POET AS COUNTY JUDGE
 Blue Mountain Eagle, Canyon City: Within a stone's throw of this office is a dilapidated cabin. The lapse of years has stained the weather boards and rotted the foundation, and yet it stands. It once was the home of Grant county's first elective judge, the future Post of the Sierras, Cincinnati Heine Miller, known in the temple of fame as Joaquin Miller. "It looks natural, all but the wash on the line," said the poet during his visit here in 1907. In the files of this office is a copy of the City Journal published at Canyon City, September 6, 1869. In its advertising columns appears the advertisement, "C. B. Miller, attorney at law." In the news columns is the story of an Indian scare when the people assembled to protect themselves from the ravages of the Indian war paint. "Miller locked his office, put the key in his pocket and stayed inside" the story reads. Those were the days when Miller was unknown to fame. He was an ordinary citizen of Canyon City and his contemporaries here refused to recognize his fame or genius. His life was a romance, wild, turbulent and unrestrained as the conditions from which he came. He left here on a borrowed horse that he never returned, and made his home with Indians, highwaymen and adventurers. But during the years of his nomadic life the spark of genius smoldered to burst into flame and fame, when the storehouse of experience was filled with facts, which the genius of his imagination might crystallize into immortal verse. His death will only add luster to his fame, and while his old compeers of Canyon City sleep beneath unmarked mounds, and his living contemporaries regard him now as they new him then his fame will go on and the works of Joaquin Miller will be a heritage bequeathed to American literature.

Senator Chamberlain at the last minute refused to recommend the appointment of Thomas McCusker as postmaster of Portland. This action is taken as probable that every Oregon man nominated by Taft at this Congress will fail or confirmation and in every such instance the office to which appointment was made will be filled by democrats.

The bill to abolish the office of District Attorney and to create that of County Attorney, and which awaits the pleasure of the Governor, provides for a salary of $1800 yearly for County Attorney in Lake. This amendment was tacked on before it passed the Senate, the original bill providing a salary of $1500.

Attorney E. S. J. McAllister was sentenced by Circuit Judge Kavanaugh to from one to five years in the penitentiary, following his conviction by a jury last week as a member of the vice clique. McAllister's bail pending an appeal to the Supreme Court was fixed at $5000, when he furnished.

Circle Social

Last evening March 5, a social was given by Solace Circle No. 374, Women of Woodcraft at the I. O. O. F. Hall.

After the regular session of the Circle the social began in good earnest. All had been warned to prepare for a "Har' Times" party and there was plenty of evidence that the warning was heeded. The Lakeview Band had been engaged for the occasion and the dancers in attendance did not wait for an invitation to trip the "light fantastic," for the band music was sufficient invitation.

The music was simply splendid and awakened in the music loving people a desire to fall in line and keep step to the music.

The Band is worthy of the greatest encouragement in the progress they have made and the Circle desires many thanks for this first introduction to public recognition. After dancing an hour or so a splendid repast was served by a Circle committee and the evening was passed most enjoyably. An Invited Guest.

NEWSPAPER MAN VISITS LAKEVIEW

S. C. Graves is Looking Over Lake County Journalistic Fields

Klamath Falls Herald: S. C. (Chap) Graves, pioneer printer and newspaper man of Southern Oregon, left recently for Lake county, with the intention of making a thorough investigation of the northern part of the county. In case he finds a suitable location, he intends to establish a newspaper.

The railroad activities in Lake county listens good for the northern part of the county, according to Graves, and he looks for much development around Silver Lake and Paisley. It is his intention to be fully established by the time the country is opened by a railroad.

Graves is a practical printer and a capable newspaper man. The Herald wishes him every success in his new field of endeavor.

Mr. Graves arrived in Lakeview Saturday evening and is spending a few days here looking over the newspaper situation. He received a warm welcome from his many friends at this place.

Seven Tables Dinner

The "seven table supper" given by the High School last Saturday evening was much more of a success than was generally anticipated, that is judging it from an artistic point of view. The tables were decorated in different colors, and the ladies could not decide which was the more beautiful. The first was canary, the second white and then followed the green table, brown, orange, pink, and red, the latter being the sherbet booth. The courses included toast and cheese, roast pork and egg sandwich, Boston brown bread, baked beans and coffee, Cake and custard, cake and tea, and sherbet.

The young ladies served admirably, while the young men in the pantry showed their excellent training by "dishing-up" in a neat and tasty manner, there being no "sloppy" work whatever. Could a restaurant in any city give such prompt and efficient service, it would no doubt be unable to accommodate the patronage it would receive, inasmuch as there was no waiting, everything going with clock-like regularity, and what is more important there was no confusion, although if there had been, the story would no doubt have been different. The affair reflected much credit upon Mrs. Gardner, inasmuch as the efficient training of the pupils is due to her untiring efforts.

Observe St. Patrick

At the Masonic Hall, on the evening of March 17, the Irish residents of Lake County will celebrate Saint Patrick's day in a fitting manner, with a program to consist of Irish music, songs, dances and speeches on the life and teaching of Saint Patrick.

After the entertainment and eulogies a banquet will be served in the Banquet room of the Masonic "temple." The committee in charge of the affair is working hard to make it a success, and hopes that all Irishmen and the Irish women of this country will be present to do honor to the memory of their patron, Saint Patrick.

