COMPENSATION ACT FOR TIME HELD UP

Attorney-General Later Revises Opinion and Act Now Effective.

Attorney-General Crawford has rendered an opinion in which he states that the insurance feature of the workmen's compensation act will not become effective until June 30, 1914. Notwithstanding this opinion, the Compensation Commission, which has been organized since the measure was upheld at last week's election, issued a statement announcing that the act would become effective unless the courts ruled otherwise. Attorney-General Crawford in his opinion held that the provisions of the act could not be applied until June 30, 1914, according to the law.

Governor West is a strong exponent of the Compensation law and a late Salem dispatch says that the governor has virtually announced that if the courts should hold that the act cannot be put into operation at once because of the alleged defects, he would call an extra session of the legislature to correct them. Governor West contends that the strong vote of approval of the act would justify his action in calling the extra session.

In a statement later issued Attorney-General Crawford modified his opinion relative to the time the Workmen's Compensation law becomes effective. He says that an employer can notify the commission at any time that he

Negro Uses Knife

In a sudden frenzy of passion Walter Stoddard (colored) who has been operating the grill next the Inn Saloon, last Monday evening assaulted his wife (also colored) with a large bread knife, inflicting a dangerous wound in her arm. After a few angry words, which it is said grew out of an argument over a "tip" which the woman received while waiting table in the grill, Stoddard slashed at her head with the ugly knife. To protect herself she raised her arm receiving in that member a deep gash several inches in length. The woman ran to the street and soon attracted attention. Had not the woman been given medical attention immediately, it is believed she would have expired from the loss of blood.

Sheriff Snider appeared on the scene and took the negro in charge. He was given a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Umbach. The defendant waived examination and was bound over to await action of the grand jury.

Wreck on W. P.

Train No. 1, westbound, on the Western Pacific railroad, known as the Panama-Pacific Express, plunged into a landslide which had covered the tracks with tons of rock and earth and was wrecked 32 miles north of Oroville last week.

Engineer John McGraw was perhaps fatally injured and Fireman R. A. Jones was seriously hurt. None of the passengers were injured. The locomotive plunged into the Feather river. The baggage car was smashed and six coaches were derailed.

NEW PINE CREEK DEPARTMENT

DEVOTED TO LIVE NEWS NOTES OF THE STATE
LINE TOWN SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

R. L. Wade is working up at High Grade.

Mrs. Urb Gentry is reported much better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rusk are occupying the Geo. Hammersley property.

A splendid time was had at the social dance after the show Saturday night.

There is scarcely a vacant house in town at present which sounds good for the town.

F. M. Green returned Saturday from a two weeks' business trip to Sacramento.

Chas. Larkin and family were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Freeman Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wiltfong returned home Sunday. They spent the summer on the west side of the lake where Mr. Wiltfong was working on the O.V.L. Irrigation ditch.

Miss Ida Sanford of Fandango has been a guest at the home of Mrs. Jessie Carr for several days where she is having a delightful time. She is a very clever girl and we hope she may make New Pine Creek visits often.

It is reported that the cook at the Modoc mine went on a strike last week. Mr. Guyot is going to get another building and hire a new cook. There are loads of supplies going up to the Modoc which convinces us that the miners will be kept working all winter.

Mrs. J. T. O'Connor was entertained at the home of Mrs. D. G. Berry Sunday. As Mrs. O'Connor is to take her departure soon she was planning the work for the Civic Improvement League. Mrs. O'Connor will be missed in the League. Her enthusiasm and perseverance have made her a very helpful member.

The writer took a walk down into Fleming Bros. Addition last Tuesday and noticed several changes, there now being six new residences there. We also noticed that Mr. J. M. Alexander is putting a coat of paint on his house which looks quite attractive. Fleming Addition is a fine residence section and we will no doubt see many houses go up there next summer.

Pine Creek School

The Parent Teachers Association met at the Pine Creek School Friday afternoon. There was a good attendance and much interest is being shown. Mr. James Vincent, our worthy trustee was present. A special program is being prepared for the next meeting which will be of special interest to the gentlemen.

Monday afternoon Mr. Aldridge, our popular trustee, came to give his assistance in cleaning the basement. Much praise and gratitude is extended to Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Amick, Mrs. Wade, Mrs. Benham and Mr. Aldridge for cleaning the concrete play room. It was in an unsanitary condition, due to the lime dust.

Misses Owens Wendt, Theresa Keller and Opal Reid, spent Saturday afternoon cleaning the principal's room. The room Monday morning was so tidy, it was evident that much labor had been spent. The girls are taking a great interest in the school.

The Union Sunday School was well attended last Sunday. Many young people take an active part and every organization will meet with success. Not long ago, the Union Sunday School numbered one hundred, let the good work be supported again as it was then.

