A Complete Record

We have made an entire transcript of all Records in Lake County which in any way, affect Real Property in the county. We have a complete Record of every Mortgage and transfer ever made in Lake County, and ever Deed given.

Errors Found in Titles

In transcribing the records we have found numerous mortgages recorded in the Deed record and indexed; and many deeds are recorded in the Mortgage record and other books. Hundreds of mortgages and deeds are not indexed at all, and most difficult to trace up from the records.

We have notations of all these Errors.

Others cannot find them. We have put hundreds of dollars hunting up these errors, and we can fully guarantee our work.

COLLEGE EXPERTS WORK ON BLIGHT

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Ore., Sept. 8.—The general and rapid spread of the deadly fire blight in the pear and apple orchards of Oregon can be checked by means of organized campaigns to carry out the standard treatment of cutting out all diseased parts of the tree, disinfecting the wounds and burning the brush, according to Professor H. S. Jackson, head of the Plant Pathology department, Oregon Agricultural College. These radical measures have already been instituted in one of the important fruit districts of the state and are in a fair way to be applied in one other. As the disease is prevalent in a more or less serious aspect in every county of Eastern Oregon with the possible exception of Wasco, experts in plant diseases believe that no time should be lost in putting control measures into effect.

While methods of procedure will vary somewhat in the different sections of the state, the plan followed successfully in the La Grande district can be made the basis of plans suitable in most other districts. This campaign, which has been in operation for several days, is described by Professor Jackson as follows:

"Requests for aid for the La Grande district came through the State Board of Horticulture. In response I went to La Grande about July 7, and held lectures there and at Elgin. Subsequently I visited all parts of the Grand Ronde Valley. As a result of this inspection of the orchards there a meeting was held Saturday afternoon, July 12, at which the matter of handling the situation throughout the valley was discussed and a committee appointed to present to the County Court a petition asking for funds to provide for demonstration work. As a result of that action $500 was appropriated by the County Court on August 6.

"I secured for the fruit growers the services of C. C. Hyde and M. M. Winslow, graduates of O. A. C. in horticulture, who spent the summer in the Rogue River Valley as blight experts and are thoroughly familiar with methods of cutting out the disease. The campaign was organized in such a way that demonstrations in cutting out the disease and disinfecting the wounds are being conducted in various orchards by these men. They expect to cover all parts of the valley. They will follow up the demonstrations with careful inspection as carried on by the inspection service, as soon as the growers are thoroughly familiar with the details of the work. This procedure interferes in no way with the regular county inspection service but is an aid to inspectors in familiarizing them with the disease and the best methods of treatment. My part in the work has been purely that of organization under the general direction of the college extension service."

Pre-cancelled Stamps

Postmaster General Burleson has signed an order which provides that pre-cancelled postage stamps may be sold to the public on and after September 16th. Pre-cancelled stamps have printed on them the name of the Post Office before they are sold. Such stamps will be valid for postage of second, third and fourth-class matter—newspapers and magazines mailed by the public, books and other printed matter and merchandise, or parcel post matter.

The stamps will be recognized only at the office named on them. By the use of pre-cancelled stamps, not only will the transportation and delivery of mail bearing them be expedited greatly, but it is estimated that the Government will save in expense of labor in cancellation $250,000 a year.

REMARKABLE CURE OF DYSENTERY

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by all dealers.

HORSE ILLS DUE TO IMPROPER FEEDING

Most attacks of horse colic are unnecessary. They usually come from carelessness or ignorance on the part of the feeder. One man should do all of the horse feeding. Change of feeders may mean change of feed or irregularity in feeding. These things cause colic.

Where feeding is not made the special work of one man, a horse may, by mistake, be fed twice at one meal hour. Sudden changes of feed, irregular feeding, damaged, heated, fermenting, new or moldy feed, feeding green grass or other wet green feed, giving the drinking water after feeding and feeding and watering a horse when hot, tired and sweaty are common causes of one kind of colic or another.

Always give the drinking water before feeding. Always gradually accustom a horse to any change of feed, and especially to new oats and new hay. Have the teeth attended to by a veterinarian at least once a year. Spread the grain out thin in a large, shallow feed box to prevent the horse

No one will dispute the statement that it pays to breed to a good pure bred stallion. But hundreds and thousands of mare owners do not follow what they know to be true when they breed to a grade scrub simply because he is handy and the service fee low. We do not have sufficient high class stallions in this country. This is largely the fault of farmers, for if good stallions were generally desired and patronized plenty of men would be ready to supply them. But it is partly the fault of stallioners who do not advertise their stallions sufficiently and argue hard enough as to their superior value.—National Stockman and Farmer.

from eating too fast. Allow plenty of time for the perfect mastication of feed.

