DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Lakeview Readers are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys. To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.
When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.
Backache and many kidney ills follow: Help the kidneys do their work. Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of severe cases.
Proof in the following:
Mrs. William Charley, Grape (St., Medford, Ore., says: "The public statement I gave in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in 1907 still holds good. I occasionally take this remedy and find that it keeps my kidneys in proper working order. A fall was the cause of kidney complaint in my case. The kidney secretions were unnatural and sometimes I had such acute pains in my back that I could hardly bend over. I did not sleep well and despite the use of plasters, liniments and remedies of various kinds, I continued to suffer. While in that condition, Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and procuring a supply, I commenced their use. In about two weeks I felt better and the contents of two boxes made me well. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many other people."

OREGON HONORS FAMOUS LEADER

From The Irish News
Not to be outdone by other states, the Oregon legislature on February 4 acted on the following resolution which was introduced by Representative Murnane:
"Whereas, from the establishment of the government of these United States, beginning with the Continental Congress, recorded from time to time in later Congresses and different State Legislatures, resolutions of sympathy and encouragement have been sent to the people of Ireland, the descendants of whom form and play such active and patriotic parts in our common history and common life of today in all things making to our country's good; therefore, be it
Resolved, by the House Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, that we heartily congratulate the Hon. John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish Parliamentary Party, and through him the people of Ireland and Great Britain upon the happy mutual understanding now reached between them, and that the bond of Legislative freedom for Ireland will be a strong link in the unity of the British Empire, and to the peace, good will and prosperity of all her people.
This joint resolution was passed unanimously by both Houses, and was greeted with prolonged cheers when the vote was announced. Five representatives and five Senators, including the Speaker of the House, delivered brilliant speeches in connection with its passage.

BUILDER OF THE MONITOR IS DEAD

From The Irish News
There is probably not one among our many readers who has not at some time or other read an account of the battle during the Civil War between the Union ship "Monitor" and the Confederate "Merrimac."
Edward O'Connell, chief constructor of the "Monitor" died the other day at his home in New York City at the age of 86. He was a native of Ireland and came to this country with his parents when quite young. For a time he studied engineering, and when the Federal Government set aside funds for the construction of the "Monitor" he was given entire charge of the work. The "cheese box on a raft," as the ship was called, was launched in exactly one hundred days after the keel had been laid, thus establishing a record in the engineering annals of that time.
Again his reputation was added to when he remodeled the "Catskill," another ship of the Monitor type, in two weeks.
For his valuable services to the Government at a time when such services were sorely needed, Mr. O'Connell was presented by Congress with a gold watch, and in addition was personally thanked by President Lincoln.
The funeral services were held from St. Joseph's church, New York city, and were largely attended.

Irish To Celebrate

From The Irish News
The Irish residents of Lake County are now making preparations for a card party and supper to be given at some one of the local halls here, if one can be obtained, or at the Catholic parsonage on the night of March 17, Saint Patrick's Day. The entertainment will be purely of a social character, and all of the Irish boys throughout the county are invited to attend. A good time is assured, and every effort should be made by all to be in attendance on that night.

The good old days are not dead yet. The mayor of a Nevada mining town went to Los Angeles the other night with the intention of spending money artistically, and before he had exhausted all the ordinary means he poured $1700 in gold on the sidewalk and invited everybody to scramble.

Burns, the county seat of Harney County is considering plans for the construction of a sewerage system for that place. Such a move is a commendable one for any town the size of Burns and it is to be hoped its citizens will work as a unit in bringing about the needed development.

The series of lectures being delivered each Wednesday evening during Lent at the local Catholic Church have been very well attended. Father Kern is dealing with the principal doctrines of faith in the Catholic religion in these sermons, and has proved himself to be an able, forceful and sincere speaker. The sermons begin at 8 o'clock each Wednesday evening, and are open to the public.

LIVE STOCK TALK.

