THE GLORIOUS DAY

Next Sunday will be Easter—the earliest Easter the world has known for a century.

Easter is the Emancipation anniversary of the Christian world—the one day of all the year, next to advent that is the most glorious and worthy of signal remembrance. It brings with it a new inspiration of faith in God and of perfect assurance in His love for the children of men.

Every swelling bud and sprouting leaf reminds us that the life which conquers death in nature's realm has its parallel in the Resurrection—that great central fact of Christian—in which we have the assurance of our own spiritual revivification. Christ in us becomes the vitalizing force which lifts us from the darkness of sin and death into light and life everlasting.

This old world of ours needs more Easter cheer. It needs to realize that the risen Christ and the empty tomb have for the whole race a grander and higher significance than any other event since time began. It needs to feel that the defeat of King Death and the triumph of King Jesus over the grave, have thrown open the gates of life and happiness to all who will enter therein. It needs to grasp the imperishable truth that, when the Son of God burst the bars of death and the grave, he revealed the way of life eternal to all who accept him and follow in his footsteps. His resurrection was the divine pledge of our own, and the soul that rests upon Him has already risen from the deadness of sin and begun the life everlasting. For such, the grave is not an abiding place, but the vestibule of the greater and nobler life beyond.

Therefore, at this joyous Easter time, when all nature is rejoicing, let our own hearts join in the songs of praise and gladness. Over all the earth wherever the name of Jesus is known, it is glad emancipation time: 'Tis the festival of all creation. Christ has risen, who gave creation birth. Christ died and we must die. There is an hour in the unseen future known to God, but unknown to us, when our friends and kindred will say of us, one by one, "He is gone." "She is not here." But Christ arose again from the dead, and so shall we. We shall live again. Not in this poor world of change and loss but in a far more beautiful one, into which death cannot enter.

Because Christ lives, we shall live. This is the joy of Easter, and this is why when Lent is over and winter is past and spring has returned, Christian life reaches its highest water mark on the shore of time in an exultant alleluia that reverberates around the globe.

FARMERS vs. SPECULATORS

In the opinion of a party of railroad men who have just made a trip by automobile through Central Oregon, the need of this section of the state is the hard working farmer. Considering the benefits of the state at large there is no call for the man who is looking for an investment, except as he has the capital for the purchase of land suitable for a farm backed by the muscle and the will to cultivate it unless, perchance, it shall be someone with money who is willing to finance the farmer, at a low rate of interest.

If capital could only be brought to some systematic organization for the purpose of seeing out the farmer who is needed in Central Oregon, and establishing him on a basis that would give his good will and industry a slow, capital in that event would serve the double purpose of profit to itself and benefit to the state. Nothing short of an ambitious and broad-minded philanthropist can accomplish this, and even then to keep the speculator out and prevent him from reaping unearned fruits would be a difficult task.

During the next twenty-five years there will be no lack of available men for the farms of Central and Eastern Oregon, and the development of those sections will proceed the more rapidly if some policy can be devised for utilizing on the basis of the small holding well cultivated. There is an opportunity awaiting some genius who can propose the proper plan. It needs no demonstration that the land speculator does nothing for the development of the country, or at the best, nothing that is worth the while. The gist of the new procedure must be to discourage this class so far as possible and to bid vigorously for the man who will make the soil produce.

DARNELL'S BAND

The character of music furnished by Darnell's band at the Antlers Club dance last Friday evening as well as Sunday afternoon is conclusive evidence that the boys are "making good." When one stops to think that this aggregate of young musicians but started under their leader a few months ago the result is amazing. The music they afford is not of the minstrel show brassy type but is distinctively of the higher class, and music that commands appreciation. Mr. Darnell and the boys have atained this accomplishment in an unpretentious way and are deserving of all the credit. He nor they have asked nothing. They have bought their instruments, paid their own bills and brought about their advancement unaided. At these two appearances they have shown what they have been doing during their evenings of study and practice, and incidentally convinced many skeptics. The boys are not perfect of course, but they have demonstrated that they have the metal for the making of a band of which the town may well be proud and it is time they were deserving of support, both moral and financial. A band is a splendid asset to any town, but Lakeview has reached the size where it is a necessity. The business men should subscribe to maintain a monthly salary for Mr. Darnell, and thus while the opportunity is at hand, permanently secure his services for directing this band which he has so creditably started.

