LODGE DIRECTORY

A reader of these notes who recently set out some small trees asks for some suggestions in regard to pruning them eral way it may be said that this early pruning-that given during the first four or five years of the tree's life-is by far the most important. In the first place, one should keep in mind that and strength and usefulness are to depend. To give this it is well to trim one-year-old trees (straight whips) to a height of from eighteen to twentyfour inches. Personally the writer trims both apple and pear trees at the point where the knee strikes in passing. A number of side branches will grow from this stub, and the following season these should be thinned to five of the strongest growing at nearly equal distances from one another and cut back at least a half of their length and to outside if the tree has an upright habit and to inside buds if it has

t is an interesting commentary on method of farming that is being owed in many western states that average yield of corn is steadily reasing in the central western pora of the corn belt, but that it is on increase in the eastern states.

Sometimes such losses are result of carelessness, sometimes result of a lack of good sense; ofof both.

If small patches of quack grass appear in the garden care should be taken to dig the roots out as nearly whole as possible and to remove them from the soil If the patch is in the border of the galden under the truit trees it may be exterminated by sovering with string of tar paper, allowing them to overinp and covering the joints with enrin. and is effective for small areas.

hence no limbs should be left which in later years will give a crotch that is likely to split down. During the growing season a good deal of needed pruning may be done with the fingers, water sprouts and shoots growing where they are not wanted while still tender. Young trees should be kept well cultivated, and where they are set in the yard or lawn one should spade about them and give a mulch of strawy manure to keep the soil from baking in dry weather. If small trees set fruit it is usually best to pinch it off. so that all strength may go to the derelopment of the tree.

A COUPLE OF FOOLS.

The biggest fool pair that the writer has heard of in a long time he ran cross the other day. The man had a anall house and an acre of ground worth some $750 and was sparking a half baked girl, who said she would marry him if he would buy an automobile. He fell to this and swapped his place for a machine and $100, which won't last a great while in defraying gasoline and repair bills. This nan, though industrious, is but a day inborer, and just what he and this girl of his will do next winter in a rented house if labor should be scarce it is rather appalling to contemplate. And yet we suppose they will be happy as larks with this auto, and if they don't

As nearly an ideal ration for grow ng shotes as one could have is furnished in the fall by a field of corn in which cowpeas were drilled between the rows just following the last cultivation. Small tracts should be fenced off and the hogs turned in and allowed to hog down both corn and peas. Sheep also may be turned in, in which event they will eat the peas and browse the lower leaves of the corn. In case pelther hogs nor sheep are turned in the peas may be cut with a mower and made into hay after the corn crop has
