DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Lakeview People to Neglect

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease, follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with the reliable and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in this locality.

N. Marchand, Warden Ave., Klamath Falls, Ore., says: "About two years ago I first noticed symptoms of kidney trouble. My back pained me intensely and I was obliged to urinate many times at night, owing to frequent passages of the kidney secretions. Often my back was so weak that I had to quit work. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and I began using them. They restored my kidneys to a normal condition, stopping the pain in my back. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for my cure and highly recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

BANKING SYSTEM CHANGE PROPOSED

La Follette Will Introduce Bill on Monetary Commission Plan

Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin is soon to introduce a bill to remedy the defects in our banking system, said to have been prepared with the counsel of William A. Scott, director of the School of Commerce of the University of Wisconsin, and E. E. Garrison of the Wisconsin State Journal. The Progressive has discussed this bill with friends in Congress, and reports from Washington are to the effect that it follows the lines of the plan advanced by the National Monetary Commission, with these important changes:

The stock of the central reserve agency is to be owned by the public instead of by the banks. The Government is to control the stock ownership, with power to draw stock and recall it whenever there seems danger of selfish control by a small group of men.

The central reserve agency shall base its loans solely on commercial paper, and shall do no stock exchange business.

These probably are not the only changes from the so-called "Aldrich bill," but they are reported as the essential changes. They commend themselves to the good sense of students of the monetary question. Senator LaFollette and his associates recognize the sound economic principles of the Monetary Commission's plan, and are evidently making a sincere and thoughtful attempt to remedy its defects. Whether or not the bill is adopted it will afford a valuable basis for study and criticism.

Dead Laws Repealed

Six hundred and thirty-eight sections of Lord's Oregon Laws were repealed by the recent Legislature, according to a check made by Speaker McArthur. While a number of them were repealed by acts passed taking their place, the most of them represent dead matter in the code.

This breaks all records in the repealing of dead laws. Speaker McArthur prepared many of these bills and had them introduced by members. The repealing of these sections is regarded as one of the most important features of the session.

Support for the University of Oregon in the coming referendum fight is coming from all quarters of the state. An organization has been formed to urge support for the State University and it is expected by those enlisted in the movement that the appropriation for the institution by the Legislature will be approved when the matter is put to vote.

THE REASON FOR PUBLIC MARKETS

"Will Lower Cost of Living" Is Universal Cry.

BUT ARE THEY SUCCESSFUL?

Not Under Present Conditions, Says Economy Expert—The Ultimate Consumer Must Be the Customer Instead of the Jobber or Commission Man.

Many cities and towns are clamoring for a public market. For what reason? What is a public market expected or supposed to do? "Lower the cost of living," is the unanimous reply.

Is this result attained? Has the cost of living been lowered in any of the cities which have public markets? And, if so, the prices of what commodities have been lowered, and in what months?

The cost of living will be lowered through market channels when the ultimate consumer is the customer at the market and when the selling is done by the originator or producer. That is the end at which the public market is aimed, but which it has not yet generally hit. At the present time the consumer is not doing his own marketing from the producer. He is, in the greatest number of cases, buying from the huckster, who buys from the jobber or commission man, who buys from the farmer. Between the price the producer gets and the price the consumer pays there is the first transportation cost to get the product to the jobber, the jobber's operation expense and profits, his transportation to the retailer and the retailer's expense and profits.

But a moment! Some argue that when the farmer backs his wagon to the curb at the market and the consumer buys the end has been reached. That is quite true and most happily so. But for how many months is this? In the northern climes it is for June.

SAN ANTONIO'S MARKET. (Courtesy of American City.)

July, August, September and (for fruits) October. During the other months the consumer is at the mercy of those before mentioned profit takers. What is the remedy?—For it must not be understood for a moment that the market cannot be made to achieve its rightful end.

First, it is my belief that no commission men or retailers should be allowed space in the markets for the sale of products which can be offered by the producer at retail during the months when he is producing; second, I do not believe the consumer should be denied the opportunity of buying in out of season months from some one as near the producer as it is possible to get; third, I do not believe in the employment of a market master merely because he is a political henchman or ward heeler or because he is the brother-in-law of some one's cousin.

We shall make our public market the place where the producer and the consumer actually get together for purposes of sale and purchase. We shall allow no middlemen. We shall ship in all products grown in other territory which are demanded or are out of season. We shall keep in touch with producers in every part of the country. And we shall employ a market master who is a business executive, paying him a salary that is commensurate. Here would be the result:

When goods are in season the producer and the consumer are brought together in actuality. When goods must be shipped in from a distance the market master will have got in touch with the producer and will import goods direct from that producer.

The genius who will weld the producers of food into one great association and who will then operate public markets in every city will come some of these days, and with his coming will come the swan song of the non-producing profit taker, who will fall back where he ought to be—in the great, God blessed class of producers from the soil. And in that day, when a more stable market shall have been created, there will go back to the land myriads of those who are today the tollers in the city whom we call the "other half."—J. F. Carter in American City.

BUTTER MUST BE PROPERLY LABELED

Weight and Producer's Name Necessary on Each Square

The following ruling on the branding of dairy butter has been sent out by J. D. Mickle, Oregon dairy and food commissioner, for the guidance of dairymen:

The statutes regulating the manufacture and sale of butter provide for the branding of creamery butter, but not for the branding of dairy butter except that each roll or square must be plainly marked 16 ounces full weight or 32 ounces full weight. We find some dairy butter that is not so marked, and we also find some that is short weight.

We would be glad to hold the manufacturer responsible for the misbranding, and also for the short weight, but in the absence of any name and address on the butter so as to positively identify the manufacturer, we cannot do so. The following ruling is therefore made:

All dairy butter offered or exposed for sale will be considered misbranded if it does not have plainly marked on each roll or square the words "Dairy Butter," "16 ounces full weight" or "32 ounces full weight," and the name and address of the manufacturer. Any person offering or exposing for sale dairy butter not branded in compliance with this ruling will be prosecuted under the statutes provided for the branding of food products.

FOUND A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

"I suffered with rheumatism for two years and could not get my right hand to my mouth for that length of time," writes Lee L. Chapman, Mapleton, Iowa. "I suffered terrible pain so I could not sleep or lie still at night. Five years ago I began using Chamberlain's Liniment and in two months I was well and have not suffered with rheumatism since." Tariff Bill Favored

The Underwood tariff bill has been proclaimed by the Democratic party as its answer to its platform pledge to reduce the tariff downward. The bill was passed by the house last week the vote being 281 to 131, five Democrats voting against the bill and two Republicans voting for it.

In the house adjournment will be taken three days at a time, beginning this week, until June 1st.

Will Use Club

President Wilson is also apt to use the big stick. Angered by threats of manufacturers to close their factories when the tariff bill becomes a law because, they say, they "cannot longer operate profitably under its provisions," he has declared, if necessary, to use a club. The department of commerce proposes to act if manufacturers reduce wages and curtail operations, assigning responsibility to the low tariff. The president has ordered Secretary Redfield to investigate all such cases. A fund of $100,000 will be placed at his disposal, and later it will be increased to $1,000,000, if necessary to get the facts and figures.

LOOK TO YOUR PLUMBING

You know what happens in a house in which the plumbing is in poor condition—everybody in the house is liable to contract typhoid or some other fever. The digestive organs perform the same functions in the human body as the plumbing does in the house, and they should be kept in first class condition all the time. If you have any trouble with your digestion take Chamberlain's Tablets and you are certain to get quick relief. For sale by all dealers.
