IMMIGRATION OF THE RIGHT SORT

According to a recent census bulletin, 37 per cent of American farmers are tenants. That is a remarkable fact when one considers it carefully. Taking farmers the county over thirty-seven out of every hundred of them are not owners of the land they till. A great portion of this land tenantry is in the South. This fact alone is indicative that we are bound to have a largely increased immigration westward and more especially so after the Panama Canal opens. Speaking for the future development of this state and this particular section we need that immigration, provided it is of the right sort. We may manage to have it of the right sort if we will turn our attention to the matter. The man we want in Central Oregon and in Lake County is the man who will engage in farming. There is no need to worry about the men who will serve as the track layer and the ditch digger, or who will be available for any of the many forms of less skilled industry; that class of men are bound to come in sufficient numbers, do what we may to restrict their coming. But in Eastern cities and on Eastern farms; in European countries, and even in the towns and cities of our home state there are many of the sort of men we need for the land—men who can and who would make a living on from 40 to 160 acres, who could come here to buy land for that purpose and not with the idea of speculating its value in speculation and immediately appropriating that much of the proceeds of future industry. In the line of greater production in the line of community building, and of the development of a self-sustaining independent citizenship of the best type; and in the consideration as well of preventing as far as possible the retarding of state growth by the creation of false values we should be moved to an inquiry and a practical and active campaign toward securing such men.

As a matter of community building the game is decidedly worth the candle. And the game should be to go after these men directly—to go after them in some such fashion as the Canadian goes down into the territory of the Middle West and successfully solicits the American farmer to move to the Canadian Northwest.

It would not be impracticable for the state of Oregon to assist rural districts by establishing and maintaining immigration agencies abroad and in the East, wherein there could be established an exchange bureau which would result in locating the right man upon the right tract of land that would be suitable to his means and capabilities. All of Central Oregon offers great possibilities for such immigration. It is not necessary, nor would it be wise to represent to these people that they are sure to grow immensely rich by some magic process just because they move to this state or any particular locality; but with the truth earnestly told the advantages are sufficient to induce the advance and sensible man to come out here and cast his fortunes with the people of this commonwealth. This class of immigration can be had if properly gone after.

BENEFIT VS. INDIVIDUAL PURPOSE

The legislative session this term has of course, accomplished some good legislation, but it is really disgusting to notice the attitude of the law making body toward Governor West, and which is just as bad vice versa. Last Friday was the fortieth day which was to have been the constitutional end of the session. When that time appeared the Governor was said to be in hiding and both branches of the legislature were just as far as ever from reaching an agreement upon continuing the term five days longer to complete business, and incidentally to find out just how far the Governor was going to extend his veto power.

Regardless of the Governor's absence the House and Senate continued to work over time, as it were, and act upon unfinished bills. But those two bodies are not proceeding without their troubles, as the lower branch grew envious out of the Senate killing several of its bills, and as a consequence wrecked revenge by doing likewise to Senate bills regardless of their virtues. This is an appalling condition as it not only retards true legislation but is likely to rob the people of laws that are needed. It is a pity that the legislators cannot meet in harmony and enjoy the cooperation of the state's chief executive in enacting legislation of benefit to the commonwealth without entering into petty controversies and personal scrapes to accomplish pet results for individual purposes.

Portland's invincible buskies were unable to ride roughshod over the O.A.C. basketball team last week, and as a consequence the aforesaid buskies went down to defeat to the tune of 21 to 12. When it comes to football, however, Portland can deliver the goods, for she can muster a much heavier team than the college young men, and as a consequence she generally injures several of the collegians in every game. It is likely the brute football players are not active enough to engage in basket ball, otherwise they would undoubtedly pursue the same tactics successfully in both games.

That Oregon can grow splendid corn, ranking well with the best corn states of the Union, is the statement of C. L. Smith agriculturist for the O. W. R. & N. Company, who is arranging a corn show to be held next fall at Pendleton. This will be open to corn exhibitors by farmers in every part of Oregon and another show will be held at Colfax, Washington, for the farmers of that state. "Farmer" Smith declares that the average corn crop per acre in Oregon is larger than in Iowa, that corn is a plant that will adapt itself to almost any climate and should be made one of the chief items of agricultural production here.

Senate bill 45, by Bean, revising the game and fish laws of the state, is now ready for the signature of the Governor, for it passed the House today. The bill is patterned, in part after the Colorado game law and in part after that of New York. Game Warden Finley was largely instrumental in drafting the bill and, prior to doing so, made a study of the subject. The bill was thrashed out at meetings of the committees of both houses, and is pronounced by those who have examined it and who are authority on game and fish, as both comprehensive and scientific.