In hot weather allow a little drinking water at noon, then feed a pound or so of hay while the horse is cooling off, then give more drinking water and then the full feed of oats. Avoid the Saturday night bran mash. It is a fertile cause of colic. Better mix bran daily with the oat feed and dampen it at mealtime.

Do not feed ground feed to a horse that has good teeth. Perfect mastication and insalivation of feed are necessary if the horse is to remain healthy. Feeding from the floor level induces an increased flow of saliva. This benefits a horse that suffers from indigestion.

Allow free access to rock salt, and keep the horse free from worms. If a horse has an attack of colic, and fearfully rolls, kicks, paws and then looks around at his sides, then finds relief for a few minutes, this is "spasmodic," or "cramp," colic (belly ache) and tends to subside if simply treated.

If there is no let up to the pain and the horse is afraid to lie down and walks around in the box stall he has enteritis (inflammation of the bowels), and it probably will prove fatal.

In "bloat" or "flatulent" colic the body is distended with gas high up in the right flank, and the pain is less severe than in cramp colic, or enteritis. Lose no time in calling in a qualified veterinarian if enteritis is present. Home treatment will be apt to hasten death.

The veterinarian also is urgently needed if the horse is bloated. Instant "tapping" for removal of gas may save life when medicinal treatment would fail. Do not give "liniment" or "sour milk and soda" or an aloes physic ball or tincture of aconite in colic.

Rectal injections of soapy warm water and glycerin may be given with benefit, and a pint of raw linseed oil containing an ounce each of turpentine and laudanum will prove a safe and beneficial drench in all simple attacks.—Farm and Fireside.

Corn+Silage+Good Cows.

For feeding dairy cows no foodstuff equals the legumes for furnishing protein economically. No dairy farmer who does not make use of these plants in his farming and feeding operations is taking full advantage of the opportunities at his disposal. A combination of corn silage, leguminous hay and good cows is fine.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

Bedding For Sheep.

Good clean straw makes the best bedding for sheep. Steer clear of anything that fills the wool full of seeds, bits of sticks or any such thing.

MOTION PICTURE CRAZE IN LONDON

William A. Bardy in the Saturday Evening Post.

The movies craze has struck London. That great city has gone positively mad over it. In a short time it will involve some of the large metropolitan theaters, Hammerstein's Opera House has been converted into a moving picture palace and a certain man is going to build a theater on Oxford street to seat 3000 persons for this class of entertainment. Many amusing phases have been developed by the craze in that prim old country. No Sunday performances are given anywhere in Great Britain, but the moving picture men have succeeded in overcoming this hide bound prejudice by devoting part of the receipts to charity. Nevertheless a great cry is going up from the church against this so-called profanation of the Sabbath, and Parliament is apt to mix in the matter at any moment.

Like a prairie fire the craze is sweeping into the provinces, putting out of business a large number of small traveling companies and forcing their members to flee—a few to London and a vast number to the States.

Horse Raisers Peeved

According to a news item from Lorella in a Klamath Falls paper, the stock men in that part of the country are a pretty grouchy bunch. This is occasioned by the stockmen assembling a large number of horses in that section to sell to the United States inspectors who advertised for cavalry stock. The inspectors were several days behind their scheduled time in arriving. They first went to Bly where 180 head of horses were gathered, many of which had been brought from a distance of over 100 miles. The item states that the officials utterly disregarded the requirements upon which they agreed to buy, and but nine head out of the 180 were taken. Six was the total number picked from Langell Valley.

Gathering the horses at this time of year caused the ranchmen considerable inconvenience, and to say they were badly put out with the results, does not half express it.

Quite Expensive

A man who was too economical to subscribe for a paper sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a 24 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His father, who ran to his assistance, and failing to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into that cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a 24 pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got in the cornfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing a racket the wife ran out, upset a four gallon churnfull of rich cream into a basket of little chickens, drowning the entire hatch. In her haste she dropped a 25 set of false teeth. The baby being left alone, crawled through the spilled milk and into the parlor, ruining a $20 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up eleven setting hens, and the calves got out and chewed the tails off of four fine shirts on the clothes line.
