LAND SHOW WILL ADVERTISE WEST

Move Started to Bring Together the Land and the Land Hungry.

The California Land Show, under the auspices and with the backing of the San Francisco Real Estate Board, is to be given in San Francisco from October 11 to 25.

The purpose of the Land Show is primarily to bring home to the people of the Pacific coast and of the United States the tremendous resources of the area covered by the Pacific Coast States. It is designed to bring together the land and the land hungry, to exploit the wide variety of the products of the soil, and, by giving the show in San Francisco, to emphasize the interdependence of the great cities of the coast and the immense agricultural and horticultural stretches adjacent to them.

The plan is to have every county of California and every state of the Pacific Coast as an exhibitor. The Land Show is not conducted to pay dividends and all charges are graded to make the receipts pay expenses and no more than expenses.

During the months of September and October every year the transcontinental railroads conduct Homeseekers Excursions which annually bring thousands of settlers to the West. These people are not immigrants but investors from the east and middle west seeking more advantageous locations to carry on their business of farming. It is to aid these settlers in an intelligent selection of locations that the Land Show has been organized.

LADY BUGS PROVE APHIS DESTROYER

Alturas Man Makes Important Discovery to Fruit Growers.

The young orchards of Alturas have been discovered to be infested with aphid and other fruit parasites, says the Alturas Praisdealer. Even the vines are covered and some of our citizens were preparing to cut down the vines and burn them. Lee Kelly was one of these when he accidentally discovered a peculiar looking worm crawling on the vines. By closely observing the worms it was discovered that they were eating the aphids. This caused him to keep a watch on the worms and soon they developed into full grown Lady Bugs. The latter multiplied very rapidly and soon stripped every leaf and twig clean of the aphids. They would then change their location and the work of destruction went merrily on.

The Lady Bugs were first discovered by Mr. Kelley, and others on examination discovered them on their trees. The Lady Bugs are supposed to have come from some imported to likely a year or ago, and from the rapid increase bid fair to solve the aphid problem. These pests have gained such a foothold that they bid fair to completely destroy both the orchards and fruit. Even the wild cherry trees are covered by them and apparently the only solution to their destruction is the friendly Lady Bug. Orchardists are therefore warned to be on their guard in spraying so as not to kill the friendly and helpful bug when destroying the pests.

Fruit Inspector McManus is busy visiting different parts of the county and is organizing a systematic warfare against pests of every character.

King of Railroads

James J. Hill, was voted the king of American railroad builders in a recent poll taken in Wall street. Through his development of the great Northwest he has won the title of "Empire Builder" and the reputation for the growing of more grain, wheat and corn than any other man in the world.

Mr. Hill was and is the first and foremost railroad scientist of any land. He was the first to grasp the value of low grades, more powerful engines, cars of great capacity and full train loads. He has personally surveyed thousands of miles of territory in his beloved Northwest. For fifteen years, to 1893, he built and equipped one mile of railroad every working day. Mr. Hill appreciates as his greatest reward, even more than financial gain, letters of praise from the modest investors who have placed their savings in his charge. This truly "Grand Old Man" has never drawn one dollar in salary or commission, or for personal expenses from any of the roads he has controlled. His health—and it is abundant—has come solely from his returns on a party with every other investor.

Crook County will soon hold an election on a bond issue calling for $200,000 for the construction of good roads in that county.

BOYS 17 IMMUNE FROM PUNISHMENT

Legislature Blunders On Boys Between Ages of 16 and 18.

A news item under a Salem date line says: An apparent blunder committed by the last Legislature leaves youths between the ages of 16 and 18 years immune from the authority of the courts to commit them either to the State reform school or the State penitentiary for any offense they may commit. There is a gap of two years between the ages of persons may be committed to the two institutions.

A law, chapter 342 in the 1913 sessions laws, was passed by the last legislature reducing the age limit at which boys may be committed to the reform school from 18 to 16 years. There is a law which says that no one under 18 years can be committed to the penitentiary. This leaves a gap of two years.

The question of what to do with boys 17 years of age has already presented itself to the State Board in the case of Orin Lacourse of Forest Grove. He is 17 years old and has been committed to the State training school. It appears the school has no authority to keep him. Superintendent Hale suggests that the school might take boys of that age by consent of their parents or guardians, but could not do so over their protest.

The gap was caused by the Legislature passing one bill and failing to pass its companion measure. The other measure provided for a State reformatory for youths between the ages of 16 and 25 years.

HENS CAPABLE OF DESTROYING LICE

Provide Fowls With Box of Fine Dust For Winter Use.

A box of fine dust placed where the hens may have access to it during the fall and winter months will enable them to keep down the louse pest. Professor Lunn, of the Poultry Department in the Oregon Agricultural College, explains why this is so as follows:

"Don't let the lice rob the egg basket. Summer is rapidly passing. It is time to begin planning for winter eggs. One of the foundation stones of good egg production is the health, vigor, and contentment of the hen. If she isn't contented, the egg basket will show it. She can't be happy or contented if overrun with lice. A few lice won't trouble her. It is only when overrun with them that serious results are noticeable. Now, it isn't practicable to dust the individual hens in a large flock, and it isn't necessary. If given an opportunity the hen will look after the lice question herself. All that is necessary on the farmer's part is to provide a good dust bath and she will do the rest. The chicken louse, being one of the lower forms of animal life breathes through small spiracles, or holes in its body. The dust coming in contact with these holes, clogs them up, preventing, breathing which results in death.

"I said it was time to begin planning for winter eggs. It is also time to lay in a supply of fine dust. Sack it up or fill a barrel or box and store in a good dry place for fall and winter use. A supply can be kept in the chicken house in a box of about 18 inches by 24 inches by 6 inches for the chickens's use. It would need replenishing only every week or two."

Manufacturers Rebel

Our shirt and collar manufacturers are up in arms against the proposal to take protection from their trade. Japan has already entered the field of competition. With the increasing adoption of Western styles of dress in the Orient there is a steadily growing field for collars and shirts, which Japan is already catering to. Not only so, but Japan is even now shipping her goods to the United States, not large quantities as yet, but it is a growing trade, as the consular reports show. We cannot compete with the wage scale of Japan or of any other Eastern people. Japan is the most progressive Oriental nation. In 1907 the general average of wages throughout the Japanese empire was 18 1-2 cents per day. In 1910 this had increased to 29 1-2 cents per day, and the increased cost of living will probably force a still higher average. We have no industry that can compete with such a scale of wages as this. Is it an American to want to see our high wages and high standard of living protected against the cheap products of the Orient?—Leslie's Weekly.

Mrs. Guy Foster passed thru Paisley Saturday on her way to her home at Lakeview. She has been at the Hoy ranch in Thousand Spring valley for the summer.