Horses must be upended, have spirit and finish and be fast walkers.
Be sure the box for salt in the sheep quarters is kept filled.
Drop everything to help a horse or a cow that is in trouble, no matter whether it is your own or your neighbor's.
Farming on a business basis eliminates small mules just as it displaces small horses.
Beef cattle may be raised on many farms, and there are good reasons for raising them. Not the least of these is that they provide a means of building up the farm in fertility.
There are profits in raising good horses and mules as one of the features of farming. Get a few good mares and let them bring you a good income raising horses and mules.
Those who have silos full ofilage and winter feeding easy and satisfactory to the live stock.

WINTER PIG FEEDING.

An Illinois Farmer's Views on Best Method of Handling Swine.
The pigs found about many farms at this season of the year may be found under almost all conditions, writes an Illinois farmer in the Iowa Homestead. Everything, with the exception of those intended to be retained as breeding stock, should be ready for the market by the time the spring pigs arrive.
The more comfortable these young hogs are made the more easily will they gain. An animal of this kind should be fed all the food he can consume, and anything short of this is unprofitable. This simply means that the pigs should be given all they can eat and clean up readily twice a day. It is best never to allow any feed to be left in the trough from one feeding time till the next, as it will simply be a waste and of no benefit to the animals.
The question of feed is one of great moment. The available feed supply with a great many consists mostly of ear corn. More or less of the waste from vegetable and fruit collars can find its way to the pigpens to good advantage. Ear corn ground fine makes excellent feed for pigs and when mixed with an equal part of best quality of wheat bran, scalded or cooked if possible, and fed somewhat thick will be found one of the best growing and flesh forming rations. Oatmeal and barley may be added to very good advantage and the quality of the pork benefited.
The pigs as found in the different neighborhoods will vary very much in quality, and it is a good plan to cull out and market the ripest ones as they come on. This plan has the advantage of giving the owner some money to use, and also this gradual placing of the product on the market would avoid any dull conditions that a glut is most sure to entail.
Much of the ear corn can be fed as it is on the cob. I have always considered it best to mix a quantity of feed at a time and where possible dump in a lot of skim milk. This not only helps to make a very palatable feed, but also a very nutritious combination.
It is well to keep a plentiful supply of charcoal, ashes and salt in the pens at all times. A feature that is very necessary is to keep the pigs in a healthy condition, and these are of great benefit in maintaining the animals in such a state.
The pigs should be given dry and well ventilated quarters, which must be kept clean. Contrary to common belief, hogs have some habits which raise them above other domestic animals from the standpoint of cleanliness. For example, a hog will not sleep in its own filth unless compelled to do so. If part of the floor of the pen is raised and kept well bedded with straw, while the rest is not, all excrement will be left on the unbedded portion of the floor, and the bed itself will always be clean. All feeding and drinking places should be kept clean and the water supply pure.

Training and Feeding Oxen.

Experience has demonstrated that Devon oxen are to be preferred to those of other breeds, owing to the fact that they are more active, says Hoard's Dairyman. Oxen from the Hereford and Sussex breeds have also proved themselves very good workers. Grade steers make very good oxen, but are a little more refined than they would be if they were not castrated. It is a general practice to use a yoke where a team is used, harness being feasible only where single animals are to be hitched. The training cannot be begun too young, but as a rule they are broken as yearlings and not put to heavy work until two years old. They can be trained by yoking two steers and hitching them to a log or some such object to be pulled around in an open lot. To teach the steers "gee and haw," it is necessary in some instances to use a halter on one of the animals for a short time. As a usual practice oxen are fed on grain and hay varying in amount according to their size and their work.

Care of Swine.

Two things which should be avoided with swine in cold weather are, first, do not let them sleep in or upon heating manure, because they become warm and then rush into the cold air, frequently contracting colds, coughs or severe pulmonary diseases that are sometimes fatal; second, bed them well in dry quarters where there is no draft of air blowing across them.