Tourist Circle

The Tourist Chautauqua Circle will meet Monday, March 10, with Mrs. W. R. Bernard. Program: Roll call; current events; "Paris of the Revolution," The Chautauqua Reading Journal in Paris, VI, Mrs. L. D. Hoy. "Drama Through the Centuries," Smiths, VII, Mrs. G. W. Johnson. "The Century of Discussion, the 18th," Smith's, VIII, Mrs. Chas. Reynolds.

NEW PINE CREEK ITEMS

(By Staff Correspondent)
 Rev. and Mrs. Burnett and son departed for their new home Tuesday, a. m.

J. C. Freeman one of our city councilmen was a subscriber for the Examiner recently.

Lewis Lund one of the successful poultry men here, captured 5 prizes recently on his thoroughbred Rhode Island red chickens at the Nevada State fair.

Miss Simmons entertained a party of friends at six o'clock dinner last Saturday evening.

We are glad to note of the recovery of Mrs. J. C. Freeman from her recent illness.

The Ladies Aid was royally entertained at the home of Mrs. L. Lund last Friday afternoon. The devotional services were conducted in the usual manner by the President, after which the re-election of officers took place. The hostess had prepared a delicious luncheon and was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. Taggart. There was an unusual large attendance, and a number of visitors. Each and every one speak in the highest terms of the delightful way in which they were entertained and hope the event may soon be repeated.

Lillian K. Malcolm, the lady mining prospector, recently arrived here to be ready for opening of the High Grade this spring. She talked with a number of people in San Francisco who expect to do a great deal toward developing the mines here. She is the only lady who ever prospected in Death Valley. She is extensively interested in the mines here and says they have a great future in store.

Mrs. Gardner of Lakeview expects to make an interesting talk here in the near future on Domestic Science. The date will be set later.

Everyone was so delighted with the pictures, Saturday night, entitled "Lucile." Mr. Miller's singing was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Chautauqua Circle

The Lakeview Chautauqua Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. J. D. Venator, Monday, March 10 at 7:30 o'clock. Program: Roll call; current events:

"Nicholas II, the Russian Czar," Chautauquan, chapter VI, Mrs. E. D. Everett.

"Pairs of the Revolution," Chautauquan, chapter VI, Mrs. T. V. Hall.

"Mornings with Masters of Art," Powers, chapter XIII, Mrs. J. D. Venator.

Silver Lake Items

(Silver Lake Leader)
 Jas. Hayes has gone to Crook county to close a deal for a large ranch and a bunch of cattle on Crooked river.

Elmer Graves returned from a trip to Crescent and Bend Monday. He had been hauling some crummers and his luggage. He says there is still about twenty inches of snow at the lava butte between La Pine and Bend.

Last Saturday morning the thermometer registered 3 degrees below zero. Sunday it turned warmer, and Monday about an inch of snow fell. Wednesday morning another inch fell. The barometer is very low, indicating more storms.

A few days ago J. W. Reeder received a letter from a brother he had not seen or heard of for over thirty years, who lives in Foss, Oklahoma. He happened to get hold of a Leader and saw J. W.'s name and then wrote. He expects to come to Oregon in the spring.

Wes Martin came to town last Sunday from Embury's sawmill where he has been cutting sawlogs, with two assistants he cut 3,033 logs in 45 days. They will average about 400 feet and will cut nearly a million and a quarter feet of lumber. The country is evidently developing for this lumber will all be used in this immediate vicinity.

While in Lakeview recently Jas. Reeder, wife and little daughter, were taken violently ill, and called in Dr. Smith, who pronounced it ptomaine poison, which upon investigation proved to be caused by eating head cheese procured from a local butcher shop. Immediate treatment relieved Jim and the little girl, but it was several hours before Mrs. Reeder was out of danger. The others who ate the head cheese were also slightly affected.

Paisley Pick-ups

(Chautauquan Press)
 Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Corrier arrived in Paisley Thursday morning from their southern trip.

Clifford Smith of New Pine Creek, Oregon is here at the present time visiting with his father-in-law, John Drumm, Sr.

Maurice Murphy purchased the building in which he now runs his saloon from J. D. Farra the latter part of last week. The consideration was $1,500.

J. N. Carroll, the sheepman of Bette Oregon, was brought to town Tuesday suffering from appendicitis. He is now under the care of Doctor Ihayer and is said to be improving.

E. O. Lamb returned last Saturday from a four days visit to Lakeview. At least that is the report that he brings back with him, so we will have to believe that he was there anyway. He reports a most enjoyable visit to the county seat.

Fred Foster is preparing to put down a well on his desert ranch in the near future. Mr. Moore, the auto man, is expecting to do the work of drilling. Mr. Moore has a first class drilling rig, and is ready for business anywhere he is wanted.

A. G. Clarkson returned Sunday evening after a business trip to Kansas. He reports business conditions very quiet. There are a large number of people in the Central States interested in this country. It is certain we can expect a large number of people in the spring and more in the fall. He returned a bigger booster for Paisley than ever and is contented to make it his permanent future home.

The Paisley Commercial Club is daily receiving many inquiries from all parts of the country as to the resources of this part of Oregon. It looks as though there would be a large immigration to Oregon this spring.
