochelle are organizing children's civic clubs in the schools of the city.

European cities pride themselves on clean streets above all other public works, and some cities are famous the world over for the splendid condition of their public thoroughfares. One facetious writer says that in Berlin they not only wash the pavements ev ery morning, but wipe them too.

WOMEN THRIVING ON HOMESTEADS

A Bend dispatch to the Oregonian says: That girls can make a success of holding down homesteads on government land has been demonstrated time and again in central Oregon where often times the women make the male sex look like mere boys when it comes to achievement.

Atout 25 miles east of Bend four girls have claims they took up a couple of years ago and which they are improving complying with Uncle Sam's laws to the very letter. These young women, Anne, Gertrude and Nellie Markel, Judged by their accomplishments in together with Harriet Dolson, have always go to those that have the most day pluck will win for girls despite the

The four young women came to central Oregon from Illinois and after taking their land began to look about for a start on their improvements. This they did by following various pursuits, such as stenography, teaching school, fancy sewing, and other vocations. Their cabins started, the girls The first thing the Woman's club take turns at living on their 320 acre civic section attempted was to clean claims, going to the land in relays of two at a time and pooling their interests so that while two are working for money to support themselves during the time when on their claims the others are residing upon theirs, and looking after the absent girls' interests. Then when the time is almost up the two in town go out and the others return to take their places at the various pursuits they have followed in order to return to the land sgain.

Down in Lake county, 30 miles from a railroad, are two or three groups of young women who are living independent lives and at the same time gaining health, strength and wealth by improving claims that were held previously by young men who gave it up as too hard a task. One of them is a poultry fancier and her success at breeding high class layers is unusual. The eggs are sold to ranches and others for from $5 to 60 cents per dozen, and one of the group grows the grain that the others feed their poultry with, at the same time milking several cows and growing a considerable acregae of hay for her stock.

The plowing she has employed a man to do in thep ast, but the man thought he could charge a girl twice what he could any one else, so this independent girl is going to do her own plowing from now on and has nurchased a team of mares and will probably handle the plow with the same ability she has shown toward all obstacles that have confronted her in the past.

One girl in this group has become very fond of several hives of bees and intends to add this industry to the others her chums have followed. On and each seems to feel that until she has proven up on her land and has the patent for it from Uncle Sam, she is to busy too do more than pass the time of day with the inquisitie men who come that way to go home with visions of a wife,

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood, They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptomspain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, tiness seems to have established itself etc. But if you keep the filters right permanently in New Rochelle, even in you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

A. B. Schofield, Ashland, Ore., says: "It gives me pleasure to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought me great relief from a severe attack of kidney complaint and I am now entirely free from the trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills can be relied upon to dispose of backache and difficulty with the kidney secretions."