POLLUTED DIVIDENDS

The investigation of the wages being paid girl employes by the large mail order concerns now in progress in Chicago has at least brought to light one vital question. And that is, can you afford for moral reasons, if for no other, to end your money to glutton mail order houses? The large concerns such as Sears Roebuck & Co., Montgomery Ward & Co., Marshall Field, firms which have acknowledged millions of dollars in dividends yearly, do not pay their thousand of girl employes a sufficient wage to support them so they can live a moral life—and thus are dragged through the shames of prostitution.

These mail order barons profusely illustrate cheap and inferior articles in their catalogues, stick on a cheap price and lure many people living in the rural districts to send them their money. Their low prices are offset in two distinct ways—low wages and goods inferior in quality. Pick out any standard brands of merchandise from these catalogues like you will find in local stores and if they have them you will find the price, plus the freight every bit as much and usually more than you will have to pay at home for the same article. Do not help in the degradation of young girls who are slaving for the mail order houses, many on a daily wage of less than one dollar. Boycott such institutions and spend your money at home.

All honor to W. P. and J. D. Heryford! Every citizen of Lake County is proud of them, and especially we of Lakeview. Coming here in 1871 the two brothers engaged in stockraising and by close attention to business accumulated many thousands of cattle and horses as well as large land holdings. A few years ago they disposed of their immense herds and land holdings, and instead of leaving and taking their wealth to some other clime they have invested heavily in the surrounding country, and as a fitting climax erected the handsome structure that was dedicated last Friday evening. It is a fitting monument to their industry and enterprise and one of which we are all especially proud. And not alone is the honor due the two brothers, but to their families as well, for in the trying times of pioneer days it is doubtful if they could have succeeded without that helpful aid and guidance which all find so useful in the hour of our greatest trials.

It is really amusing to witness the assinine efforts of the Democratic press to belittle the work of the recent Legislative Assembly. And the smaller the cur the bigger noise he makes, and then to see the other little feists turn and follow up and nearly yelp their heads off in order to attract attention is laughable. Their silly vapors and twaddle are disgusting in the extreme, but are no doubt pleasing to people of the same ilk, although it is doubtful if anyone is able to discern anything but harm in a continual "knocking" of the work of the Legislature. The Thompson bill for the extension of the work of the Oregon Agricultural College, if that had been the only piece of work accomplished would repay many times over the entire cost of the session. Let the galled fables cease.

In the early eighties a bunch of Central Oregon beef cattle was sold in Portland at a uniform price of $10 per head. A few days ago four beef steers from Pendleton brought $600 in the Portland market. The four steers weighed 8454 pounds. From $10 to $150 a head for beef steers tells the story of the high cost of living as well as the settlement of the west and passing of the free range. Cattle and sheep must now be raised on deeded land and feed put up for their use during the winter. In the old days they took shelter in the shadow of a barbed wire fence and pawed the snow away to eat at the bunch grass underneath. Thus is solved one of the problems of the high price of meats.

Joseph N. Teal of Portland who was one of the first slated for job of Secretary of Interior in President Wilson's cabinet has declined the appointment as Assistant Secretary of the Interior. It is understood that pressure is being brought to bear to induce Mr. Teal to reconsider. His western friends are very anxious to see him accept as it would most likely place him in line to accomplish good work for his home state.

Aside from a few soreheads and chronic "kickers," it is a consensus of opinion that the work of the recent Legislative Assembly resulted in the accomplishment of more good than any other for a number of years past. Much was done along educational lines, while the temperance people seem to think the millennium is close at hand. Many laws recommended by Governor West were enacted and as a whole no doubt much good will result.

With the reports of the disastrous storms and cyclones that have been sweeping over the middle west and south during the past week, which resulted in loss of life and thousands of dollars worth of property, one rather appreciates this home atmosphere even though we do have a few mild snow storms.

Governor West, State Game Warden Finley and George Kelly, the state game and fish commissioner, are hunting cougars and wildcats on the head waters of the Willamette and Umpqua rivers. We imagine this rather tame for the Governor after just going up against state legislature.

