Paisley Pick-ups

(Chewaucan Press)
Mr. Wingfield, youngest brother of Mrs. C. E. Campbell is visiting with his sister in Paisley.

Howard Smith, an old resident of Paisley who has been in other parts for several years returned last week and intends to make his home here.

Rumor has it that the American Soda and Borax Company have filed mineral claims on the various small ponds about Paisley with the intention of extracting the minerals from their waters.

The auction sale held by the Chewaucan Mercantile Company at their barn in Paisley last Saturday brought a good crowd together and bidding was fair on everything offered. The six head of horses were the first to be offered and brought from $80 to $125 apiece, which was a fair valuation. The wagons, harness etc., sold extra well and brought all they were worth, taking them all the way through. E. B. Buchwalter auctioned the sale and Eph Miller was clerk.

Silver Lake Items

(Silver Lake Leader)
There was a good attendance at the meeting last Saturday, when all of the members of the "Flying Squad" made good addresses. Quite a delegation representing the Inland Development League of Arrow was present and everyone was well pleased with what was said and done.

The telephone line which is being built by the Forest Service from Silver Lake to connect with the line which is already built from Lakeview as far north as Currier Camp, is progressing nicely. About five miles of posts have been set and it is the intention to have the line connected by fall.

Felix Duncan, who lives on the west side of Silver Lake, was in town Monday. A few years ago Mr. Duncan demonstrated his faith in the future of this part of Lake county by setting out a variety of fruit trees and berries, which are now coming into bearing. He has grape vines loaded with grapes, Bartlett pear trees bearing. Loganberries set on the vines as large as the end of a person's thumb, currant bushes with currants in plenty, apple trees loaded, a hop vine more than 20 feet high and roses and honeysuckles in bloom. What Mr. Duncan has done others can do, and as soon as people awaken to the possibilities before them, such reports as this will be common to publish as news. Let people get busy along these lines and thereby help to reduce the high cost of living, instead of living at a high cost.

Seeking Location

R. N. Bee of North Loup, Nebraska, is here making a thorough inspection of the Goose Lake Valley. He is representing a number of families from his home state who are seeking a new location. Mr. Bee is very well pleased with this country and it is quite likely that his present trip will be instrumental in bringing in several new settlers. Yesterday he went to the Bowers ranch below Davis Creek with Mr. Curtis, of the realty firm of Curtis & Utley.

Turned State's Evidence

James Givan of Warner Valley last week came over to swear out a warrant for the arrest of Will Vinyard and Clarence Driver for killing a yearling steer belonging to Mr. Givan. The former who served a five year sentence in the penitentiary for larceny of horses and who was the principal instigator in this crime, left the county as soon as he learned that Mr. Givan knew of his guilt. Driver who was working for Vinyard at the time the beef was killed, came over directly upon authority of Deputy Sheriff Rinehart. In his statement he turned state's evidence and was released.

Secretary Bryan has requested an emergency appropriation to relieve destitute Americans in Mexico and to provide them with transportation to the United States.

PROPOSED CHANGE IN STOCK YARDS

Reported That Yards Are Trying to Be Moved to the "Y".

It is understood that an effort is under way for establishing the local stockyards in the vicinity of the "Y," instead of at the Jonas Norin ranch South of town. When the right of way was secured through the Norin, Downs and other ranches it was agreed that the stockyards were to be located on the Norin ranch, at least such was the general understanding. The proposed change will hardly meet with popular approval, although it might prove more convenient to shippers of stock, who would be able to load immediately on arrival at the yards. But should they desire to pasture their stock for a few days or let them rest for a short time, the location of the yards at the "Y" would prove more or less inconvenient. In the immediate vicinity of the yards at the Norin place can be had any amount of pasture, hay and water, while the reverse is true at the "Y." While the Examiner has not been advised of the reason why the change is desired, yet it does not seem that good faith would be exhibited should the change be made without giving sufficient reason therefor.

Pacer Owner Here

Thos. Silverthorn of Los Angeles is here looking over the valley, having recently arrived by way of the west. He is the owner of "Lady Silverthorn" the famous pacer mare that won the world's record for three year olds last November and that now holds the world's track record at any age. He is looking for a location to establish a blooded stock farm and is making a thorough inspection of this section, and will incidentally take a short outing in the mountains.

A New Product

At the present time a farmer in the Molalla District, about 20 miles from Oregon City, is harvesting a crop probably not grown by any other rancher in the Willamette Valley; tansels. His present crop consists of about 70 acres and during the harvest season he will employ about 40 hands at $2.50 to $3.00 per day. The tansel is a bur for which the manufacturers of cloth find a use in raising the nap of the goods, a process for which no inventor has ever been able to invent a mechanical substitute.

