INFORMATION THAT IS BENEFICIAL

The Portland Commercial Club has decided to continue promotion work for the next three years. There was a time when booklets and descriptive literature of the west consisted largely of glittering generalities but the commercial clubs of the state and the railroads doing promotion work realized that conservative and truthful statements were the most effective in securing the class of home-seekers desired. What Oregon needs is not the man who comes here to make easy money or to look for a job or even to go into business or a profession already well represented, but the man who will go out on the land, who will wear overalls, milk cows, raise hogs and become an actual producer and a developer of the country.

If every commercial club in the state could secure from farmers lists of former neighbors who are still residing in the east or middle west and who are planning to come west the literature could be sent to those actually interested, and not to mere curiosity seekers who apply on a postal card for a booklet. The ideal descriptive booklet from the standpoint of the man who wants information about the west is an account of what some other farmer has actually accomplished in Oregon.

Oregon has room and need for thrifty tillers of the soil. She does not need more people to come to her cities and every effort of the promotion department of the commercial clubs of the state should be centered on the development of our farming lands.

COOPERATION

What is the parents' place in the public school?

They should be assistant superintendents, says L. R. Alderman, whom the school directors have elected superintendent of Portland schools. They should go to school with their children. They should become acquainted with the principal and the teachers.

But acquaintance with instructors alone will not suffice. Is the educational system fitting the boys and the girls for life work of usefulness? If not, the superintendent-elect truly observes that an offense is being committed, against them and against society. The problem of today, he comments, is to make the human race better. The solution of the problem lies in the proper rearing and training of children.

Unaided by intelligent understanding on the part of parents as to what should be taught and how closely it fits to life itself, no educational system, no number of educators, no amount of equipment can produce success. If the training is to be fitted to future occupation, a study of the child as an individual must be made. He should be encouraged in doing what he naturally does best and likes best to do. This means that the parents must talk over with the teachers the "bents" they have discovered in their children. A plan of every-day, friendly, study, co-operation is involved. The instructor takes a proper place of importance in the community. The parent takes a proper place of importance in the school.

How an error once started persists. The newspapers describe Woodrow Wilson as the 28th president of the United States. He is really the 27th. The error arose from the affection of somebody who started the practice of designating Grover Cleveland as the 22nd and 24th president of the United States, just as if he had been two different men because his administration happened to be not consecutive. Just 26 other men have been presidents besides Woodrow Wilson. This surely makes him the 27th. He is entering on the 32nd presidential term.

During the last two years the state has collected $140,000 in inheritance taxes, which is an increase of $25,000 over the preceding two years, according to State Treasurer Thomas B. Kay. Mr. Kay has inaugurated a system of supervision over estates which has never been done in this State before, and he asserts that it will be the means of materially increasing the amount of inheritance taxes collected during the next two years. His office is now represented at the appraisals of all large estates.

A carbon filament incandescent lamp, kept burning inside an automobile engine hood when it is standing idle in a garage in winter will prevent the radiator from freezing and keep the engine warm enough to be easily cranked.

NEW PINE CREEK ITEMS

(By Staff Correspondent)

Since the ice on the lake has been breaking up, the pier at Fairport built out in the lake was put out of commission.

Henry Wendt has opened his photograph gallery this week and any one wishing work done should call on him for prices and quality.

The ladies aid met at the home of Mrs. Robt. Wade last Friday where a most enjoyable afternoon was spent. After the usual business meeting, a short program was rendered, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cocoa, coffee, three kinds of cake, olives, and deviled eggs. After arrangements were completed it was decided to hold a May-day bazaar in the opera house. Everyone's cordially invited.

Mrs. Carr entertained Mesdames Lund, Messrs. Taggart, Berry and Thomas Sunday afternoon.

Last week the town of New Pine Creek filed a formal complaint with the Railroad Commission of Oregon, against the N.-C.-O. Railway praying for the establishment of a freight and passenger station on the California-Oregon, State line in Lake County and asked for a hearing at New Pine Creek.

Est Mulkey of Alturas, the Modoc Co. Assessor, spent several days in New Pine Creek last week.

Mr. V. L. Snelling of the Fairport Inn while burning off some tules let the fire spread too far and destroyed about 30 tons of hay for Hervford and Green and about 4 tons for Butler and Moffitt.

Paisley Pick-ups

(Chewaucan Press)

Vancel Morgan had his usual good luck, coming to town last week. His team ran off on the way and scattered his property rather promiscuously along the route.

The ZX boys have returned from their drive to the desert with about 7,000 head of cattle. They report a good supply of water on the desert and plenty snow in the hills.

The rock dam in the Chewaucan River above town went out during the recent high water and is giving the ranchers south of town some concern as they have no water in their ditches. Repairs will be made at once.

S. A. Mushen has about finished his work on the survey of the Chewaucan valley and the irrigation ditches taken from it. He has been here the past week making out papers for the water applicants for whom he has been doing the work.

Jesse Nelson has rented the Farrs building which is situated just south of the Livery barn and will open a real estate office there the 15th of April. He is Secretary-Treasurer of the Anna River Land Water and Power Company and it is his intention to make a specialty of their holdings at the north end of Summer Lake.

Lewis H. Irving as attorney from Madras, Oregon, is here this week looking after his desert claim on Summer Lake and also on business connected with the Hale well drill case. He holds a bill of sale of the entire outfit which was recently attached by Virgil Conn, who was of the opinion that it belonged to Ivan Hale as he was operating it at that time.

Benson Gives Views

Klamath Northwestern: During a recess period in Circuit Court, Judge H. L. Benson relieved himself of some of his views in regard to liquor questions and general degeneracy.

Within 20 years in the opinion of the judge, there will not be a saloon legally in operation in the United States, and within a few decades all the world will be "dry."

"There is a move on among the people of all the world that will slowly but surely wipe out the liquor habit from all nations of the earth," declared the judge.

Mr. R. M. Richardson took exception to the judge's speech and cited Germany as a drinking nation and brought on the point that the Teutons are probably the strongest nations in the world. But the judge, quoting from a speech of Emperor William of Germany, stated that drinking by Germans gradually is seeping the life and strength from the nation.

Judge Benson also said that the Kaiser has made repeated attempts to induce the Reichstag to pass laws prohibiting the use of alcoholic beverages in all of the countries controlled by the German empire.