CHANGES MADE IN AUTOMOBILE LAW

Part Of License Fees Will Go Into the General Road Fund

Three important amendments were made to the motor vehicle laws of the state by the recent legislature, and they will become effective June 4. Probably the most important is the Burgess bill, which provides that the balance of the automobile fund, after the deduction of the expense of administering the automobile department, shall be apportioned among the counties of the state in proportion to what they contributed in license fees. When turned over to the county treasurers of the various counties the money is to become a part of the general road fund, and be used by the county in the building of good roads.

After the deduction of the expense of administration there was a balance in this fund last year of $22,318.08. It will exceed that by a considerable sum this year, because the expense of administration will be lower now that the automobile department is established, and because the registration will run higher. It is figured that the expense of administering the department this year will not exceed 20 per cent, while last year it was about 25 per cent of the total amount collected from licenses.

Another important amendment is that allowing manufacturers and dealers to use demonstration numbers. Heretofore a dealer in order to comply with the law was required to take out a license for every machine demonstrated. Under this amendment he can secure the first set of demonstration numbers for ten dollars, and additional sets for a fee of $2.50. Provision is made that these numbers must not be used on private cars of dealers or on cars hired out.

The third amendment relieves the county clerks of recording the list of automobile numbers issued by their counties and forwarded to them by the secretary of state. The amendment provides that it shall be sufficient for them to file a copy of the list.

According to the Cedarville Record the Provident Investment Co., of Los Angeles has surrendered to Dr. W. H. Patterson the large ranch in Surprise Valley it purchased from the doctor last Summer. No reason is given for the company falling down on the deal.

MCARTHUR LAUDS OUR LEGISLATORS

Speaker Said that Central Oregon Was Ably Represented

In reviewing the work of the recent legislature, Speaker C. N. McArthur, before leaving Salem for his home in Portland, paid a high tribute to Senator Thompson of Crook, Klamath and Lake counties and Representatives Forbes and Smith of Crook, Grant, Klamath and Lake counties.

"Central Oregon was very ably represented," said Speaker McArthur. "Senator Thompson is one of the clearest and ablest men that ever sat in the senate, and I can say the same thing about Representatives Forbes and Smith, whose work I watched with a special interest during the session. Forbes did excellent work on the committees on the revision of laws and irrigation, and Smith on the committees of ways and means and irrigation. The success of the appropriation bill for the relief of the Columbia Southern project was due to these three gentlemen, and I am certain that their constituents appreciate the excellent services rendered. I speak particularly of Forbes and Smith because they were in the house, and their work came under my personal observation, and I wish to say that no men stood higher or accomplished more during the session."

"The recent session will go down as the best in the history of the state, as the record of constructive legislation speaks for itself. Carping newspapers and cheap demagogues may rant and rave, but the general public understands the animus behind such criticisms, and will judge the legislature of the results achieved."

Don Metzker had the misfortune Sunday evening to be kicked by a horse which almost proved fatal. Dr. Amsden was called and had to administer to the deep scalp wound he received.

Messrs. Speer and Van Loan of Alturas spent a day or two this week in Pine Creek on business.

The Ettaconian Class of the Union S. S. entertained the joyful workers of the Baptist S. S. with a St. Patrick's party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Carr. The decorations with the green and white were very pretty while the games etc. were of the nature the event was intended. After delicious refreshments were served, the young folks departed feeling they had been highly entertained.

The Baptist Church will give an Easter program next Sunday A.M. and the Union S. S. will give theirs in the evening at 7.30 p. m. All are cordially invited to attend both services.

Albert Griffith returned home from Rochester, Nev. last week.

Misses Etta and Netta Vinyard have returned after quite an extended visit over in Surprise Valley.

Mrs. Alvin Sorrick has moved into the Wise rooming house to take charge of things while they are down at Fairport.

Quite a nice time was enjoyed by all at the St. Patrick's ball in Wendt's hall despite the inclemency of the weather. Quite a number attended.

One of the nicest lectures was given here at the Opera House last Friday afternoon by Mrs. Gardner of Lakeview, entitled "Our Girls." It is something every mother should have heard but as the date was not very well advertised only a few were fortunate enough to attend. The demonstration in Domestic Science at the home of Mrs. R. Wade to the 8th grade girls both in Oregon and California was instructive and beneficial and were thoroughly enjoyed. We truly hope she can arrange to be with us again in the near future.