The dog poisoner is busy with his atrocious work in this city. Mrs. Dora Lane had the misfortune last week to lose her pet canine, "Danger." The work was evidently done by some unprincipled sneak out of purely malicious destruction as the dog was exceptionally domestic and seldom ventured beyond the yard only when accompanying his mistress. Several valuable dogs as well as less useful ones have lately met similar fate and not a little indignation has been expressed by those who have lost their favorite pets.

President Taft has announced that before leaving office on March 4 he will have concentrated at Galveston, Texas, close to 10,000 U. S. troops ready to depart for Mexico on short notice. The president has wisely shown that he does not desire to start intervention, but he is determined, however, to lay the cards on the table so that Mr. Wilson when he becomes president, if a crisis arises all he will have to do is to play them.

ADDITIONAL BRIEFS

Mrs. N. A. McCurdy will leave Monday for New Pine Creek where she will join her husband who is in business at that place. Dr. W. Hayden Fisk has leased their Lakeview property and will take up residence therein upon the return of Mrs. Fisk from Portland.

The Board of Supervisors of Madoc county has increased the bounty on rabbits in that county from 3 to 5 cents, and on squirrels from 1 cent to 3 cents. This was done out of recognition of the damage the pests incur to crops, and is a move of benefit to the farmers.

Mrs. Sarah E. Kellogg, of Los Angeles, who has been visiting the past few months here with her sister, Mrs. Jonas Norin, departed Monday morning on her return home. Mrs. Norin accompanied her as far as Alturas, returning yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. C. Mahan were made happy Tuesday morning by the arrival of seven pound baby girl in their home at the Mineral Springs bath house below town. Charley is as proud a parent over the second born as he was the first and has been kept very busy receiving congratulations.

E. H. Pagnello, the well known travelling man, is in Lakeview on his regular Spring trip. While it is generally considered to be "dull" throughout the country, Mr. Pagnello states that he has no complaint to make concerning trade conditions, and that business with him is fairly good.

O. L. Dunbar, dry goods clerk of the Lakeview Mercantile Company this week purchased a lot from H. W. Drenkle & Son on Lake street in the Sherlock addition. The property joins that of H. A. Funk, also of the Mercantile force, and both are contemplating erecting cottages this summer.

Prof. A. Rose, principal of the Alturas High School, accompanied the basketball team to Lakeview last week, and during his stay made a number of friends among the Lakeview people. He was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hawkins. The professor is a member of B.P.O. Elks, and announced his intention of being present at the dedication of the Heryford Bros. building.

The cost to the state of Oregon of the regular 40 day term of the 27th Legislative session was $65,000, as given in a published estimate on the 30th day. For every mile a legislator travels in going to the capitol and returning home the state pays him 15 cents. At the top of the list is Senator Thompson of Lakeview, who will draw about $179 for mileage, which amounts to more than his salary.

Sheriff W. B. Snider and mother returned Monday evening from Berkeley. They enjoyed rather an extended trip and visited different California points while away. Mrs. W. B. Snider has removed from the Boyes Springs to Berkeley where she is now living with her mother, Mrs. Geo. M. Jones, and sister, Miss Anna. Mr. Snider says she has recovered somewhat from her attack of rheumatism but fears that she will never be able to return to this high altitude to live.

Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Barnard, who came to Lakeview the first of December last, have returned to their home in Washington, D. C. Mr. Barnard came here on a transfer as clerk in the U. S. Land Office, but on arrival here he learned that he was a victim of tuberculosis, and the climate not proving beneficial he decided to return home. Mrs. Barnard performed the duties of clerk during most of their stay here, she being a very efficient stenographer and typist. While their acquaintance was not large here in Lakeview, yet those whom they did meet regarded them highly and regretted that it was necessary for them to leave.

Feast of Seven Tables

The Domestic Science Department of the Lakeview High School will give a supper at their rooms on Friday evening, February 28.

The supper will be on the order of a progressive meal. There being seven courses served at seven tables each table accommodating seven people and the people being allowed to remain at each table seven minutes. The courses will be carried out in colors and will be decorated accordingly.

This will probably be the only public function given to the public this year and in order to see the boys and girls of this department and to assist them financially you are cordially invited to be present. The number of tickets is limited to 98 and no more will be sold.

See the window at Thornton's drug store then pass inside and buy your ticket. The small sum of 50 cents pays the entire expense. No "Side Shows" or "things to sell." Supper begins at 7 o'clock.
