SOUTHERN PACIFIC WILL ISSUE NOTES

Many Improvements and Extensions Planned for Western Lines

The California Railroad Commission granted the Southern Pacific Company authority to issue two-year collateral trust notes to the amount of $30,000,000.

The notes are to carry 5 per cent interest and the commission orders a minimum selling price of 97 1/2. The proceeds from the sale of the notes are to be used in betterments and extensions over the company's lines, particularly on the Pacific Coast. The amount allotted for the Pacific system is $11,856,540—at present.

The note issue forms part of the $48,000,000 budget which the company has prepared to take care of its additions, betterments and extensions during the year 1913. The budget for the fiscal year, starting July 1st of this year, is yet undetermined. The Southern Pacific submitted to the commission a statement showing surplus earnings for the year ending June 30, 1912, of $21,603,000. The company also furnished an estimate of the surplus earnings for the year ending June 30, 1913, of $21,855,000.

HOT LAKE UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Hot Lake, in Union County, one of the favorite resorts of Eastern Oregon, and renowned for the healing qualities of its waters, has recently changed management. A large syndicate assumed control on Monday June 16th, and Dr. G. W. Tape, who was formerly in charge, again assumes the position of manager. Since leaving Hot Lake in 1904, he has had charge of Arrowhead Springs in Southern California, but was induced to return to Oregon.

The entire institution will be renovated, necessary alterations made, and especial attention paid to those who desire to avail themselves of the waters. Their medicinal value has been thoroughly established.

Those who are not afflicted with any ailment, but who simply desire to rest and enjoy the freedom of country life, will find the hotel a desirable place.

The rooms are large, with all modern conveniences, the grill supplied with the best in the market. There is a large lobby, wide, glass enclosed porches, billiard and pool tables, card rooms and a large dancing hall. No bar is maintained and no liquor sold on the premises.

Hot Lake is situated directly on the main line of the O. W. R. & N. in Union County. It is easy of access and in addition to the excellence of the waters and the comforts of the hotel, offers such sports as hunting and fishing to those who care to go afield or follow a stream.

Under the new management, Hot Lake will at once become as popular as formerly with the people who need treatment for some ailment and with those who simply want a place to rest from their business or household duties.

A New Washington Drink

A new drink in Washington called the "Lobby Killer" is said to be an invention of the Secretary of State. It is thus described: "You take a long transparent glass, put in some crushed ice, being particular to crush the trust, then some free citrus fruits, carefully grated; a teaspoonful of free sugar; imported brandy to suit; a teaspoonful of peanut oil taxed at six cents a gallon; shake with a new freedom, and float on top a pinch of free wool, unsecured, being careful to remove every trace of hair of the Angora goat; serve, and drink with the eyes closed, then summon the ambulance for the pernicious lobbyist."—Boston Transcript.

Strawberry Shortcake

The new cook book for the freshman classes at the Oregon Agricultural College just issued by Dean H. W. Calvin contains 166 tested receipts, and has a very complete index.

The recipe for strawberry shortcake is of particular interest at this time. It is given in small quantity, which can be increased as desired, and is as follows: 1 box strawberries, sugar to sweeten, 1-2 table spoons butter, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon sugar, a speck of salt, milk enough to make a soft dough, 2 table spoons of pulverized sugar, and 1-4 cup of whipped cream.

Sift the salt, teaspoonful of sugar, flour and baking powder, and out in 1-3 table spoons of butter. Add the milk, roll 3-4 inch thick and bake. Split open while hot and butter both split sides. Cover the bottom piece with well sweetened, crushed strawberries and place the upper portion on it. Arrange whole berries on the top, sprinkle with pulverized sugar and garnish with whipped cream.

ORCHARD SPRAYING FOUND NECESSARY

Hogs Make Good Cultivator If Turned Loose Among Trees

Orchard work in Minnesota is gradually increasing and many new trees are being planted. The leading fruits are apples, plums and grapes. Large quantities of strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries and currants are raised each year. All of the above mentioned varieties are hardy and have stood the winters in fine shape without any protection to speak of. I have been in the habit of spreading stable litter around the roots and this affords some protection to the trees, says C. W. Moore in Orange Judd Northwest Farmstead.

I have never done any cultivating in my orchards. The general method practiced among the farmers in this locality is to fence in the orchard and then turn in the hogs, who do the cultivating. I do my pruning about the first of June. The young trees should not have more than from five to seven main limbs. Keep the tops well balanced. Before growth starts spray once, and once again immediately after blooming, using bordeaux mixture and lime-sulphur with arsenate of lead for poison. It is quite customary in this locality to sell the apples on the trees, but many of the farmers prefer to barrel their crop and ship for themselves.

FOR THE FARMER

It will be a great day for the great army of boys and girls of the rural schools when their parents and the school directors take as keen an interest in their physical ailments as they do now in hog cholera, black leg and roup.

The Russian thistle, which some years ago was dreaded almost as much as the Canada thistle or quack grass, is not fulfilling the farmer's fears. Experiments which have been conducted along the line of exterminating the weed show that it can be easily killed by frequent tillage.

If the earth in which the sweet peas were sown was not as rich as it should have been this condition may be overcome by giving the peas several waterings when they are coming up and afterward with manure water. This will be available at once and will make them rank and thrifty.

The other day the writer noted a news item which stated that a farmer had trapped or shot a silver gray fox and hoped to be able to die out her whelps. This item seems to have been written in ignorance of the fact that the silver gray fox is a sport of nature and not a distinct type which reproduces its kind.

There is probably no way in which an adventurer can get rid of more money in a shorter time than by going into the poultry business on a large scale, when he has had no experience. Fortunes have been sunk in just this way, but there is always a new batch of suckers who feel sure that they can play the game successfully.

To have the supply of sweet corn cover a long eating period it should be planted a row or two at a time at intervals of every ten days. The first planting should be of the early varieties and later the larger kinds. We have found no varieties better than the Golden Bantam, Country Gentleman and Evergreen for early, medium and late varieties.

Inasmuch as potatoes have a feeding value when cooked of but one-fifth that of corn, it follows that they make a rather expensive ration if they are worth more than 12 or 15 cents a bushel. For illustration, if corn were worth 60 cents a bushel potatoes would be worth but 12; hence if one could get 15 cents per bushel for the prairie it would be better to sell them.

A convenient way for handling the little plants of several kinds of garden fruits and vegetables is to set them at the time of the first transplanting in small cans without bottoms or in little boxes made of pasteboard. When the plants are ready to transfer from these the container may be removed and the plant with its vigorous roots set in the open ground.

The serum treatment for hog cholera has been tested out so thoroughly that there is now little question that, properly and carefully applied, it provides an effective cure. At present the treatment costs a little more than a dollar for a grown hog, but there is reason to believe that the cost of the treatment will be reduced somewhat as the efficiency of laboratories producing the serum is increased.

There has been more than one law suit tried over the question whether a tenant had the right to remove the manure which accumulated on the place during the tenancy. The rule or custom law usually followed in the matter is that the tenant has the right to remove such proportion of the manure as the feeds which are bought and consumed on the farm bear to those which were grown on the place.