Berry Juice

The following simple and effective way of boiling berry juice was employed by Professor C. I. Lewis in the laboratory of the Oregon Agricultural College, and is a sure way of saving loganberries at a good profit on the rainy day: Heat the berries to as nearly the boiling point as possible and strain out the juice. Mix juice with one third its measure of sugar, heat as before pour into sterilized soft drink bottles, shove the cork about two inches within the neck of the bottle, and pour melted paraffine to the top. This process preserves the flavors and aromas and keeps the product indefinitely. Diluted with four times its measurement of water it is a delicious drink.

Teacher Likes Farming

Her health broken by many years of school teaching in the Middle West, Miss M. E. Wheeler came to the Willamette Valley a little more than a year ago, bought about 25 acres of wild land a few miles south of Milwaukie and commenced clearing it with her own hands. By this spring she had grubbed out the brush and trees and dynamited the stumps on seven acres. A part of this land was planted to oats which at the present time are more than 7 feet tall, on another tract she is raising every kind of vegetable that can be grown in Oregon. As a result of the strenuous outdoor life, Miss Wheeler has completely regained her health and says she cannot understand why everyone in Oregon does not take up farming.

The affair will be for all Irish residents of the county as well as their families, and those who come are requested to bring their lunch baskets, as it is probable that nothing will be sold on the grounds. A program of sports will be arranged for the occasion to consist of jumping, foot races, horse racing, etc., and an enjoyable time is assured. Congressman Raker has introduced a bill asking for an appropriation of $5000 through Congress to be used in making an investigation, study and test of sagebrush and greasewood in the state of Nevada. It is believed that the sagebrush can be used for producing rubber and other valuable purposes. If such should develop all the sagebrush of the western country would most likely be converted into a valuable product.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

New Light on Malaria. Even if the knowledge does not afford the means of cure it is interesting to hear of the investigation of malarial pigment described by Dr. W. H. Brown in the Journal of Experimental Medicine for June. By the injection into rabbits of haematin Dr. Brown produced symptoms in many respects similar to those accompanying an attack of malaria in man—chills, fever, etc. The red blood cells of warm blooded animals, including man, contain a pigmented substance called haemoglobin, which serves as a carrier of oxygen to the tissues and as a remover of the waste carbon dioxide. The malarial parasite destroys the red blood cell and breaks up the haemoglobin, separating the protoplasmic material from the iron holding pigment, which is, as Dr. Brown has previously shown, probably haematin. The symptoms produced in a malaria patient, when this series of changes occurs in the blood, are in part due to the anaemia resulting from the destruction of red blood cells. But there are other symptoms that have in the past been attributed to the production by the malarial parasite of a special poison or toxin. In view of Dr. Brown's experiments it now appears very probable that this supposed special toxin is nothing else than the pigment of the red cells. Freed from its controlling proteins and floating or dissolved in the blood serum, it becomes a poison to the system.

Will Not Participate

Strong indications that neither Germany nor Great Britain will participate in the San Francisco exposition in 1915 has been admitted by the state department. In both cases the reason is assigned that international expositions are so frequent as to lose any trade value they may have originally possessed. However, their decisions are not final, and it may be that pressure can be brought to perfect a reconsideration. It is also officially announced that Russia has decided not to participate in the Panama Pacific Exposition.

A Fake Photographer

The Alturas Plandecor says a traveling photographer hit the town this week and then hit out again. He went around town insisting upon taking pictures of all business houses, representing to some of our citizens that he was an agent of a calendar company and to others that he was representing an insurance company. Then two days later when he went around trying to sell the pictures, but when the marshal went after him for a license he hit the high places.

Most likely if the fighting editor knew that this was the same character who filled the Examiner office with smoke the other morning while taking a picture of the interior of the place, he would give him a job.

Ambassador Resigns

President Wilson has taken his first step in the policy through which he proposes to deal with the Mexican situation. He formally accepted the resignation of Harry Lane Wilson to take effect October 14, and sent to Mexico his personal representative, not accredited to the Huerta government, former governor John Lind of Minnesota, a lifelong friend of Secretary Bryan. The understanding is that when a stable government is finally established in Mexico Lind will be named as ambassador.

You Should Register

Notwithstanding that the period of registration for voters has been on since the first of June, County Clerk Payne states that not more than a dozen voters, both men and women, have registered. Those who registered before the last election are not required to register before voting at the special election this fall, but such is not the case with women or those who were not registered before the last election. This is the same with city elections. On the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November there will be held the city and a special state election, and it is provided by law that the registration shall cease fifteen days before a special election. On the face of things you then have until October 15, to register.