HILL ROAD MAY EXTEND

served for a short time as president of the North Bank and local Hill roads, will have charge of construction work on the California extension, which presumably will be built out of Bend, connecting there with the Oregon Trunk.

Surveys for the proposed line south of Bend have been completed. The grade will ascend gradually to a point about 50 miles south of Bend, where it attains its highest elevation. From that point it descends gradually into the Sacramento Valley. The maximum grade on the entire route between Portland and San Francisco will not exceed 1.3 per cent. An alternative route offers by connection with the Nevada, California, Oregon at Lakeview, Or.

It is probable that the Hill party will be in Oregon for three or four days. They plan to pass Sunday here. "Bill" Hanley, "the sage of Oregon," who has been one of the elder Mr. Hill's closest friends for many years, will be here Saturday to join the visitors. If the banquet is held he will be one of the guests.

The fact that several officials of the Northern Pacific—which road is joint owner with the Great Northern of the local Hill lines—are members of the party adds strength to the theory that the California invasion is one of the questions receiving serious consideration on the present trip.

Quite naturally we did not expect to hear of any definite statement regarding the California invasion after the Hill party reached Portland, but the announcement which lends color to the above rumor is the statement in Sunday's Oregonian that Mr. Hill and party will make a trip of inspection over the Oregon Trunk, and also the Empire Builder's statement that the Hill interests are preparing to operate fast steamers to ply between Portland and San Francisco. The steamers are now being built and it is expected to have them in operation within a year.

Portland and numerous Oregon citizens paid generous homage to Mr. Hill and party on their present trip west. This they should have done, because James J. Hill has done more than any other one man, to liberate the forces that have made an empire of the Pacific Northwest. This is Mr. Hill's first visit to Oregon in two years.

It is his road that Lakeview wants. The Hill lines do not wait for the country to develop, they bring about with the actual construction of railroads, and this line through Lakeview, the Examiner believes, is only a matter of time.

EVENING SHOOTING TO STOP WITH SUN

Federal Law Prohibits the Slaying of Birds in Late Evening.

That which will probably affect local sportsmen, inasmuch as it will prohibit late evening bird shooting, is the table given below showing the exact hours to which the shooting of migratory birds is limited. The table is taken from the Oregon Sportsman, an official publication issued by the State Game Commission, and is reprinted by request of Deputy Warden McKimins.

The new federal game laws provide a closed season on all migratory game birds from sunset to sunrise. For the guidance of sportsmen the following is the official time of sunrise and sunset:

Presbyterians Meet

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid met last Thursday and were entertained by Mrs. Cummins and Mrs. Webster at the home of the latter. After the business meeting refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, pineapple and cream, coffee and cake, were served. These present were: Mesdames Morgan, N. Roberts, Sanders, Campbell, Dora Lane, Corbett, M. Whorton, Crosby, Crawford, Everett, Koozer, Vandervoort, O'Neill, Dunlap, Randon, A. L. Metzker, R. A. Clark, Hopkins, Sparhawk, Simmons, Glazier, Burgess, Fetach, Fuller, McCombs, Boore, Leonard, and the Misses Hattie Nyawaner and Gwendlyn Corbett.

The trial of Wilson Duke, charged with a murderous assault upon the persons of Game Wardens Cadv and Nellingan, was brought to an end Thursday night at Susanville by a verdict of the jury finding him guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, says the Advocate. The case against the other Indians who were implicated in the assault on the Game Wardens is now in progress.

Up to Huerta

To the United States request that he resign from the Presidency of Mexico Huerta has replied that he cannot resign because there is no one to whom he can present his resignation; and that he is the only government in Mexico and must retain his dictatorship.

England has also warned the Mexican President of his shortcomings and made it plain that there would be no antagonism between the British Isles and the United States over the latter's actions towards Mexico. It is now believed that Huerta will be forced to understand that he lacks the support of civilized countries and that he will seek a way out of the difficulties himself.

MEASURES ARE IN EFFECT

It cuts off the political patronage these District Attorneys have formerly enjoyed in appointing deputies for the various counties.

The workmen's compensation act creates a State Industrial Commission, composed of three members, to provide a fund for the compensation of injured workmen employed in hazardous occupations. The fund is raised partly by employers, partly by the state and partly by employees. The commission is to determine the amount to be paid any person on account of injury received in course of employment.

All these measures take effect at once. The constitutional amendment provides that "any measure referred to the people shall take effect and become the law when it is approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon, and not before.

In Oregon a boy sixteen years of age can no longer be sent to the reform school. The only place for male offenders of that age is in the jail or state penitentiary. This change was made by the 1913 legislature but was not generally known. The new provision is an obscure clause in a bill establishing the state board of control.
